Migs Attack Two Unarmed U.S. Reconnaissance Jets

SAIGON, (UPI) — Six Communist Mig aircraft attacked two unarmed U. S. Air Force reconnaissance planes over North Viet Nam, American military headquarters disclosed today. But the American "Voodoo" jets took evasive action and streaked to safety.

A headquarters spokesman said the Mig fired on the U.S. planes with 20-millimeter cannon Friday over Yen Bai, 75 miles northwest of Hanoi. He said the Migs were believed to be supersonic Mig-17's.

SECOND ATTACK

It was the second reported attack by Migs on unarmed American reconnaissance planes. The first came weeks ago and in neither attack were the American planes damaged.

The spokesman would not go into detail of how the U.S. planes evaded the Migs, and no other details of the attack were immediately available.

Friday the first nuclear-powered American warships committed to the Viet Nam war—the carrier Enterprise and the guided-missile frigate Bainbridge—moved into combat stations off the coast of South Viet Nam.

While the Navy added the extra muscle to the growing U.S. military might in the war against the Communists, B52 bombers from Guam pounded enemy targets 75 miles northeast of Saigon.

The huge eight-engined bombers of the Strategic Air Command struck in support of a joint force of American, Vietnamese and Australian troops trying to prevent a vast rice harvest in Binh Tuy province from falling into Viet Cong hands.

Ground fighting slackened and field forces in Viet Nam reported their quietest day of the month with no casualties from enemy action for a 24-hour period.

(Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said on his arrival in Paris for a NATO meeting that the Communist monsoon offensive "has been blunted and, I think, defeated." McNamara is going on to Viet Nam from the NATO meeting.)

The "several thousand" allied troops thrown into the campaign to protect the rice harvest were in the fifth day of the probe through the Communist-dominated area, but there have been no reports of fighting. In the past, villagers have been forced to turn over rice to the Viet Cong, who live off the land.

U.S. nuclear submarines have been in the western Pacific and have visited Japan. But the Enterprise and the Bainbridge were the first nuclear powered warships to join the Viet Nam effort. They joined other 7th Fleet ships already on station off Viet Nam.

U.S. naval officials said their arrival was the first step in transferring all four of the Navy's nuclear-powered major ships to the Pacific Fleet.

They said the guided-missile cruiser Long Beach and the guided-missile frigate Truxton were scheduled to join the Pacific Fleet next year.

Cong Flags May Fly During Walk

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Banners of the Communists Viet Cong may fly alongside the American Flag during today's "peace march" on Washington, in defiance of its sponsors' wishes.

Walter Teague of New York said Friday that members of his U. S. Committee to Aid the National Liberation Front of South Viet Nam also would carry signs-rejected by march organizers-demanding the immediate withdrawal of U.S. forces from Viet Nam.

The National Liberation Front is the Communist name for the Viet Cong, which is conducting guerrilla warfare against the Saigon government.

30,000 EXPECTED

The National Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy (Sane) has ruled out any but its own authorized placards and banners in the demonstrations planned today in front of the White House and on the grounds of the Washington Monument.

About 20,000 to 30,000 persons were expected to take part.

But Teague said his group's displays would be carried "whether Sane likes it or not."

Asked what would happen if marchers showed up carrying Viet Cong flags, march coordinator Sanford Gottlieb said "Our monitors will make a strenuous non-violent effort to persuade them to put them aside."

If the flag-carriers persist, he said, "I wouldn't be surprised if they were surrounded by American flags." He would not say whether specific plans to block off Viet Cong flags had been made.

Meanwhile, handbills were circulated advertising a counter rally organized by "The Ad Hoc Committee of Patriots to Stand Up For Our Boys In Viet Nam." to be held today on the mall between the Capitol and the Washington Monument.

The address given for the committee was the same as that of the American Nazi Party in suburban Arlington, Va. Rally speakers were listed as George Lincoln Rockwell, the Nazi "fuhrer"; Herb (The Skull) Booker of Hell's Angels, the motorcyclist fraternity, and Michael Lee Lutman of the Ku Klux Klan.

Teague's committee is one of the more militant of the 100 antiwar groups attending a four-day convention held here by the National Coordinating Committee to End the War In Viet Nam. The meeting is not officially connected with today's march, although delegates were expected to take part.

The Teague group has been selling Viet Cong flags for $10 and $6 apiece at convention headquarters, situated at a church Thursday and at a downtown hotel Friday.

The flags, priced according to quality, feature a large yellow star over a panel of blue and red. Teague reported fewer than 20 had been sold so far.

His committee also is distributing pamphlets urging contributions and support for the Viet Cong as the only effective way to oppose the war. Anyone against the National Liberation Front, they said, is "directly supporting the goals of the Johnson administration and its Saigon puppets."

Sane says its slogans would call for a halt in U.S. air strikes and suspension of the American military buildup as a first step toward a ceasefire and negotiations, but not for an immediate withdrawal of U.S. troops.

New Enlistee

For the military-minded, here's a list of new Twin Cities enlistees in the U.S. Armed Forces: John Frank Miller Jr., son of John F. Miller Sr., 103 Bulter St., West Monroe, Navy's Aviation Special Quota Program, now at Great Lakes Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.; Hardy James Terry, son of Mrs. Mary Jackson, Rt. 3, Monroe, Army's Auto Mechanics School Program, now at Fort Polk near Leesville; Jerry A. Towers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Towers, 308 Browning St., West Monroe, Air Force's Aerospace Team Program, now at Lackland AFB, San Antonio, Tex.

Cecil A. Brumley and Paul M. Butler enlisted together in the Air Force's Aerospace Team Program and are at Lackland AFB. Brumley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil C. Brumley, Rt. 1. West Monroe, and Butler is the son of Mrs. Ella Ruth Butler, 314 Medorah Dr., West Monroe.

Deer Hunting

Deer hunting is the main interest of Airman 3-C Edmund D. Wallace of West Monroe, son of Mrs. Ola Loveless, who is presently home on leave from the Air Force. Wallace has just completed a weather observer course at Chanute AFB, Ill., and will report to Craig ABF next to put his training to work.

State Will Be Inspected For Nuclear Site

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A four-man atomic energy commission team will arrive here Monday to inspect Louisiana sites proposed for a $380 million proton accelerator, it was announced Friday.

The team is one of eight looking at 85 sites in the nation proposed for the huge accelerator, sometimes called a giant atom smasher.

Three sites will be visited Tuesday north of Lake Pontchartrain at Covington, Mandeville and Abita Springs. Louisiana's first choice site is a hilltop area north of Covington.

While in Louisiana the site team will visit the Tulane Regional Primate Center for a briefing on Tulane, the NASA Slidell Telecomputer Center, and Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge.

The group will visit the state department of highways for a report on proposed and projected highway construction in the area of the proposed accelerator site.

Transportation is reported to be an area in which Louisiana may have difficulty in competing with other areas.

Mock Flight Of Gemini 7 Slated Today

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) —Engineers fueled the Gemini 7 spacecraft Friday for a crucial mock flight test today that must be passed to clear the way for the Dec. 4 opening of next month's twin launchings.

The rehearsal will put the powerful Titan 2 rocket and its two-seater payload through a series of three simulated launches designed to uncover any "bugs" in the system.

SIT IN CAPSULE

Gemini 7 Astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell, set to remain in orbit 14 days in the spacecraft, will sit in the capsule during part of the exercise to monitor instruments. Backup Astronauts Edward White and Michael Collins also will participate in the drill.

The test, scheduled to start at 6 a.m. CST, will last about 12 hours. The rocket and its bell-shaped payload will undergo three abbreviated countdowns and flights with all events being simulated electronically.

If the exercise is successful, project officials will signal the start of final launch preparations for Gemini 7. But if any serious problems are found, the shot probably would be delayed.

The Gemini 6 spacecraft and its booster, now in "bonded storage" at the Cape awaiting the Gemini 7 blastoff, will be put through an identical test four days before the scheduled Dec. 13 launch with Astronauts Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford aboard.

Gemini 6 already has passed one simulated flight, for its original Oct. 25 launch date, but the exercise will be re-run to make certain there have been no changes in the ship's condition since its October launch was cancelled because of the failure of its Agenda rendezvous rocket.

Technicians started preparing the Gemini 7 spacecraft Wednesday for today's test and checked its oxygen lines Thursday. Friday they were completing loading about 400 pounds of maneuvering rocket propellant into the spacecraft.

"Everything is going along well," said a space agency spokesman. "There are no problems."

Would-Be Bank Robbers Are Foiled In Try

IDALOU, Tex. (UPI) — Police Friday night captured three would-be bank robbers who held three women hostages for hours in an Idalou bank. The hostages were released unharmed.

The men had earlier taken two other hostages from a Idalou church and put them in the trunk of a car. But the two prisoners were released by a passerby who heard them pounding on the lid of the trunk in which they were held captive.

Police agreed to let the men go and to provide them with a getaway car if they would let the three women, all employes of the Idalou First State Bank, go free.

The men, described by police as Latin Americans, had said they were not going to make use of the getaway car until after dark. As the sun set, an army of police surrounded the bank.

The police then made their move. One officer went to the door of the small kitchen where the men were holed up. He yelled inside and asked to see if the hostages were all right.

One of the would-be bandits opened the door and the three women walked out of the door into clear view of the police.

An officer then yelled to the women to duck behind a nearby wall, and they ran quickly into the arms of waiting policemen.

With their key to freedom gone, two of the bandits panicked and dashed out the back door of the building and into the promised escape car.

The third remained behind and surrendered meekly to police as they swarmed into the room.

The two who reached the car sped away, but ran into another vehicle driven by a private citizen who was listening to reports of the story on the radio and decided to do his part in apprehending the men.

The three suspects were placed in separate cars by members of the Department of Public Safety and driven to Lubbock, 10 miles to the west.

Crew Of Ship Evacuated By Coast Guard

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The Coast Guard began evacuating the crew of the 10,000-ton freighter Oduna by breeches buoy late Friday several hours after the vessel went aground on Unimak Island in Alaska, the Alaska Steamship Co. announced here.

A spokesman for the steamship company said its agent in Kodiak, Alaska advised that all of the 37 men aboard the stricken vessel had been removed by 6:15 p.m. PST.

A breeches buoy is a life buoy running upon a hawser stretched between ships or from ship to shore. It is designed primarily for rescuing persons.

The Alaska Steamship spokesman said the men would be taken to Cold Bay, on the Alaska Peninsula near Unimak, by Coast Guard helicopter and the Seattle tug Adeline Foss to spend the night. He said they would probably be flown to Seattle today.

The Adeline Foss assisted the Oduna in getting a line ashore for the breeches buoy operation.

The Coast Guard said the vessel, skippered by Otto Klarbbe of Seattle, had five feet of water in her forward holds and engine room and was heeling to starboard.

Wilson Prepares To Use Force In Zambia

GEMINI 7 ASTRONAUTS Frank Borman, left, and James Lovell wear lightweight space suits they will have on during their 14-day space voyage scheduled to begin Dec. 4 from Cape Kennedy. Dec. 13, Astronauts Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford will ride another capsule, Gemini 6, into orbit to rendezvous with Gemini 7. In flight, these Gemini 7 helmets will be covered by a zippered plastic hood so the suit can be pressurized. A Gemini 7 rehearsal is planned today. (AP Wirephoto)

Troubled Area Will Get Troops

LONDON (AP) — Britain late Friday night was reported ready to send troops to Zambia in a show of armed strength near the border of rebellious, white minority-ruled Rhodesia.

The report came soon after Zambian authorities blamed saboteurs for a blast early Friday that destroyed a pylon on the power line from the Rhodesian border serving Zambia's rich copper-mining belt. Zambia is the former Northern Rhodesia, now ruled by its African majority.

PATIENCE ENDS

London officials said the British, nearing the end of their patience with the rebel Rhodesian government in Salisbury, will dispatch a token military force to Zambia within a short time.

Massive headlines in London newspapers set the mood:

"Go-Ahead for Troops on Way," said the Daily Express.

"Troops SOS by Zambia — Wilson is Ready," said the tabloid Daily Mirror.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson's office at 10 Downing St., declined at first to make any statement about the reports of British military moves in Central Africa.

In Salisbury, Prime Minister Ian Smith said he suspected that Communists blew up the pylon that disrupted electric service from the Kariba Dam. In Kitwe, Zambia, officials said an explosive charge placed under another pylon failed to go off.

After the blast, President Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia immediately renewed his pressure on Britain to send troops into the troubled border zones.

Kaunda has called for British military intervention ever since Smith's government on Nov. 11 proclaimed Rhodesia independent of Britain.

"A decision to send a token military force to Zambia is expected to be taken by the Cabinet in the next 48 hours," said the London Daily Mail.

"And it seems probable that it will make a show of armed strength in the Rhodesian crisis."

Overhanging the situation was a possibility that unless Britain sends troops into Zambia, Kaunda would invite military aid from other African nations, and possibly even from Communist powers such as the Soviet Union and Red China.

Prime Minister Wilson was reported standing by for a personal report from Malcolm MacDonald, Britain's special representative in East and Central Africa.

Rusk Announces Hanoi's Coldness

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Friday the United States rejected Communist North Vietnamese peace feelers last autumn because Hanoi felt it was "on the threshold of victory" and only wanted to give the United States a face-saving chance to get out of Viet Nam.

"Our attitude was and is that we are not interested in saving face but in saving South Viet Nam," Rusk told a news conference.

He had a prepared statement ready on a question raised by recent published report in Look Magazine quoting the late U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson about the issue. Stevenson was quoted as saying that Washington turned down twice—before and after the November presidential election—a North Vietnamese offer through U.N. Secretary General U Thant to go to the conference table.

LIFT OF AGGRESSION

Without waiting for a question about the Stevenson report, Rusk said "it seems clear beyond a peradventure of a doubt that Hanoi was not prepared to discuss peace in Southeast Asia based upon the agreements of 1954 and 1962 and looking toward the lift of aggression against South Viet Nam."

He noted that only Thursday, North Viet Nam had denied making any proposals for negotiations. And in recent weeks, he added, Hanoi's stand on peace talks appeared to have hardened with preconditions.

For the first time publicly, Rusk acknowledged Thant had informed Washington last fall that Hanoi had told him indirectly it "would be willing to have a contact with the United States and that the secretary general had suggested Rangoon as a suitable site."

"Throughout all last year, the general attitude of the Communist world was that they might consider some device to save the face of the United States while they themselves imposed their will on South Viet Nam," he said.

Some Damages Follow Brief Thunderstorm

High winds during a Friday night thunderstorm resulted in fallen power lines in sections of West Monroe and power failure in two sections of Monroe.

FAA at Selman Field said there was a complete power failure in the area at 10:30 p.m., shortly after the rainstorm had ceased.

Electricity lines were down in scattered sections of West Monroe. Exact locations of all lines which were down could not be determined by midnight Friday.

French L. Smith of the Monroe City Utilities Commission said line ten which feeds the east portion of the city toward the Baptist Children's Home was out briefly, but power was quickly restored. Line five which feeds the section north above Louisville Avenue went out during the storm and crews corrected the situation within about half an hour. The power failure was attributed to lightening.

Winds mangled some of the newly - hung Christmas decorations in downtown Monroe and many of the lights were out.

The predicted showers for Friday night materialized about 9:30 p.m., accompanied by thunder and winds up to 30 miles an hour. The storm was short-lived, however, and winds were peaceful again by 10:30 when the rain had also stopped. FAA had not measured the rain by midnight.

Forecast for today calls for fair skies and colder mercury readings. Highest should be 62 to 66 and overnight lows should drop to 38 to 42.

Shifting winds should become northerly at 8 to 16 miles an hour.

Temperatures through next Thursday should remain at four to eight degrees above the normals. Normal highs are 63 to 69 and normal lows are 39 to 47. Precipitation should be moderate to locally heavy in occasional periods of showers until Thursday, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Tornadoes Spin Across Six States

By United Press International

The worst Midwest storm system since last spring spawned tornadoes, savage winds and hail storms in at least six states Friday night. Westward, a massive wintry storm spread snow from the Rockies to Michigan.

Twisters raked rural stretches of Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Kentucky, Arkansas and Tennessee. Farm buildings were demolished, hospitals unroofed and telephone lines knocked out.

No injuries were reported.

The weather bureau said the likelihood of more tornadoes exists until early this morning in central Indiana, northwestern northern and central Ohio and Pennsylvania.

A twister struck Paragould, Ark., upsetting house trailers and damaging about five buildings. Numerous farm buildings were flattened or damaged by other twisters in central and southern Illinois.

At Nashville, Ill., a tornado rolled up the tar-and-stone roof of the Washington County Hospital like a carpet, leaving only a layer of ceiling insultation to cover one wing of the building.

About 20 patients were moved to other parts of the hospital. Firemen and other workers moved in to mop up deep puddles from the leaking roof.

Plane Loaded With Goodies To Viet Nam

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — A four-engine plane-loaded with candy, cookies, cigarettes, playing cards and similar items — left Manchester on Friday for Viet Nam.

The New Hampshire National Guard's plane carried 2,500 pounds of gifts for American fighting men as part of Operation Christmas Star.

The operation, endorsed by President Johnson, is a nationwide effort to collect gifts for the servicemen during the holiday season.

The plane will stop at Travis Air Force Base in California to take additional Christmas cargo aboard before flying to Viet Nam.

Teaching Methods 'Proven Failures'

BOSTON (AP) — Traditional methods of teaching children to read and write are proven failures when used with culturally deprived children and a totally new approach is needed, according to a report released here Friday.

"We're just giving them more and more of the same thing that didn't work in the first place," said Miss Muriel Crosby of the Wilmington, Del., public schools.

"We need a breakthrough with the early emphasis on the children speaking their own unique nonstandard version of the English language. Reading and formal language instruction can come later."

Miss Crosby is cochairman of the special task force that studied language programs for disadvantaged children for the National Council of Teachers of English. She takes office as president of the council at its concluding convention session tonight.

Miss Crosby said in an interview that disadvantaged children generally enter school at least two years retarded in learning skills because of the limited vocabularies and learning opportunities in their homes.

"The child speaks a different language in the home and the streets than he is expected to learn in school," she said. "He learns early that he and the teacher are not communicating. He senses disapproval and clams up.

"All too often the teacher classifies the disadvantaged as slow learners. This just isn't true and deprives him of the only opportunity he has to extend his language skills."

The report suggested that in the early schools years the emphasis be on extending the child's vocabulary, not correcting his English.

"If the child speaks a dialect and says 'Them magnet's pickin' up the nails,' we do not need to worry about 'them magnet's' at this point. If we do not first encourage the child to use his own language in its full range, we may diminish his desire to use language in school."

The report recommends that formal reading instruction be delayed until a disadvantaged child has had intensive training in oral language. It also recommends that direct instruction in the use of standard, informal English be delayed until at least the fourth grade.

Smith Says Reds Behind Sabotage

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Prime Minister Ian Smith expressed a suspicion Friday night that Communists may have been behind the destruction of a power line tower that disrupted an electric circuit in neighboring Zambia early Friday.

"I wonder," Smith said in a statement issued through the Information Ministry, "Whether this has not been instigated by the Communists — Chinese or otherwise — who have moved into Zambia in recent months."

Zambia came under African control after the breakup of the British-run Central African Federation, in which it was a partner with white-ruled Rhodesia. Zambians are among critics of Rhodesia's Nov. 11 declaration of independence.

An explosion damaged the tower and cut the flow of electricity between the Kariba hydroelectric works and Kitwe, the principal town in Zambia's rich copper belt.

Smith said he was "extremely sorry to hear of such sabotage.

"Injury of this nature to the economy of Zambia is to be deplored," he said.

"It is both interesting and significant, however, that Mr. Lardner Burke (minister of law and order) in his speech in Parliament yesterday warned President (Kenneth) Kaunda that by harboring saboteurs in his country he was running the danger of such people using their subversive training on Zambia and the Zambian government.

"My first reaction is that this is precisely what has happened. People are attempting to step up trouble and to dislocate the economy of Zambia, hoping that they can pin the blame on Rhodesia. Quite obviously this is something that has been carried out by fairly sophisticated people."

The Rhodesian government fired Miss Leslie Dew, secretary to African opposition leader Josiah Gondo Friday, charging her with "political activities."

The dismissal was taken generally as a sign of the government's displeasure over the antigovernment stand taken by nine African members of Parliament Thursday. They walked out, charging that the government, the new constitution and the session itself were illegal.

Miss Dew is the great granddaughter of one of Rhodesia's early settlers, Sir Harry Johnston. Gondo heads the United Peoples party, the official opposition.

Miss Dew was present late Friday, apparently as Gondo's representative, when British Governor Sir Humphrey Gibbs again asserted his determination to remain here as the representative of Queen Elizabeth II.

Sir Humphrey, who is ignored by Smith's government, told newsmen he plans to hold out in Government House, his usual residence, "until such time as constitutional rule is restored."

Although the Smith government has withdrawn the sentries at his front gate, cut off his telephone, taken away a large part of his staff and deprived him of his official cars, the governor is comfortable enough. He manages a game of croquet almost daily on his spacious lawn.

In Bulawayo, two African brothers were held for trial on charges of possessing two machine guns, 468 rounds of ammunition and a stick of explosive. The material was found in two caves about 40 miles from Bulawayo.

Police said the brothers, Shadreck and Timothy Ncube, told them they had been given the weapons by a third African, otherwise unidentified.

Several Die In Mishaps Across State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ten persons, one an infant only 45 minutes old, died in accidents across Louisiana during the first day and a half of the long Thanksgiving Day holiday weekend.

Six fatalities occurred on the highways.

St. Mary Parish Coroner G. P. Musso classified the death of infant as a traffic fatality following an autopsy Friday.

Joseph Scott, 21, of Eunice, died late Thursday night when his car sideswiped a station wagon near Eunice and overturned.

Joe Hewitt, 70, of Alexandria, was killed Thursday when he walked in front of a pickup truck on I-20 six miles west of Gibson.

Stanley W. Singletary, 18, of Pearl River, La., was killed Friday when his car ran off of State Highway 41 two miles south of Talisheek and struck a tree.

The Associated Press traffic count began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and continues through midnight Sunday.

Claude J. Crockett, 49, of Jennings, was killed Thursday in a two-car collision on La. 26 about 10 miles south of Jennings. He was a member of the Jefferson Davis Parish Fair Association.

Joseph Verrett, 12, of Mamou died Thursday when he was pulled beneath the wheel of a tractor he was trying to free from the mud on a farm.

John Sonnier, 25, of Lafayette disappeared in West Cote Blanche Bay near Franklin while fishing Friday and was presumed drowned.

Ernest Coulon Jr. of Barataria perished when flames swept his tug after the barge it was pushing severed a high pressure natural gas line near Delacroix Island Thursday.

Eddie Johnson, 15, of Houma was killed in a hunting accident Thursday. Johnson was shot in the upper chest as he reached to take a shotgun from a younger brother, authorities said.

U.S. SECRETARY of Defense Robert S. McNamara, left, shakes hands with British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart as he arrives at the Foreign Ministry in London Friday for a discussion of European defense and nuclear problems. McNamara Arrives In Paris For Talks

PARIS (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara Friday said the monsoon offensive mounted by the Vietnamese Communists "has been blunted and, I think, defeated."

He said this was one of the main reasons for his planned visit to South Viet Nam, which will be his seventh to the embattled Southeast Asian nation since 1962.

McNamara arrived from London for a one-day meeting today of the defense ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) on the crucial problem of interallied nuclear sharing. France is boycotting the conference.

Accompanied by Under Secretary of State, George W. Ball, McNamara stopped off briefly in London on his flight here to confer with British government leaders.

A U.S. official said McNamara and Ball had a "wide-ranging exchange of views on all problems" with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart and Defense Minister Denis Healy.

No details of the discussions were disclosed. But they were understood to have included Viet Nam, Britain's east-of-Suez strategy, as well as the delicate problem of giving West Germany a say in allied nuclear strategy.

The two Americans and the British officials also had what was described as a "substantial amount of discussion" on Communist China. The uneasy situations in Malaysia and Kashmir and the Rhodesian breakaway also were taken up.

Wilson has been trying to arrange Viet Nam peace talks. But his efforts ran into difficulties Friday when the Russians listed a number of obstacles to improvement of Soviet-British relations.

On his arrival from London, McNamara told newsmen at Orly Airport: "The Viet Cong's monsoon offensive has been blunted and, I think, defeated."

He conceded that casualties on both sides have been very high. But he said the Communists in mounting the offensive against American, Vietnamese and Allied forces in Viet Nam were "looking to the future."

"We are too and I am going to Viet Nam for that purpose," McNamara said.

Shipping Firm Celebrates Its 100th Birthday

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP) — One of the world's largest private shipping empires celebrated its 100th anniversary Friday night as flags hung half mast for the death of its leading lady.

Ann-Ida Brostroem, 82, daughter of the founder of the firm that bears her name, died Friday only 12 hours before the scheduled time of the celebration. It went on as planned, except that the dancing that was to have followed a gala dinner was canceled.

Ann-Ida Brostroem was Sweden's richest woman. She left a private estate estimated to be worth $18 million. The estate, according to unofficial reports, will be divided between her seven grandchildren.

The shipping firm, headed by Dan-Axel Brostroem, Mrs. Brostroem's eldest son, owns 96 ships totaling 1.2 million tons. The business is divided among about 20 subsidiaries under the control of A.B. Tirfing, the head company.

Tirfing was founded by Dan-Axel Brostoem's grandfather in 1865 when he bought a small vessel for $450.

Criticism Of U.S. Action Is Countered

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — A Colombian criticism of U.S. military action in the Dominican Republic was quickly torpedoed Friday by Latin-American diplomats at the inter-American conference.

The reaction was typical of efforts here to keep controversial issues out of this meeting, which is aimed at improving hemispheric machinery to handle future problems.

Similar steps were taken earlier, when the conference ignored Ecuador's appeal for discussion of its border dispute with Peru, and when the United States, after a head count, quietly decided not to ask the conference to study the idea of an inter-American peace force.

The U.S.-Dominican action had been labeled "armed military intervention" in the preamble of a resolution, submitted by Colombia, reaffirming the principle of nonintervention.

The reference surprised the United States and dismayed many Latin-American delegates because of the general desire here to seek a broad consensus and avoid rifts.

The Colombian foreign minister, Castor Jaramillio Arrubla, told a committee discussing his resolution it was not aimed against anyone, "least of all the United States, with whom we have the best relations and are confident they will improve even more."

Jaramillio Arrubla said his delegation believed frank and open discussions of the problem would render "a great service to the great country of the north."

"We do not want to divide the peoples of America," he said, but added: "We do not want a repetition of the Dominican case."

Other Latin-American delegates, while pledging their support of the principle of nonintervention, said the Colombian resolution singled out only one basic principle of the Organization of American States and their juridical equality.

A Chilean delegate proposed that the resolution be sent to a working group drafting a general reaffirmation of all the principles of the inter-American system. He was quickly backed by other Latin diplomats.

U.S. Delegate W. Averell Harriman also supported the Chilean move, saying that the OAS charter principles "should not be altered or confused by new interpretation but reaffirmed."

The reference to the Dominican Republic is expected to be dropped in the working group's resolution.

Japanese Vehicles

LONDON (AP) — Lord Halsbury, member of Britain's Science Research Council, warned the British motor industry that it must expect Japan to become one of its major competitors on world markets. He told the motor industry association: "I have seen a Japanese sales directive conceived in almost military terms—entitled 'How to attack in the face-of the enemy.' We have to take note of it."

Negroes Said Kept Off Trial Juries

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Federal attorneys produced testimony Friday that no Negroes have served on the trial juries of adjoining Lowndes County in the last 13 years.

A jury commissioner, the government said, did not even recommend placing Negroes on jury rolls until recent weeks.

Justice Department attorneys, in a detailed analysis presented to the court, said that in 98 per cent of the cases the names placed on the jury rolls in Lowndes were identical with those of the all-white voter list.

The testimony that no Negro has served on a trial jury in the rural south-central Alabama county in at least 13 years came from Circuit Court Judge T. Werth Thagard, who presides over the court in Lowndes and two adjoining counties.

The white-haired Thagard, a former state senator, said no Negro had served on a jury since he went on the bench in 1952 although some Negroes have been on panels of prospective jurors.

Thagard is the judge who presided over the two recent trials in Lowndes County growing out of civil rights killings. A Ku Klux Klansman and a part-time deputy sheriff were acquitted in the slayings of two civil rights workers.

Jury Commissioner Henry Barganier testified that he only recently began recommending that Negroes be put on the jury rolls.

Another commissioner, Bruce Crook, told the court that he had submitted names of Negroes to go on the jury lists "ever since I was appointed" eight years ago.

John Jackson, the third member of the commission, said he could not recall any term of court when more than six Negroes were on a jury venire of from 60 to 100 names.

The Justice Department and the Negroes filing the suit contended that putting Negroes on the jury rolls did not begin until after the suit was filed and that only a fracional number had only a fractional number had since been put on.

The clerk of the commission, Kelly Coleman, testified that she was unaware of any instructions to put Negroes on the jury rolls in recent weeks, "but after the suit was filed I think they decided they had to do it."

"In other words," asked Justice Department attorney Charles Nesson, "it was the filing of the suit which prompted them to do that?"

Mrs. Coleman replied, "Probably so."

The Justice Department analysis of the jury records, Nesson told the court, showed that of 2,748 names on the jury list since 1953, 2,693 or 98 per cent of them were also on the voters list.

In the fall of 1954, Nesson continued, 110 prospective jurors were called and all of them were registered voters.

The government contended also that the analysis showed that only a relatively small number of men on the jury list were actually summoned to court for duty.

The study revealed that 211 jurors had served six to 18 times during the 15-year period.

Holiday Toll Of Deaths Increasing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The traffic death toll climbed Friday in the middle stretch of the long Thanksgiving weekend.

The total mounted to 281.

One of the victims was an infant boy who died 45 minutes after his birth in a Franklin, La., hospital. The baby was delivered minutes after his mother, Mrs. Herbert Bell, was hurt when an ambulance taking her to the hospital Thursday hit a trailer.

After an autopsy, the corner ruled Friday the child died of traffic accident injuries.

In the compilation period that began at 6 p.m. local time Wednesday, and will end at midnight Sunday, motor vehicle fatalities have been recorded at a rate exceeding the average of around 110 per day for the first three quarters this year.

Widespread rain and snow Friday could have differing influences on the loss of life. Such conditions often hold down the volume of travel. But they also heighten the dangers of driving, especially in the season of short days.

During the Thanksgiving tally periods — all four days — in recent years motor vehicle fatalities have ranged from 442 in 1960 to 554 last year.

The National Safety Council makes no advance estimate of such deaths for Thanksgiving on grounds that it is largely a home holiday that involves less long-distance driving than other traditional holidays.

The Associated Press made a survey of a nonholiday, extended weekend of four days to provide figures for a comparison with the Thanksgiving period statistics. The test ran from 6 p.m. Wednesday Nov.10 to midnight Sunday Nov. 14. The toll then was 566.

'Lonely Hearts'

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Red Bulgaria is soon to have a new lonely hearts club. The aim of the "matrimonial and acquaintance agency," as outlined in the Bulgarian paper Otechestvan Front, is to "develop its activities free of the avidity of matrimonial agencies of the past whose only purpose was to make profits from the marriages arranged or from the dowry."

Breadless Weekend Faces Britons

LONDON (AP) — Millions of Britons resigned themselves to a breadless weekend after a wave of hysterical buying set off by a bakers' strike.

Housewives lined up in front of shops even before they opened but only the lucky ones got bread and then only one loaf per customer under rationing imposed by most stores.

In sharp contrast to Thursday's frantic bickering and jostling, women in queues Friday were orderly and even joking about what has become known as "the bread hunt." The shops that had bread sold out in most cases before noon.

One bread robbery was reported. Thieves snatched eight loaves from a small cafe just off Fleet Street.

Many stores ran out of supplies quickly. Only the independent bakeries were operating. They stepped up production but could not meet the demand.

The bakers union called a 48-hour strike in an area, including London, affecting 20 million persons, to press their demands for a 30 per cent wage increase. Bakers now get a basic weekly wage of $32.20. They want $42.

The bakers union has been waging a series of strikes but the call-out of 10,000 members was the most serious so far.

Stepped Up Bombing Raids Seen In North Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — A forecast of increased emphaisis on bombing North Viet Nam was interpreted by U.S. officials Friday to mean that more strikes might be made — but not necessarily the commitment of more planes or a change in targets.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told newsmen Thursday night that bombing attacks on North Viet Nam have been directed at infiltration routes to the south and "I think you can expect increasing emphasis" on this.

One possibility raised by McNamara's statement, made as he left for London and Paris en route to Viet Nam, is that the United States might send its giant B52 bombers over North Viet Nam. So far the big jets have hammered only at Viet Cong targets in South Viet Nam.

Discussing McNamara's statement, some U.S. officials said they do not believe he meant a change of targets in North Viet Nam. They added that blows on targets now being hit have done substantial damage to the flow of men and munitions into South Viet Nam.

These officials still give no support to demands in some quarters that the Red capital of Hanoi be bombed. They said Friday that the risk of escalation of the war from such action is high.

When asked if this mean Red China might enter into the war, the officials commented that obviously Red China does not yet have nuclear weapons but Chinese assistance to North Viet Nam might be extended other ways.

The officials ruled out, at this time, the bombing of the North Viet Nam port of Haiphong, saying the same objections that pertain to bombing Hanoi apply in the case of Haiphong.

However, the officials emphasize that the no-bombing policy for Hanoi and Haiphong is only a present policy. It would be changed.

Officials here and in Saigon have estimated in recent days that up to nine regiments of the North Viet Nam regular army now may be deployed in the South. The presence of seven regiments has become known and the presence of another is probable and still another possible, they report.

Total manpower for nine North Viet Nam regiments could be as high as about 16,000 men.

Along with the problem of Viet Nam, American officials are keeping an eye on military affairs elsewhere in the world. These include the relative strength of the U.S. and the Communist bloc in missiles which might be used in an escalated or totally new war. Related to this question is the question of antimissile defense.

The officials said this country has a superiority over Russia of three or four to one in ballistic missiles and intends to maintain that superiority. The count for U.S. millies now is given at about 1,000 Minuteman missiles, 656 Polaris and 54 liquid-fueled Titans.

U.S. officials say Russia has no solid-fueled, quick-firing ICBM missiles like the Minuteman and the submarine-launched Polaris.

On the question of missiles and air defense, the officials expressed these thoughts:

Three kinds of threat exist. The first is the threat of sophisticated Soviet missiles. The next one is what they consider the lesser threat of missile attack by Red China. The third defense question is a system of defense for U.S. ICBM bases against enemy attack.

The Defense Department is confronted with the problem of whether to go ahead and deploy the proposed Nike X antimissile missile with an accompanying program for a fallout-shelter system.

The Defense Department, the officials said, has not yet decided whether to start the Nike X system. If a decision is made to go ahead, this will show up officially in the Pentagon's fiscal 1967 budget request to the White House and Congress.

Available information indicates that Russia is working on her own development of a reliable antimissile system but has not attained this objective.

'Opal' Well-Loved By First Nighters

By TRAVIS MAYO
World Staff Critic

We are all victims of benevolence. We lose our hearts after one small introduction and we respond with awakening and trust when all the while we know it is but actors on a stage.

Yet that is what theater is all about. It draws us out of ourselves for a brief while and we are grateful for that. And if all theater is always as entertaining as was the Little Theater of Monroe production Friday night we will feel confident that our efforts are well spent.

Along with the cast of "Everybody Loves Opal," we too struggled with tragicomic futility. We were highly amused when they were amused and touched when they were touched. We filled the Strauss Playhouse to near-capacity and we dreaded afterwards to go out into the rain. For one night we, along with Oscar Wilde and Horton Foote and Damon Runyon and the author at hand, John Patrick, preferred the sparkling life inside rather than the serious life outside.

But what really matters is that well - chosen artists assessed our deep human needs and, through the medium of theater, provided answers for those needs.

The chief feature of Friday night's performance was the harmony or "ensemble" of the six stars — and each in his own way was the star of the show. The pace and exactness was a credit to director George Black.

Star No. I, for sure, was Opal herself, Marillyn Taylor. Just as she "loosened up" the stiff-necked doctor on stage she melted that ever - present audience resistance and offered a superlative impersonation of a brassy, lovable "hoboette."

To her sense of timing chiefly goes the credit for this marvel of well - drilled performances by a uniformly excellent cast.

Bill Blythe as the Runyonesque confidence man, bossy, insistent, folksy, makes the character an arresting one. His very casualness made the audience comfortable and responsive.

Marsha Mitchell added the proper dash of spice to this sophisticated farce. One of Opal's lines suits her. The audience under her spell was soon "a roomful of people all sitting around purring."

John Filhiol's key phrases amid comedy sequences revealed the dead - serious purpose of the play. It was not all comedy. It had a message. A subtle one. There's good in everybody.

Filhiol was burdened with all the tongue - twisting words and difficult phrases but he never dropped a cue or broke the spell.

Jack Easterling was, in effect, the audience personified. At first he was "cool" to Opal's cajoling manner but soon he could not resist her. Easterling is a natural for broad mimicry and brilliant pantomime.

In an important role plotwise, Curtis Rape flashed forth with warmth and friendliness and kept the production moving ahead speedily.

The play itself was sentimentally old - fashioned yet somehow buoyant and charming. It was a frivolous comedy but well done and well organized. Or maybe it is that we, like the zany confidence men, are victims of benevolence.

'Everybody Loves Opal' comedy in two acts by John Patrick. The first of two performances at 8:30 p.m. Friday at the Little Theater of Monroe. Directed by George Black. Production committee, Florence Manning, stage manager, Walter Katz. From Nov. 24 to Dec. 4, inc. The cast:

Opal	Marillyn Taylor
Gloria	Marsha Mitchell
Fred	Jack Easterling
Bill	Bill Blythe
Doctor	Jack Easterling
Policemen	Curtis Rape

Settlement Reached On Newspaper Pact

NEW YORK (UPI) —Representatives of the American Newspaper Guild and the New York Daily News announced Friday they had reached a last minute settlement of a contract dispute.

Settlement of the dispute, which could have brought about the suspension of publication by five of the city's other major daily newspapers was announced at 7:05 p.m. EST. This was five minutes beyond a strike deadline of 7 p.m. EST set by the union.

The New York Guild originally had threatened to strike the News at 6 p.m.

But three minutes before the deadline, the executive vice-president of the union, Thomas J. Murphy, announced movement by both sides on all but one of the disputed issues and said the union had granted a one-hour extension of the deadline.

Murphy said that on the key issue of the union shop the guild had compromised its earlier stand. He said it had accepted a solution "not up to or equal with that won at the New York Times."

Murphy said that the publisher would retain the right to designate one of each 15 as "privileged to remain outside the guild."

Wilson Runs Into Difficulty In Probe

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's search for ways to end the Viet Nam war through peace talks ran into difficulty Friday when the Russians listed a series of obstacles to any improvement in relations between London and Moscow.

Wilson discussed the Viet Nam situation with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara who stopped over here on his way from Washington to Paris for a meeting of the Nato defense ministers today. Details of the discussion swere not disclosed.

Wilson is sending Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart to Moscow Monday to try to persuade the Kremlin to reopen the Geneva conference as the first step toward bringing the United States and Communist North Viet Nam to the conference table.

The prime minister himself will carry his peace efforts directly to President Johnson when he meets with the U.S. chief executive at the Texas White House on Dec. 17.

The official Soviet government newspaper Izvestia Friday said Stewart was welcome in Moscow. But it warned of obstables to better Soviet-British relations, including British support of the Atlantic nuclear force idea, alleged backing of West Germany's "aggressive, militaristic tendencies" and support of U.S. policies in Viet Nam.

Izvestia also accused Britain of being inconsistent on the subject of a treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons and said such an agreement is an urgent necessity at this time.

Wilson, who disclosed his twin-pronged peace offensive to Commons Thursday, said as long as the war in Viet Nam continued "the danger of escalation is very great . . . (and) might mean a major land war in Asia or worse."

He put the blame for the war squarely on the shoulders of the Communist North Vietnamese regime. He said President Ho Chi Minh had repeatedly rejected peace talk overtures.

He pledged that Britain would "continue with every initiative we can to get Hanoi to the conference table."

Flames Scorch 44 Acres In Ouachita

Five grass and timber blazes flared up around Swartz about 1:30 p.m. Friday, scorching 44 acres in what was called the worst day of the year for fire in Ouachita Parish by veteran foresters.

Two crews of firefighters from the five - parish forestry district that includes Ouachita battled the blazes "dead out" by 6 p.m. The fires were cut off first from the threatened homes that dotted the burning areas and no property loss other than timber was reported.

Charles Whatley, assistant district forester, gave the following locations for the fires: 1) near the Acme Brick Co., two miles north of Monroe on the Old Bastrop Road; 2) near the Swartz School; 3) near the Columbia Carbon Plant on the Old Bastrop Road; 4) off the Old Bastrop Road near the Ouachita Parish gravel pit; and 5) on the Old Bastrop Road near the Ouachita-Morehouse parish line.

Whatley said the causes of the blazes were being "checked into" and added that the fires "weren't unusual."

West Monroe Fire Chief Aubrey Taylor said a truck from his department cruised the area looking for house fires after he learned that the parish fire truck broke down.

"The dry weather and the wind contributed to the fire," Whatley said, "though they are not unusual. Columbian Carbon men were on call if we need them but we managed. The fires burned about 30 acres grass land and 14 acres of timber."

No estimate of the dollar loss was available. Reports from the area covered by the forestry district showed fires in every parish but Morehouse. Whatley said, "It was our worst day of the year."

Orleans Man Returned To Face Charges

A 22-year-old New Orleans man was returned to Monroe Friday from Miami, Fla. on charges of burglary and auto theft in connection with the Oct. 25 burglary of Fleeman's Flying Service in which $700 in cash and a 1965 auto were taken.

The man was identified as John Grant Wood Jr. Wood was arrested in Miami after Monroe police flashed word that he was wanted for the local burglary. Wood waived extradition and was returned to Monroe by the Ouachita Parish sheriff's department.

With one burglary cleared by arrest, Monroe police were immediately faced with two more.

About $100 was taken from Jones Barbecue at 1011 DeSiard St. late Thursday. The money came from a jukebox, a pin ball machine and a coin box in a locked office. Entrance was gained by forcing out a window air conditioner, police said.

A check writing machine and 300 blank checks were taken from the Cox Furniture Co. at 501 Texas Ave., according to police. Vending machines were rifled and an unknown amount of change taken. The building was entered through a front window.

Booked for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages in Monroe was Henry N. Olds, 42, of Shreveport, apprehended on Catalpa Street at 2:45 a.m.

Charged with drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon in Monroe was George Allen Jr., 18, of F-170 Foster Homes, Monroe.

Booked for aggravated assault and disturbing the peace was Weldon Hinton, 44, of Farmerville.

Russians Hand Belongings Of Tourist Over

MOSCOW (UPI) —The belongings of American tourist Newcomb Mott, who faces 18 months in a labor camp for entering Russia illegally, were handed over to his parents Friday at the American Embassy here.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mott of Sheffield, Mass., who traveled to the Arctic city of Murmansk for the trial of their 27-year-old son, returned to Moscow Friday.

They said they would confer with their son's Soviet lawyer on his planned appeal to the Russian Supreme Court.

Mott was convicted in a three-day trial at Murmansk this week of illegally entering Russia from Norway Sept. 4. He was sentenced to what observers considered an unusually stiff 18 months at a labor camp.

Medical Opinions Confuse Sometimes

Where to go next? What to do? Is it or isn't it?

So many patients remain confused and helpless when caught between two or more differing medical opinions. Whom to believe? What's the pitiable patient to do? For example:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am in my early 30s, a young man perplexed and anxious. For about 10 years I have been suffering with a soreness around my spine in between my shoulders and radiating down my left shoulder and arm. But for the past five years I have been having a lot of chest pain, too.

A few weeks ago I went to a doctor. He diagnosed my condition as angina pectoris, due to arteriosclerosis of the coronary arteries. He advised me to lose about 20 pounds.

I lost 15 and went to another doctor, a well-known heart specialist and told him my symptoms, and what the first doctor had said. He gave me a very thorough physical (at least, compared to the first doctor) including a Master two-step exercise test for my electrocardiograms. I had chest X rays, blood tests (including cholesterol) thyroid tests, urinalysis—all of which were normal.

He diagnosed my condition as for which he gave me pills. No heart disease. Right now, as I said, I'm confused. The first doctor's diagnosis sticks in my mind and frightens me.—Mr. T.

MANY UNSURE

Comment: I don't suppose it will help you when I say that there are many other thousands of patients like yourself — unsure and anxious—because they are caught between two diagnoses. Some, unfortunately, go along for months and years without taking definite steps to resolve their insecurity. They either believe one doctor or the other. Like tossing a coin, their health and life depend upon the flip: heads or tails?

What I invariably tell people in a similar quandary is this: resolve the problem as soon as possible. And the best way to do so is to ask for consultation with an expert in the field, for a third opinion. Make sure the one you consult (on the advice of your previous doctors) is completely impartial. Like a supreme court judge.

After he has handed down his opinion, accept it. Other wise you will continue to live in fear and live your life as a tremulous question-mark.

I repeat: too many people—either because of procrastination or unwillingness to pay an extra fee—go through life unnecessarily burdened with anxieties which might have been prevented or alleviated.

INDICATION

Mrs. H. If it were me, I'd hesitate to go under the knife just to fix up some adhesions. I'd want to be sure there was a definite indication for such surgery. For example, obstruction in the intestines, etc.

For Mr. W: Shortness of breath in your husband who is 73 might very well be due to a failing heart. But that is only a guess. Emphysema might cause similar symptoms. He might have a combination of lung and heart disease. There are many other reasons for shortness of breath.

Therefore, I agree with you, he deserves medical investigation. Especially when, as you say, he's otherwise in fine shape.

Greet Kennedy

MANAUS, Brazil (AP) — In equatorial heat, school children sang "Bob's a jolly good fellow" on the arrival Friday of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.

Kennedy and his wife, continuing their South American trip, flew here from Rio de Janeiro. They found a crowd of 3,000 at the airport. Artur Cesar Ferreira Reis, the state governor, welcomed the senator.

After a weekend boat trip on the Amazon, the Kennedys go to Venezuela on Monday.

Civil-Liberties Stretch

Two major decisions by the United States Supreme Court seem to have given the New York Civil Liberties Union the idea that civil liberties in this country can be stretched to almost any length.

Several years ago, the Supreme Court held that members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People could not be compelled to reveal their membership and that the organization could not be required to supply the names of its members. Now a similar ruling has been made in regard to the federal law requiring members of the Communist party to register. These decisions practically amount to saying that any person's individual membership in any organization is his own business.

In view of this fact, it will be interesting to observe what ruling the high court will make on revealing membership in the Ku Klux Klan if such a case is brought before it. If it should hold that Klan membership must be revealed but that Communist party and N. A. A. C. P. membership need not be revealed it would seem to be taking two positions on the same issue.

Even among those who have no connection with civil liberties organizations and want nothing to do with Civil Liberties Leagues or Unions, there are a good many who hold an individual's right to privacy in high regard. This privacy is being more and more invaded by federal government regulations. It would be strange indeed if the Supreme Court's devotion to the cause of integration and its apparent liking for other groups should lead it to make decisions that would guarantee more privacy for Mr. Uno Who, or the average private citizen. Guaranteeing privacy for the average citizen probably would hurt the Supreme Court's feelings but, no matter how weird its decisions may be, it surely must show some consistency.

In defending David J. Miller, draft-card burner, the New York Civil Liberties Union will attack on two constitutional grounds the new federal law forbidding such acts. These two contended grounds are that the law seeks to suppress an individual's right to free speech and that its severity constitutes "cruel and unusual punishment, which, in application, violates due process of law."

Civil Liberties Union lawyers hope to cite a long history of high court opinions defending a citizen's right to symbolic expression. They will point out that failure to comply with the Alien Registration Act — a roughly comparable offense — is merely a misdemeanor, while the new federal law against draft-card burning makes the offense a felony. Civil liberitarians also feel that the recent Supreme Court decision on registration of Communists may make the draft-card possession law, long on the statute books, unenforceable. They contend that if a Communist can refuse to register because it might incriminate him, a man without his draft card might refuse to show it on the same grounds.

Draft-card burning is an action which has highly incensed most of the patriotic citizens of the United States and some feel that it borders on disloyalty. There can be no doubt that it is an insult to the government and that it threatens refusal to comply with the draft law itself. Yet, there is doubt in the minds of some non-liberitarians that a mere insult should constitute a felony. Laws enacted under the impetus of high feeling, rather than considered judgment, may be too severe. This does not mean that we, in any way, condone the acts of the draft-card burners. We admit some doubt, over a period of many years, whether the mere failure of a man to have a draft card on his person, when he may otherwise have it in his possession, should constitute a crime.

Our main conclusion is that the Supreme Court, in some of its decisions, has been getting itself into "deep water" and that it will take a lot of squirming around on the court's part to be consistent without giving the individual citizen more privacy.

Before we know it, in the light of new high court rulings, someone may contend again that government demands for income reports are an infringement on privacy.

Some Reflected Fame

If you do any kind of work for which you receive pay, you must have a Social Security number. That is the law of the land. Recently it was announced in the Nashville (Tenn.) Banner that Carolyn Binkley "is gonna" file an application for a Social Security card. Generally that would not be news but Carolyn is only four years old and has started to work.

She's not punching a time clock, nor doing manual labor, nor waiting on tables, nor teaching school. She's made a singing record and it has started earning money, so she'll be on the list of Uncle Sam's taxpayers. And she probably doesn't even know she has an Uncle Sam.

There are at least three persons, however, whom she definitely does know about. Her parents are Bob and Phoebe K. Binkley. Bob is choral director of Donelson High School and choir director of the First Lutheran Church. Phoebe teaches piano and at one time performed professionally with the St. Louis Municipal Opera. So Carolyn comes by her singing naturally.

But there's another important man in her life. Commenting on a story about Carolyn, Jack Knox, editorial cartoonist for the Nashville Banner, whose cartoons also are carried frequently on the Monroe Morning World editorial page, said:

"I was afraid you might miss it and I wouldn't want anybody to miss it. That's the way we grandfathers are. This is my granddaughter!"

We started out to comment that it's strange for a 4-year-old to be working, then got around to the fact that she is the granddaughter of a famous artist and then showed how this noted artist works for the Monroe Morning World. That entitles us to some reflected fame.

$100-Billion Santa

Never able in any country in the history of the world to rise far above the elemental stage without the aid of white men, Negro so-called "civil rights" leaders are now asking the biggest present from Santa Claus of all time.

A Negro leader said it would be cheaper to spend $100 billion of the people's (mostly white) tax money to wipe out Negro ghettos than to let tensions build until they explode into "another unhappy Watts of Los Angeles."

Ever hear of anyone doing anything to improve his own situation without calling for charity every time he opens his mouth? Ever hear of controlling by force or jailing those who violate the law by "explosions"? We admit such things are rare in an administration in which everything must be given to the Negro and in which "civil rights" become the privilege of trampling on other people's rights.

States Plan Medicare Dates

See Difficulty In Acting In Time

SOME STATE health agencies now realize that they may have difficulty in meeting the effective dates set by Congress for medicare for those of 65 years or older, which for most of its benefits will be effective July 1, 1966, but for post - hospital and extended care not until January 1, 1967.

Application cards sent by the Social Security Administration to 16.9 million eligible aged who were asked whether they wanted $3 a month deducted from their social security benefits under the medical insurance plan has an acceptance from those so far replying of about 88 percent, with more than 8 million signed and returned. This optional plan would pay 80 percent of the patients cost for physicians' and a variety of other services. Eligibles have until March 31 to make up their minds on whether they want it.

The 88 percent acceptance is lower than the Department of Health, Education and Welfare had expected on the voluntary plan, and there may be a pick-up as some of those who have rejected it may change their minds.

ON THE HOSPITAL plan, which is automatic, Congress estimated at the time of its passage, that there will be 19 million eligibles by July 1, 1966. The State medical authorities must calculate whether the facilities in their jurisdictions are capable of meeting the expected case load, which in the first year, at least, is expected to place a burden on some of those facilities, especially in smaller communities.

The basic hospital insurance section of the law, as most of the elderly beneficiaries can now recite from memory, provides hospitalization up to 90 days for each spell of sickness, but the patient must pay the first $40, plus $10 a day for each day over 60; also there are as many as 100 days of extended care in a nursing home and 100 home health service visits a year by nurses, physical therapists and other health workers. All benefits become effective July 1, 1966, except for skilled nursing service in extended care facilities which are effective on January 1, 1967.

ADMINISTRATORS of the bill in the Department of Health Education and Welfare expect the State health departments will use the next six months to catalog hospitals and nursing homes which will be available at mid-year for inpatients. Comparatively few are expected to refuse to take medicare patients, and the rest must check their facilities and such factors as probable increase in case loads, number of employees and numerous other details, as well as the schedules of doctors and other attendants.

The accounting task alone will be considerable as the government must pay, through private health insurance companies the larger part of doctors and surgeons' bills, as well as provide outpatient care in a clinic or hospital and provide a wide variety of diagnostic or therapeutic services with compensation for the providers.

No scale of payment is set for services. The act says only that payments to institutional providers of care be based on reasonable costs and payments to doctors and non-institutional providers be based on reasonable charges. How these are to be worked out may become a controversial problem during the early months of the program and will continue to be so, in decreasing extent, as Federal and State administrative authorities wrestle with the problem.

IT IS NATURALLY expected that the urban centers with their many hospitals, will be able to meet the principal requirements of medicare in a reasonable time. What the situation will be in smaller communities, where more hospitals already have their full capacity of patients, is more difficult to figure.

Some States are already beginning to anticipate difficulty in meeting the midyear deadline. Their health departments are learning in some instances that they are short of facilities specified in the medicare act, and may have difficulty in meeting the demands which will be put upon them.

Wisconsin, one of these States is shaking its head over the prospect as disclosed by a recent survey.

FOR MANY YEARS, the Badger State has been a leader in the field of welfare legislation and has pioneered many social benefits for the benefit of its citizens. A recent survey by the State Commissioner on Aging indicates that there is no provision for many of the services called for in the medicare act.

Only two of the State's 72 counties are said to have facilities and personnel to carry out the anticipated requirements of the medicare act. Those two are Milwaukee, which includes the city and Dane, which includes Madison, the State capitol and the University of Wisconsin.

Forty counties or more than one half, have no outpatient clinics, 50 have no nursing homes and as many report no agency or personnel for home health care visits. The Wisconsin check also discloses that with 430,000 residents 65 or older, the State has but 128 medical - social workers.

This may be an indication that in many rural sections, hospitals and community groups now perform voluntary services that have left little need for those classifications; but under the breadth of the medicare program, it is only to be expected that demand for them will originate and expand.

America Answers Left's Challenge

AMERICA's ANSWER to the radical left's anti-Viet Nam challenge is one of the most encouraging and heart-warming developments in years.

All over the country the response to draft-card burnings and demonstrations urging withdrawal of American troops from Southeast Asia has been effective, law-abiding and constructive.

Largely as a result of the well - publicized "teach-ins" against American policy and activities, such as the anti-draft campaign sponsored by leftist student groups, responsible Americans in thousands of cities and towns are competing with each other to find the most effective way to express their support for American men fighting in Viet Nam.

Voluntary enlistments in the armed services are up 50 per cent, and commanding officers in this country are faced with hundreds of demands for transfer to the Asian theater of war from servicemen stationed here.

THE PENTAGON and State Department have been besieged for help and instructions on the best ways to send presents or expressions of support to U. S. servicemen and their South Vietnamese allies against the Communist Viet Cong. Supplies, given voluntarily, are stacked up on West Coast docks because there are no ships which can move them.

These activities have been carried on quietly without benefit of fanfare, hoopla and TV cameras. It is not the kind of hip-hooray, flag-waving patriotism that we associate with World War I or the kind of grim determination which characterized our patriotism in World War II. But is is an expression of the deep appreciation of responsible Americans for the country in which they live, for the cause of freedom throughout the world and of gratitude for the efforts of our servicemen.

It is not accurate to call what is transpiring a resurgence of patriotism. The feeling of pride of country and dedication to freedom has always been present in the hearts of the vast majority of Americans. What we are seeing is an outward expression of this feeling.

AMERICANS DON'T usually wear patriotism on their sleeves: But today's orderly expression is a direct result of the radical left's attempts to undermine American foreign policy and present the world with the erroneous idea that most U. S. citizens are against the effort to halt Communist agression in Viet Nam.

The activities of hundreds of civic organizations, such as the Junior Chamber of Commerce which is sponsoring a special project to support the anti-Communist effort in Asia, coincided with one of the country's major patriotic holidays. There can be no doubt that the nation's reply to the radical left made Veterans Day, 1965, one of the most significant observances in recent years.

All this activity will be interpreted by the far-out liberals as a resurgence of outmoded nationalism characteristic of the days when a new nation could be galvanized with cries like "Remember the Alamo" and "54-40 or Fight."

We will be told we live in a swiftly changing world where such old-fashioned virtues as patriotism and love of country make us introspective and isolationist again.

We will be told that the respect for Flag and country and freedom are "square" in light of current world developments.

Be that as it may, on the Viet Nam issue at least, the radicals have had their day, and it wasn't good enough. The "squares" are in full control of events and of public opinion. They are letting the world know exactly how the American people really feel about Communist aggression.

RALPH de TOLEDANO

Foolish Pretense In 'Mainstream'

IT WASN'T TOO many months ago that the pundits were screaming about Barry Goldwater and his obtuse refusal to drift with the country's political mainstream. Mr. Goldwater, we were told every hour on the hour, was trying to peddle policies and ideas alien to the Republican Party. If he moved more to the left, then he would not be isolated from his own party.

That was the argument, and it impressed a good many voters who were terrified that Mr. Goldwater stood for a "radical rightism" which would hurt the GOP and yank the party into a backwater of reactionary thought. But was the Republican Presidential campaign so divorced from the Republican Party's political position?

Americans for Democratic Action has inadvertently offered evidence to the contrary. ADA, as you probably know, prepares a chart of the voting records of all the members of House and Senate. It uses this as an index to the purity of these officeholders. A high ADA rating means that the Congressman in question has gotten high marks for his "liberalism" — and, according to the lights of the pundits, is in the American mainstream. A low rating indicates submission to non-mainstream thought and act.

NOW COMES ADA with its latest listing. If the pundits were right about the ideological split between Mr. Goldwater and his fellow Republicans in Congress, then this would be reflected in the ADA's ratings on the Great Society legislation which Mr. Goldwater opposed.

The statistics are interesting.

Of the 140 Republicans in the House of Representatives, 87 had an ADA rating of 5 or less. Of that 87, 67 rated a flat zero. Of the eight members of the Republican leadership in the House, 6 scored a zero. The two major "mainstream" leaders of the GOP's House delegation, Minority Leader Gerald Ford and Representative Charles Goodell, rated 5 and 11 respectively. Representative Peter Frelinghuysen, of liberal-tending New Jersey, who is also classed as a leading Republican "moderate," scored a low 11— Mr. Ford's rating.

Where then was the claim that Mr. Goldwater did not represent his party's thinking? Actually, had Barry Goldwater remained in the Senate, his rating would have fitted in pretty neatly with those of the House Republicans.

All that talk about the "mainstream" becomes a silly pretense at political profundity. For if there is anything that the Republican Presidential candidate represented, it is the thinking of his party. That was why he got the nomination. And that was why his most stalwart adherents could be found in the House of Representatives.

TO ARGUE otherwise would be to fly in the face of the facts. But it was part of the mythology of 1964 that the Goldwater supporters were able to wrap up the nomination by some kind of abracadabra or mumbo - jumbo. Survey after survey showed that county chairmen, precinct workers, and the organized grassroots of the Republican Party shared Mr. Goldwater's political views and hoped to see them implemented by his election to the Presidency.

No candidate, working through his party organization over a period of time, can win their votes at a convention unless they respect what he stands for. Only a last - minute blitz, like those mounted by Wendell Willkie in 1940 and the backers of General Eisenhower in 1952, can put over a candidate who stands against the philosophy of his party.

In terms of today — and putting aside criticism of the pundits — the voting records of the Republican delegation in the House have considerable significance. They indicate that all the attempts of the liberal-left minority in the GOP to swing the party away from its established principles have not succeeded in bringing it closer to the ADA spirit. The GOP remains the party of conservatism, and only as such can it play an important role in a two - party America.

By devoting their time and efforts to making the GOP a party of liberal leftism, the so-called moderates simply weaken the American political system. If there is a mainstream in America, it flows between a right bank and a left bank. So far, none of the pundits have been able to engineer a one - bank river.

WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY

Student Tuition Fee Row Stirred

IN NEW YORK CITY, presidents and chancellors of the City Colleges are lining up to resign their offices in a huff over a complicated disagreement whose meaning is of extra-parochial concern. Technically, the dispute was over the question whether the principal officials of several of the major New York City colleges had any business publicizing their positions on a proposal of Governor Rockefeller. This proposal had to do with massive administrative adjustments involving at least a technical tuition levy for students attending the City Colleges.

I say technical, because it was carefully explained that the students wouldn't have to pay a penny of the ostensible levy; that the federal government, and Albany, would pick up the entire tab. But the Board of Education of New York City, which hires and fires the presidents and chancellors, was so alarmed at the mere mention of tuition rates for the students that it publicly rebuked the educators who, consulting their hurt feelings, have now announced their resignations.

THE QUESTION does indeed boil down to whether students ought to make some payment against their own tuition fees at the public colleges. The fun began a year ago when Governor Rockefeller, surveying the bleak finances of the State and City, ventured a proposal that students at the City Colleges of New York should pay a mere $100 toward their tuition. The students rallied in protest against this affront on their intellectual, moral, and economic integrity: and New Yorkers were treated, over a period of several weeks, to block - long lines of well - fed students parading around the colleges carrying gaudy pickets calling for the extermination of Rockefeller and anyone else who proposed that they should contribute toward their education a sum of money considerably less than they could earn if they charged union wages for every hour they spent picketing in the course of an academic year.

But the politicians got the picture, and during the mayoralty campaign the two major candidates vied with one another in affirming the principle of "mandated free tuition." The counter-offensive from Governor Rockefeller, if such it could be called, was ineffective. He said nothing to the effect that New York City students should be expected to pay something toward their education considering that students of the State pay something toward theirs, and that students throughout the country pay something toward theirs.

A better argument was advanced by Professor Ernest van den Haag, whose analysis I have used from time to time on picketers bloated with self - pity, and that argument is this. It is absolutely predictable that the typical graduate of a New York City college will within a very short period be earning more money per year than is now being earned by the lower and the lower - middle class of New York City taxpapers.

AND IT IS, moreover, demonstrable that New York banks are willing to lend long - term money at virtually no interest to students matriculated in the city colleges, to be repaid several years after graduation Thus the question arises: Is it just to tax poorer people in order to relieve students of the burden of going to a bank and borrowing money which they will be able to repay out of surplus a few years hence? Is it fair to ask a janitor or a taxi-driver to dig into his pocket in order to relieve a man who a few years from now will be a doctor or a lawyer, to avoid his having to go to a bank and borrow a few hundred dollars?

The demagogues are likely, as usual, to win this fight; and no New York politician is likely to explain to the people that if New York City students end up as they are getting a totally free tuition, it will be because money has been teased out of the pockets of other taxpayers; of California taxpayers, for instance, who do charge their students a tuition in the colleges.

IRVING SILLS

New Jewelry Store Opens Here Today

The new home-owned Flair Jewelry store, 1804 Louisville Ave., will hold its grand opening today. The store will open at 9 a.m. and remain open until 9 p.m. This schedule of hours will be followed Monday through Saturday throughout the Christmas shopping season.

Irving Sills, owner and manager of the store, said refreshments will be served today to all those coming by to look over the new facilities. There also will be some free gifts given out and visitors may register for a drawing on a $100 diamond ring.

The store, located in a new shopping district adjacent to several other businesses, will carry name brand merchandise such as Bulova, Accutron, International stainless flatware, Sunbeam appliances and Lovebright diamonds. It will have a complete line of men's and ladies jewelry.

Also the new store will have a service department headed by Charles L. Brown, a local watch and jewelry repairman, who is a registered watchmaker, graduate of the Louisiana Watchmaking School in Natchitoches, and Jewelry Repair Center at Paris Junior College, Paris, Texas. He is married, has two children, and lives on Treasure Island, Monroe.

Sills, who has been in the jewelry business for 11 years with a local jewelry store, is a native of the Twin Cities area. He is married, has four children, and lives on Route One, West Monroe.

Wayside Inn Damaged By Fire Friday

SUDBUR, Mass. (AP) — The Wayside Inn, made famous by the pen of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, was badly damaged by fire Friday.

Built in 1686, the wood frame inn originally was known as the Red Horse Inn but its name was changed in 1897 after Longfellow wrote "Tales of a Wayside Inn" more than a century ago.

George Washington and the Marquis de Lafayette were among the inn's first distinguished guests.

Friday's fire started in the kitchen.

Early American antiques and books were piled outside as flames mushroomed up into the 2 ½-story wood structure and spread to a wing where the guests are housed.

Fire Chief Alfred St. Germain estimated damage at $40,000.

Employes said the blaze was not so damaging as a 1955 fire that destroyed almost all of the rambling structure.

Henry Ford bought the inn and surrounding land in 1923 and it was the Ford Foundation that rebuilt it — at a reported cost of $675,000 — after the 1955 fire.

The inn is administered by the National Trust for Historic Preservation, Inc., a nonprofit educational organization chartered by Congress but supported partly by the Ford Foundation.

Longfellow, who did much of his writing at the inn, wrote the "Tales" after a visit in 1863.

Tass Strikes Out At Visit By McNamara

MOSCOW (AP) — The official Soviet news agency Tass said Friday that the coming visit to Viet Nam by U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara "is a preparation for a new stage in the Viet Nam war."

Tass said that "McNamara's every visit to Viet Nam resulted in wide measures to intensify the war. After his last visit the strength of American and South Vietnamese puppet forces was nearly trebled.

"McNamara is going to Saigon at a time when more and more calls are issued in the United States for stepping up bombardments of North Viet Nam and attacking the biggest industrial centers of the country — Hanoi and Haiphong."

Penalties paid for speeding were Jimmie E. Porter of Bastrop, $25 and costs; and L. C. Simon of 211 Trip St., Monroe, $17 and costs.

Ex-President Of Congo Admits He Is Defeated

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) —Ex-President Joseph Kasavubu has agreed to serve in Parliament under the government of strongman Gen. Joseph Mobutu who overthrew him Thursday in a bloodless coup, it was disclosed Friday.

Kasavubu has written a letter to Mobutu in which he admits defeat and refers to the 35-year-old army chief of staff as the Congo's "chief of state."

Mobutu showed the letter to African diplomats who visited him Friday afternoon.

Kasavubu, who was elected to the House of Representatives from the city of Leopoldville in elections this spring, said he would take the seat in Parliament entitled him.

As a former president, he also has the right to sit in the Senate for life—a right Mobutu confirmed Thursday. It was not immediately clear which Kasavubu would accept.

The ex-president also said in his letter he would leave his former official residence and accepted Mobutu's offer of a military bodyguard for his protection.

Mobutu, who took over the government effortlessly Thursday and proclaimed himself president for five years under state of emergency rule, told the African diplomats his action was taken "for the good of the country."

Mobutu's premier-designate Leonard Mulamba, meanwhile, opened talks on forming a "government of national union" in the wake of the coup.

In a communique read on Radio Leopoldville, Mulamba said he had conferred with provincial delegates and said he hoped to present a government in parliament today.

Painting Sold For Huge Profit

LONDON (UPI)—A portrait by 17th century Dutch artist Frans Hals that brought only $7 two years ago was sold to a Parisian art dealer Friday for $205,800.

The painting, featured at a sale at Christie's, was bought by art dealer Walter Goetz.

The painting was owned by Mrs. Gisela Kemperdick of Cologne, Germany, who bought it for an undisclosed amount from Leonid Hotinov, a 64-year-old Russian pianist.

Hotinov had bought the painting in 1933 at an auction in Arnheim, Holland for $7.

Mrs. Kemperdick had the painting cleaned and a experts ruled it was an original Hals. The portrait measures 34½ by 25½ inches and is believed by some critics to be

Famed Politician Dies With Cancer

BARRINGTON, Ill. (AP) — William Casey Marland, 46, who became West Virginia governor as a brilliant young lawyer of 34 and nine years later was driving a taxi, died of cancer Friday at his home in this Chicago suburb.

Surgery last August disclosed Marland had cancer of the pancreas. This blow fell four months after he landed a responsible business post in a comeback following a long but successful fight to beat his drinking problem.

Marland had been undergoing cobalt treatments, but his condition became steadily worse. He died at 3:20 a.m. in the home where he lived with his wife Valerie and their four children.

When a reporter discovered the ex-governor driving a Chicago taxi last March, Marland said he had taken the job in the summer of 1962 as part of his program to rehabilitate himself.

"It occured to me that a certain anonymity and retirement could be achieved best by handling a taxi on the streets of Chicago," Marland said in an article he wrote for The Associated Press about his fight with alcoholism. He said he hadn't had a drink in nearly four years.

Last April industrialist James F. Edwards employed Marland as his executive secretary. Edwards, whom Marland as governor once appointed to the West Virginia Racing Commission, has manufacturing interests in several states and also owns Waterford Park race track near Chester, W.Va.

A swift political rise put Democrat Marland in the governor's mansion in Charleston, W.Va., 5½ years after his graduation from the West Virginia University College of Law. When he was inaugurated in January 1953, he became the youngest man to hold the office until then.

John L. Lewis, then president of the United Mine Workers, supported Marland for governor in the 1952 campaign in the coal-producing state.

In his first year as governor, Marland tried unsuccessfully to get the legislature to pass a "severance tax" on production of coal and other natural resources. Over this and other matters, he fell out with his party's leaders in the legislature, especially the State Senate.

The breach lasted throughout Marland's four-year term. The Senate rejected Marland appointments in wholesale lots.

Marland received much credit for West Virginia's prompt and peaceful start toward compliance after the U.S. Supreme Court outlawed racially segregated schools in 1954. In a characteristically terse news conference statement soon after the court decision, Marland said: "West Virginia will obey the law."

Ineligible for re-election as governor, Marland ran for the U.S. Senate in 1956.

A few months ago it was stated that in the process of expanding the Jonesboro Road which is currently undergoing repairs, Chenière Lake would be extended to the Jonesboro Road and the spillway would be at the Jonesboro Road rather than at its present location. Has any progress been made on this project?

E. L. Elmore, chairman of the Cheniere Lake Commission said he does not think this statement was ever released, because it is not the intention of those concerned to move the spillway down to the Jonesboro Road. Elmore said the Highway Department has designated no provisions for a dam at the site you mention, and that the department would not allow water to stand along the highway without building such a dam. The only way such a project would be possible would be the building of an oxbow dam upstream from the bridge on the Jonesboro Road in order to keep the water from getting too close to the bridge structure. This project is still in the planning stage by the commission and has not been approved. Neither have funds been appropriated nor land secured. The land between the bridge and the proposed site for the oxbow dam is still privately owned.

What tract of land did the Ouachita Parish School Board recently lease to a chemical company for $20,000? What will this money be used for?

The board on July 6 approved a three-year lease to the Monsanto Company of Houston, Tex., the 20-acre site of the Old Mineral Springs School. The lease of the land (the north half of the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of Section 15-17N-1E) carried a $20,000 bonus to the school board, plus these returns on possible mineral production from the land: one-sixth of oil revenue; one-sixth of gas; $2 per long ton of sulphur; 10 cents per ton on potash; and one-sixth of any other gaseous or hydrocarbon minerals.

The company must drill on the land, the agreement stipulates, within one year, or else terminate the lease or pay $10,000.

The money from the lease goes to the board's general fund for operational expenses of every type.

What is considered maximum jail time? What is the maximum time a person may be sentenced to serve in a parish jail, regardless of whether the crime is a felony or misdemeanor?

A person is sentenced to serve time, either in the parish jail or the state prison, according to the gravity of the offense. The presiding judge may use his own discretion in deciding whether the time will be served in the local jail or in the state penitentiary at Angola. Also the terms of the sentence dealing with or without hard labor is left to the presiding judge of each case.

In Ouachita Parish, the three judges of the Fourth District Court take into consideration, in addition to the gravity of the offense, whether it is a first offender, or a repeater. Also, many other circumstances may enter the case, especially when pre-senetence investigations are ordered. In fact the reason for the pre-sentence investigation is to find out the specific circumstances for each case.

The statutes of the State of Louisiana Revised Code specify the maximum and minimum fines and or sentences for each of the crimes, or offenses, defined in the criminal code.

But there is no limitation as to how much time a person may be sentenced to the local jail.

What is the world's largest lake and how big it is?

Since a lake's definition is a body of water surrounded by land, the Caspian Sea is the largest lake. It is bounded by the Soviet Union and Iran and is fed by eight rivers. If you want to consider this a sea and want only the largest conventional lake, it would be Lake Superior, one of our Great Lakes. The Caspain Sea has an area of 143,550 square miles, is 760 miles long and is 3,215 feet deep. Lake Superior, between the United States and Canada, has an area of 31,800 square miles, is 350 miles long and 1,333 feet deep.

I understand that on or in the cornerstone of the new city hall (in Monroe), there will be emblems or some mention of the Masonic lodges. I would like to know why the Masonic Order, rather than any other fraternal organization.

Monroe Mayor W. L. Howard reports that the Masons asked the city for the opportunity of furnishing the cornerstone for the city hall, at a cost to the Western Star Lodge of some $500 to $600.

The practice of Masons providing the cornerstone for many public buildings is one dating back to the country's beginning, the mayor said, perhaps because of the number of Masons who signed the Declaration of Independence.

The Masonic emblem will go on the city hall cornerstone, but no decision has been made as to what items will be placed into the stone. Many federal buildings in Washington, D. C., as well as buildings throughout the nation, have had cornerstones supplied by Masons — including the White House and the capitol building, Howard said.

However, he added, "If any other organization has something worthwhile or of historical interest for the cornerstone, then we are wide open." Also needed for the city hall are a number of other items, for which city officials report they would be grateful. Among them are five flagpoles which will stand before the structure.

I have frequently read accounts of persons "pledging" the Fifth Amendment in refusing to answer questions before investigative bodies. Exactly what does the Fifth Amendment say?

The fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution, one of the original 10 amendments constituting the Bill of Rights states:

"No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law, nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation."

If you will note, it said ". . . nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself . . .". So, if a person testifying in any case can reasonably assume that his testimony would incriminate him in any way, he may refuse, using this cited constitutional guarantee as his authority, to answer the self-incriminating question. The Fifth Amendment was made a household phrase during investigations by Congress of subversive organizations.

Why is the visiting at the parish jail only permitted on Sunday morning? Since most people that could visit are in church, it seems they would have one day to visit in the week. What are the visiting hours in the other jails in Monroe and West Monroe?

Visiting periods in all of the local jails, parish, Monroe and West Monroe, are arranged for the convenience of all persons involved — as long as it does not interfere with the operations of the agency in charge.

In the case of the Ouachita Parish jail, the visiting hours are from 9:30 to 11 a.m. on Sundays. The sheriff's department, which handles the operations of the jail, pointed out that during the week, Monday through Friday, officers are busy taking persons from the jail down to Fourth District Court for arraignment, sentencing and for other purposes.

To have visiting periods during these days would seriously hamper the operation of the jail.

In the Monroe city jail the visiting hours are from 10 to 11 a.m. Monday through Friday, with no visiting on the weekends.

In West Monroe visiting hours are from 1 to 3 p.m. on Sunday.

Collection Stolen At Vatican Library

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Daring thieves who knew what they were after climbed a 30-foot water pipe to break into the Vatican Library Thursday night and escaped with two ancient and priceless collections of poetry.

The thieves took manuscripts partly handwritten by Petrarch and Tasso, but they ignored other valuable documents in the same glass case.

It was the most spectacular theft in Vatican history. Whoever did it clearly knew both the vatican grounds and the inside of the 500-year-old library intimately, and had the agility of circus acrobats.

Police said they were convinced it was a two-man job. The thieves shimnied up a narrow water pipe, caught on to an adjacent balcony and entered the library by breaking a window.

They cracked a glass case and extracted the manuscripts they were after. They also stole a copy of the famed crown of St. Stephen, first king of Hungary, and a box of relics of Garcia Moreno, assassinated president of Ecuador.

They left untouched a letter from Michelangelo to the superintendent of St. Peter's, a letter written by the painter Raffaello, and an essay from Galileo to the cardinal who later became Pope Urban VIII explaining his theory of how the earth moves around the sun.

Police voiced the theory that a mad collector had commissioned two men to steal on the Petrarch and Tasso texts but that the thieves, attracted by the glitter of the crown and relics container, took them along for themselvss.

They broke into only the glass case containing the manuscript of "Il Canzoniere" by Petrarch — 1304 - 1374 — after Dante perhaps Italy's greatest poet; and a manuscript of works by Tasso — 1544-1595 — whose masterpiece was "Jerusalem Delivered," an epic of the first Crusade.

These were in the library's Sistine Hall where the burglars left untouched other cases containing autographs of Martin Luther, love letters of Henry VIII to Anne Boleyn, and gifts of kings and emperors.

Police, describing the stolen objects, said Petrarch's manuscript filled 72 parchment pages measuring 106 inches in length and 80 inches in width.

Tasso's poems, police said, were written on 152 parchment pages, measuring 118 inches by 89 inches.

The crown of St. Stephen was copied from the original.

President Moreno's box, decorated with enamel and copper, was one he carried in his hands when he was killed Aug. 6, 1875.

First estimates placed the value of the stolen articles at $320,000 but vatican sources called the figure ridiculously low and said it was impossible to place a value on them.

The copy of the crown, historic symbol of sovereignty in Hungary, and the box of Moreno relics were taken from a corridor between the Sistine Hall and the Borgia apartments.

The theft was discovered by Vatican guards Friday morning.

How To Keep Well

By DR. VAN DELLEN

Our Nation is said to be well vaccinated against smallpox but not very well immunized. Almost everyone has been vaccinated once, but the protection tends to wane unless the procedure is repeated at five year intervals. By the end of 20 years, the person has little or no immunity left.

Revaccination every three years is recommended, for those working in hospitals, public health departments, in the armed services, at ports of entry, or air line stations. Those who may be exposed to the disease because of travel or residence in areas where smallpox is rife need annual revaccination.

Some public health authorities believe that the disease will be eradicated in 20 years. When this time comes there will be no need for vaccination. Until then we are faced with an unusual problem. Shall we stop vaccination and risk getting a disease that kills 3 out of every 10 victims or continue to assume the gamble of developing complications from this protective procedure?

Many medicos have never seen a case of smallpox. The last smallpox death in the United States occurred in 1949 when an exposed person entered the country, developed the disease and infected others. Since then more than 300 deaths have been traced to the vaccine.

Routine vaccination should be continued because fatalities can be avoided by treating reactions promptly. In addition side effects are less likely to occur when the initial (primary) vaccination is given in early childhood and immunity is maintained by revaccination every three to five years. Delay in giving the primary injection until adulthood increases the danger of developing complications.

We also know that reactions to the primary vaccination are more likely to occur in children with blood disorders, eczema, and other forms of dermatitis. This is overcome by using a weaker vaccine when the skin is relatively clear. Vaccination is dangerous for adults with certain malignancies and other conditions who are being treated with cortisone, nitrogen mustard, or radiation therapy.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

TOMORROW: Hospital Accidents.

BEER AND PREGNANCY

REPLY

Beer in moderation is not harmful and does not cause deformity or retardation. The main problem is calories and weight.

REPLY

Natch — in carrots. However, diversify your habit by eating other foods, containing vitamin A, such as asparagus, broccoli, cheese, eggs, milk, liver and prunes.

C. C. writes: Is a wood house more healthful than one of stone or brick?

REPLY

No. In some parts of the country one material has advantages over another, but I doubt if health enters the picture.

Deadline For Home Lighting Contest Noted

The deadline for entering the annual Christmas Home Lighting Contest, co - sponsored by the City of Monroe and the News-Star — World Publishing Corp., was set Friday at 5 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 13.

Home owners throughout the city may enter but all entries must be postmarked no later than 5 p.m. on the final day of the contest. An official entry blank may be found on page 2-A in today's Morning World.

Actual judging of the winners will be an event of Friday, Dec. 17. Decorating of the homes should be completed by 5 p.m. on that day.

Names of the winners in each of the city's 12 contest districts will be announced in issues of the Morning World and News-Star on Wednesday, Dec. 22. The single overall winner will also be announced at that time.

To be eligible for prize, a person must be a resident of the City of Monroe or must reside in one of the adjacent built-up areas on the east side of the Ouachita River. Entrants must fill out and return the official entry blanks listing the districts in which they live.

District winners will receive $100 and the top overall winner will net an additional $150.

Many organizations have endorsed the aim of the contest to make Monroe the best Christmas lighted city in Louisiana. Officials said the anticipated large number of entries is a reflection of civic pride.

Gold Outflow Resumes During Past Week

NEW YORK (AP) — The outflow of the nation's monetary gold stock resumed during the past week after a three-month respite with a loss of $30 million.

The drain brought to $13.9 billion the dollar value of the nation's monetary gold. The total gold outflow so far in 1965 has been $1.27 billion. During the comparable period of 1964 the loss was $125 million.

The gold drain was believed to have reflected primarily purchases by France, which has been pursuing a policy of converting its surplus dollars into gold.

The U.S. gold drain directly reflects the nation's balance-of-payments deficit, which totaled more than $3 billion in 1964 and is expected to amount to about $1.5 billion in 1965.

Missing Heiress Said To Have Baby

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — A family friend said Friday that Swiss heiress Anna Marie Hitz arrived here, broke, with her German husband Nov. 2. She had to be taken at once to a maternity hospital where she gave birth to a daughter but the friend did not know where she is now.

Doctors at Centro Medico Maternity Hospital said a woman giving the name of Anna Marie Hitz Bierschenk gave birth to a daughter Nov. 3 but had left, giving no forwarding address.

In Washington, D.C., her mother, Anna Spring, reported she had received a cablegram purporting to come from her daughter in Caracas saying she had married Ulrich Bierschenk, a German Embassy watchman.

The friend of the Hitz family told The Associated Press that Anna Marie "had to be taken to a maternity clinic immediately upon her arrival with her husband."

"They were totally broke," the friend said. "They had no money to pay even hotel bills so we took her to the clinic and gave them some money. Later on we saw the baby girl.

"Anna Marie had advised Bierschenk to go to the Germany Embassy to seek ways to get back to the United States, and that is the last we heard of them."

Mrs. Spring, a housekeeper at Washington's St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Cathedral, said the cablegram she received could have come from anyone. She asked the telegraph company and police in Caracas to try to trace the telegram, which had no return address.

Mrs. Spring, who resumed her maiden name after a divorce from Swiss millionaire Othmar John Hitz, said this was the cablegram:

"Have married. Birth certificates show I am 18. Stop this ridiculous persecution. I am happy now."

Mrs. Spring said if it could be established the cablegram was from her daughter, she would go to Caracas, adding: "You cannot stop a girl if she is happy."

Mrs. Spring said her daughter was last seen about a month ago in California with Bierschenk, a former Utah State University student. Anna Marie met Bierschenk while doing part-time work at the Germany Embassy in Washington.

Anna Marie ran away from home last July. Mrs. Spring said she wrote or telephoned regularly until a month ago. Mrs. Spring reported her daughter's disappearance to Washington police last week.

Anna Marie was the subject of a custody battle between her father and Mrs. Spring until he died in 1963. Hitz had business interests in Venezuela and a Venezuelan court had given Mrs. Spring custody. But Hitz took Anna Marie and sent her to a number of different schools. Mrs. Spring traced her daughter to Switzerland and returned with her to Washington.

A legal guardian is said to be in charge of Hitz's estate and Anna Marie will be unable to touch the money until she is 21. Hitz built a coffee business into a fortune estimated at from $10 million to $30 million.

Anna Marie and Bierschenk gave a middle-class hotel address when she entered the clinic but the hotel receptionist said they are not there. He added that Bierschenk stayed while Anna Marie was in the clinic, then left without a forwarding address after paying his bill. The rent was $7 a day.

The family friend, who declined to be quoted by name, said: "We also told them to go see lawyer Rafael Naranjo Osty, who handled her father's business here long ago. We thought maybe he could help her if she thought she had any claim to her father's money."

The lawyer's office would not comment.

Dr. Luis Leamus, who delivered the baby, said:

"I had the watch duty that night when she came as an emergency case without her own physician. The delivery was normal and she was very calm. She left the hospital three days later and neither the hospital nor myself has yet been paid."

Strong Winds Whipping Up Deep Snows

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Strong northerly winds whipped up a near-blizzard Friday in parts of several states as a steadily deepening snow cover measured 12 inches or more in northeastern Minnesota.

The Weather Bureau issued heavy snow warnings for adjoining sections of Minnesota, Wisconsin and upper Michigan, and said this area would get three to eight inches of more snow by this morning.

The bureau's warning of hazardous traveling applied also to northeastern Nebraska and northwestern Iowa. The storm already had laid a cover of snow as deep as six inches in some places from the Rocky Mountains across parts of Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, the Dakotas and Nebraska.

The heart of the storm, centered in early afternoon along the Minnesota-Iowa border, was moving northeastward. Its collision with warm air moving up from the Gulf of Mexico set off general rains and occasional thunderstorms from the middle Mississippi Valley to the eastern Great Lakes region.

The storm's drift to the northeast pulled severe cold down from Canada and into the northern Midwest. Cut Bank, Mont., which had a reading of 10 below zero Friday morning, was only two degrees warmer by afternoon.

The subzero cold was spreading into North Dakota. The Weather Bureau said freezing temperatures were likely as far south as southern Kansas and Missouri and central Illinois by this morning.

The far fringes of the storm reached both coasts. The weather was rainy in the Pacific Northwest. New England got snow, as much as three inches in six hours in Vermont.

Fair weather continued in waterlogged Southern California where 400 persons still were marooned in the mountains by washouts caused by two weeks of heavy rains.

The fair weather extended eastward to the southern Great Plains which basked in unprecedented warmth for so late in the season. Record highs included 85 at Houston and 83 at Beaumont, in Texas and 79 at Little Rock, Ark.

Pick Made For Salvation Army National Head

NEW YORK (AP) — Commissioner Samuel Hepburn, 64, of Chicago, has been named national commander of the Salvation Army, it was announced here Friday.

Hepburn succeeds Commissioner Holland French, 71, who is retiring Jan. 14 after 50 years in the Salvation Army.

Hepburn, currently territorial commander of the central territory with headquarters in Chicago, also served in the western New York division based in Buffalo, the eastern territory based in New York, the southern Pennsylvania division with headquarters in Philadelphia, the western territory based in San Francisco, and finally the central territory.

10 Days Of Rain Causing Slides

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Ten days of heavy rains were blamed Friday for a series of landslides around Puerto Sanchez in far southern Chile.

Authorities said at least five persons were dead and roads were blocked. Large areas were without electricity when a slide hit the government-owned power plant at Puerto Aricen.

Robert Brunet Is Offensive Leader

RUSTON (Special) — Robert Brunet, sophomore halfback from Larose-Cutoff, was Louisiana Tech's leading scorer and rusher during the 1965 grid campaign.

Brunet scored seven touchdowns and gained 477 yards during the season, averaging 4.8 yards per carry. He also caught seven passes and had a 93-yard kickoff return, longest play for the Canines.

Billy Laird wound up his career in fine style, connecting on 109 of 179 aerials for 1,385 yards and seven touchdowns. He completed 60.9 per cent of his passes.

Wayne Davis was the leading receiver, setting records with 59 receptions for 611 yards during the campaign. Maurice Greer had 27 catches for 286 yards and Jim Jones 19 for 275 yards. Freshman Ken Liberto caught 11 for 144 yards.

Senior Tommy Robertson led in interceptions with three for 65 yards, one going for a TD. Linebacker Bob McWilliams had two for the campaign.

Jim Jones averaged 38.8 yards on 10 kicks and Paul Clark 34.9 on 28 punts. Jim Stringer led in punt returns with 14 for 179 yards with Butch Daniel returning 11 for 71 stripes. Richie Golmon had eight kickoff returns for 157 yards while Brunet had five for 144 yards and Jones four for 63 yards.

Golmon was second in rushing with 297 yards followed by Tom Linder with 161, Eddie Taylor 141, and Buzz Clark with 64 yards.

Phil Robertson, frosh quarterback, gave Laird good support with 19 completions in 39 attempts for 265 yards and three TD's. Golmon and Jones each had three TD's in ranking behind Brunet in scoring. Speedy Campbell kicked 14 conversions and had one field goal.

Trojan Defense Stops Islanders

By BUTCH MUIR
World Sports Writer

SICILY ISLAND — Sacred Heart used a rugged defense and a powerful offense to advance to the quarter finals in the state Class B playoffs by defeating Sicily Island 22-6 here Friday night.

The Trojans of Ville Platte, champions of District 4-B for the first time in 17 years, will play host to the District 1-B winner, Arcadia, next Friday night.

Arcadia advanced by defeating Mangham 26-7 in a bi-district game Thursday night.

It was just the second loss handed the Tigers of Coach Raymond Peace, rated 5 in the final state Class B poll, finishing a successful season with a 9-2 record and the District 3-B crown.

THE YARDSTICK	Sacred Heart	Sicily Island
First downs	14	6
Yards rushing	192	97
Yards passing	69	34
Passes (A-C)	5-9	3-9
Had Int.	1	0
Punts Average	3-19.3	7-27
Fumbles-lost	1-1	4-1
Penalties-lost	3-35	9-102

Led by halfback Mike Landy and Henry Dupree plus the hard charging antics of fullback Elliot Manuel, Sacred Heart scored touchdowns in the last three periods and a field goal in the second quarter to take the win, their ninth of the year.

Sicily Island, facing a defense that had yielded only 12 points all season in recording a 6-0 district record, managed to enter Trojan territory only once, scoring in the last quarter.

After a scoreless first period, Sacred Heart set up operations on its own 36 and began a 64 yard drive that resulted in the first score. At his own 43, quarterback Ted Lemoye tossed to end Brent Manuel for a 46 yard gainer to the Tiger's 11 and Dupree went over five plays later for the score. Extra point kicker Rick Borg added the PAT for a 7-0 lead.

Two plays after Sicily Island hauled in the ensuing kickoff, Trojan Paul Fontenot fell on a Billy Ray McCarty fumble at the Tiger's 21 yard line.

Three plays gained only three yards and Borg shocked the crowd by booting a 34 yard field goal to give Sacred Heart a 10-0 lead just before the half. It was Borg's third field goal of the season.

The Trojans quickly make it 17-0 after intermission.

Sicily Island took the kickoff but was forced to punt. The Tiger's kicker, McCarty, faced a wind in excess of 25 miles an hour and the ball covered only 10 yards to his own 34.

On the first play Landry went around end for 18 yards to the 16 and Lemoyne kept for a 12 yard gainer to the four. Manuel then plunged over for the score and Borg added the extra point.

Sicily Island's lone touchdown followed a pass interception by Randy McDonald at his 35 yard line ... Aided by a 15 yard penalty for roughing the kicker after the drive bogged down, the Tigers went on to score with the big gainer a 28 yard pass from halfback Carl Ready to McCarty at the four.

Ready burst through the middle on the next play and capped an 11-play drive that covered 65 yards, making the score 17-6 after McCarty's kick attempt was wide.

The last touchdown of the game came with less than one minute remaining. With two successive 14 yard gainers by Dupree, Sacred Heart moved the ball from their own 47 to the Tiger's six in six plays, where Lemoyne faked a pass and rounded left end for the touchdown.

Borg's PAT was no good.

Sicily Island, with sophomores Ready and Jerry Watson doing most of the work, managed only 92 yards on the ground. Watson picked up 22, Ready 25 while McCarthy had 23.

Landry ended the night as the game's leading rusher with 61 yards, followed closely by Manuel who had 56. Dupree had 35 and Peter Savoy 26 as the Sacred Heart crew gained 129 yards on the ground and 69 in the air for a total offense of 298 yards.

The Trojans led in first downs 14-6 but both clubs were hurt by penalties, with Sicily Island being set back 102 yards and Sacred Heart 55.

West Monroe Gets Lopsided Triumph

CALHOUN (Special) — West Monroe used a balanced scoring attack and a strong defense to rout Calhoun 75-39 here Friday night.

The Rebels put five men in the double digit bracket as they led all the way.

West Monroe was in front 15-8 at the end of one quarter and led 35-15 at halftime.

The Rebs, who are now 3-1, open district 1-AAA play next Tuesday night when they host Bossier City.

Leading the way for West Monroe were Johnny Watkins with 15 points, Marvin Smith with 14, George Schaeffer with 13, Ronnie Wiggins who had 11 and Floyd Reeves who netted 10.

Wiggins, who has just joined the Rebel cagers after the end of football season, was outstanding on the boards with 13 rebounds. Four other Rebs had eight rebounds each; they were Bill Wade, Gary Brewster, Richard Crockett and Reeves.

Schaeffer was cited for his tremendous defense.

Pelicans' Power Too Strong For Bearcats

By JIM MATHIS
World Sports Writer

RUSTON — The Homer Pelicans showed why they're rated as the No. 3 double-A team in the state as they overpowered the Ruston Bearcats for a 19-7 bi-district playoff decision here Friday night before a packed house.

The Pels collected the victory on the strength of a devastating ground attack, which was led by 140 pound halfback Tommy Beavers.

Homer picked up 250 yards rushing while holding Ruston to 173 yards total offense.

Beavers scored the first touchdown of the game on the second the Pels' play from scrimmage as he broke off-tackle for a 46 yard jaunt.

The tally came with 8:46 left to play in the opening stanza and was a preview of things to come for Homer.

The Pelicans scored again the next time they got the ball. This time the Pels showed that the shortest distance to the goal is a straight line, as they marched 85 yards, mostly on off-tackle plays. The drive consumed just eight plays, with the biggest coming when quarterback Jimmy White scampered 42 yards on a roll-out. The 165 pound White also covered the final five yards on a roll - out after the Bearcats had adjusted their defense to the off - tackle plays.

THE YARDSTICK	Homer	Ruston
First Downs	12	12
Net Yards Rush	258	143
Net Yards Pass	22	10

Had Intercepted	1	0
Punts-Avg.	2-43	2-39
Fumbles-Lost	0-0	1-1
Penalties-Lost	5-55	2-30

The score came with just 12 seconds left to play in the first quarter.

The Bearcats finally found the scoreboard near the end of the first half when fullback Allen Shorey bulled over from the one yard line. Charles Alexander added the extra point with 3:31 left in the half.

The Pelicans came back after intermission to take the kickoff and mount a 70 yard scoring drive. The big play of the drive came when the Bearcats had forced the Pels to punt but a Ruston man was called for roughing the kicker and the ball was placed at the Cats' 38 yard-line with Homer still in control.

Homer took eight plays to score, the tally coming when White scored on another roll-out that covered ten yards.

Benny Prince added the Pelicans' only PAT of the night with 3:49 left in the third period.

The rest of the contest amounted to a rushing duel between the Bearcats' Shorey and the Pelicans' Beavers.

The Cats ace came out on top after the statistics were added up as he collected 114 yards to Beavers' 104.

Much of the Pelicans success resulted from their ability to catch Ruston quarterback Billy Bahm in the act of passing. The Homer defenders threw Bahm for a minus 22 yards, and allowed him to complete only one pass for ten yards.

Homer's defensive unit also managed to come up with the big play as they stopped Ruston within their own ten yard-line on four occasions.

Score by quarters:

Neville Tigs Win From J-H Tigers

Neville picked up its first basketball victory of the young cage season here Friday night, defeating Jonesboro's defending AA champs 64-61.

Both teams are now 1-2. Neville opens district action in its next contest, hosting Byrd of Shreveport next Tuesday night. Jonesboro will be at Natchitoches Tuesday.

The see-saw battle went right down to the wire. Neither team ever led by more than six points and the lead switched hands several times in the last period.

Neville went in front for good with about two minutes left when Petey Smith connected, making the score 62-61.

Lance Dreyer iced it up with seven seconds left on two free shots.

Jonesboro used three men who competed in the state football playoffs against Jesuit Thursday night and all performed well.

James Earley popped in 14 points, Leslie Mize had 12 and Randy Phillips added six. The Jonesboro Bengals were led by 6-3 scoring ace Don Chandler who had nine field goals and five free shots for 23 points.

Charles Floyd had 20 points and 11 rebounds to pace Neville while Jay Eppinette got 18 points and 12 rebounds.

Lions Score Win At Hawk Expense

Ouachita had little trouble with little Kilbourne and got almost everyone into the scoring act as the Lions rolled over the Hawks, 72-39 at the Lion gym Friday night.

Gary Armstrong and Jimmy Hicky led the offensive charge for the Lions with Hicky also sparking the Ouachita defense with eight individual steals.

Armstrong, who hit on eight of 13 field goal attempts for a 61 percentage, finished the night with 19 points and as high man for both teams.

Hicky followed with 17 points including seven field goals on 14 attempts for 50 per cent.

Arthur Earl, with 10 caroms, was the top rebounder for the Lions, who picked off 42 for the night. Mike Leath, who scored only two free throws, came up with eight rebounds in the contest.

Seventeen floor mistakes in the contest were costly for the Hawks as Ouachita constructed a 35-16 halftime lead.

Ouachita hit on 30 of 65 shots from the floor, 46 per cent, and Kilbourne made good nine of 34 shots from the floor, 24 per cent.

Kilbourne on the other hand hit 75 per cent of its free shots, 21 of 28 and Ouachita got 55 per cent of its gratis tosses, 11 of 20 from the line.

The Kilbourne girls rolled to their 12th straight win of the season, taking a 41-39 decision over Ouachita. Cockrell punched in 22 to lead the Hawks and Debbie Guinn hit 26 for the lady Lions.

Ouachita meets Kilbourne again Tuesday night in a reed game.

Bench Warmers Notch Victory Against Lakers

BALTIMORE (AP) — Little Johnny Egan, who came off the bench to spark a Baltimore comeback in the third quarter, scored the final four points Friday night and insured a 110-107 National Basketball Association victory over the Los Angeles Lakers.

Two other parttime performers, Johnny Green and Don Ohl, also contributed to the victory as Baltimore broke a 97-97 tie after blowing a 10-point lead midway through the final period.

Green, who like Egan played only 15 minutes, tapped in a missed field goal attempt by Ohl to break the 97-97 tie, grabbed a rebound which led to a free throw by Kevin Loughery and drove the length of the court for a field goal which put Baltimore ahead 102-99.

Woodlawn Is 13-2 Winner

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Woodlawn's defensive line stopped Terrebonne of Houma cold on offense and won 13-2 in their triple-A first round playoff game Friday night.

Woodlawn, champion of District 1-AAA, scored first in the third period on a 24-yard pass from Terry Bradshaw to Russell Evans and then got the clincher in the final period on a three-yard run by Evans.

Woodlawn is now 10-1-1, and Terrebonne finished 8-3. Terrebonne was runnerup in District 5-AAA.

Fair Park Wins Behind Smith

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—V. T. Smith racked up two touchdowns Friday night to lead Fair Park of Shreveport to a 19-12 triple-A victory over Jesuit of New Orleans in bi-district playoffs.

Smith took a scoring pass from John Miller—a short two yarder that climaxed a 58-yard drive—then got another on an end run that came after an 87-yard march.

The clinching tally came on a 71-yard march in eight plays with Harry Watson sweeping around end from 15 yards out in the final period.

Miller's passing broke the Jesuit defenses. He hit on 11 of 19 throws for 184 yards. The win moves Fair Park into the semifinals.

LaRose-Cutoff, 33-7

LAROSE-CUTOFF, La. (AP) —The power running of Carl Pitre paced LaRose-Cutoff to a 33-7 victory over Abbeville in a double-A bi-district playoff Friday night.

Pitre scored three touchdowns on runs of 1, 10 and 54 yards. LaRose-Cutoff had a 26-0 fourth quarter lead before the visitors were able to score.

Club Charges NFL Is Sitting With Players

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A spokesman for the San Diego Chargers of the American Football League said Friday that National Football League representatives are attempting to coerce college players in advance of today's professional drafts.

Al LoCasale, personnel director for the Chargers, said he has heard that the NFL has hired at least 250 representatives, called "babysitters," to entice college players away from the AFL during the drafts.

LoCasale said that the NFL men tell the players that if they do not agree to go to a site where they would not be available to the AFL and do not agree to sign with an NFL team, they will not be selected by any NFL club.

"One college coach called me today and said that he had to throw some NFL representatives off his campus Wednesday," LoCasale said. "His team is in a bowl game and, with the 'babysitters' around, he said his players couldn't concentrate."

The AFL had scheduled a draft for Nov. 20, saying it had to do so to combat the NFL's babysitting practice. It was latter rescheduled for today.

LoCasale said the NFL used the "no sign-no draft" technique to some extent last year, but is using it in more extensively this year.

"They're scaring the dickens out of some boys, and I'm tired of them coming out like white knights," LoCasale said.

He referred to NFL criticism of an alleged AFL secret draft.

Boyer To Plead No Contest In Assualt Case

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — An attorney for New York Yankees third baseman Clete Boyer said Friday he would enter a plea of no contest Monday at Boyer's trial on charges of assault and battery.

Boyer will not appear when the case is called in Municipal Court, said William Leonard, the attorney. Boyer recently took an off-season job with a trucking company "and does not feel he could ask the time off to appear here," Leonard said.

Boyer and Yankee outfielder Roger Maris were charged last spring after Jerome Modzelewski, 25 accused them of slugging him in a bar fight. Maris was found innocent at his trial.

Kinder, 13-12

KINDER, La. (AP) — Ron Fontenot passed and ran Kinder to a 13-12 victory over St. Francis Friday night.

St. Francis scored first on a 15-yard run by Pete Calliuet, but Fontenot pitched 20 yards to Jim Green to tie the score at the half.

St. Francis took the lead on a 20-yard pass from John Hebert to Ron Bergeron, but Fontenot ripped off end for four yards and the tying touchdown, and plowed over from two yards out for the winning PAT.

Royals Rally In Defeating N. Y. Knicks

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Royals overcame an early New York lead Friday night and defeated the Knickerbockers in a 117-113 National Basketball Association game.

The Royals won their eighth straight home victory over New York with the season's largest crowd of 7,851 watching.

Willis Reed's shooting helped the Knicks to a 30-16 lead with 3-13 left in the first quarter. Coach Jack McMahon then sent in Happy Hairston to replace Wayne Embry at the job of covering Reed, and the Royals began to make up for lost time.

They closed to 32-28 at the end of the quarter behind the shooting of Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas, and pulled to a 57-56 lead after a nip-and-tuck second quarter.

The game remained close until the final period when the Royals pulled ahead to a 100-97 lead with 3:45 left. The Knicks closed the gap, but could not get any closer than the final score.

For the second game in a row the Royals, led by Robertson's 30 points, put four men over the 20-point mark. Reed paced the Knicks with 30 points.

Central Scores Amite Conquest

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Central scored two touchdowns in the second quarter and added two more in the fourth en route to a 27-0 victory over Amite in class AA playoff Friday night.

Marshall Bernard accounted for two scores, one on a two-yard run and the other on a 16-yard pass to Gaynell Whittington.

Garry Sides scored early in the second period with a 21-yard gallop and Jack Milligan raced 48 yards shortly before the half for the other score.

Auderich Leads Morgan City

MORGAN CITY, La. (AP) — A fourth period drive riding on Mike Auderich's passing boosted Morgan City to a 21-19 victory over Plaquemine in double-A bi-district playoffs Friday night.

Morgan City opened its drive on its 23. Auderich completed five of six passes, with the final touchdown throw going to Earl Goula.

The victory matches Morgan City against Reserve next Friday night in Morgan City.

Lincoln Worried About Position With San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Keith Lincoln, the glamor boy of the American Football League, is worried about his future with the San Diego Chargers.

"This has been a disappointing year for me," said the 26-year-old Lincoln, who has been riddled with injuries. "I just hope he (Coach Sid Gillman) won't give up on me."

Lincoln was the all-league fullback in 1963 and 1964 but was slowed by a thigh injury and missed the first three games of the season.

He slammed his helmet against his locker after the 20-20 Thanksgiving Day tie with the Buffalo Bills and admitted he was thinking about next season.

"I hope he (Gillman) doesn't trade me," said Keith. "I like it here. I hope I can help the team win the championship this year, but it's next year I'm thinking about."

Lincoln didn't see action against the Bills until the second half when he returned a kickoff 27 yards. He carried the ball once for three yards.

But it was Lincoln who sparked the Chargers in their fourth-quarter comeback. He took a John Hadl swing pass and raced 66 yards up the sideline to set up a field goal that cut the Bills' lead to 17-13.

The former Washington State star was on the bench while rookie Gene Foster from Arizona State ran in his place. Foster dropped a touchdown pass from Hadl in the second quarter and gained only 10 yards in the game.

Foster started ahead of Lincoln "because Foster has been looking better than Lincoln," Gillman said. Lincoln has 125 yards on only 51 carries, while Foster has 264 yards on 94 tries.

"But I'm hoping Keith is ready now. In the last quarter, he started to look like the Lincoln we used to know," Gillman said.

American Team Overcomes Pair In Aussie Play

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — The American team of Cliff Rickey and Herb Fitz Gibbon received several scares Friday before overcoming a makeshift Australian combination of Peter Keller and Eddie Beers in the first round of the doubles in the Victoria Tennis Championships.

Richey, from Dallas, Tex., and FitzGibbon, from Garden City, N.Y., won the 3½-hour marathon 3-6, 9-7, 7-5, 5-7, 10-8 but not until they had saved four match points in the fifth set.

At one stage, Keller and Beers, paired at the last moment for the tournament, held a 6-5 lead and love - 40 on FitzGibbon's serve. But the American hit his way out of trouble with big serves.

Grambling Foe In Pecan Bowl Against NDS

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Grambling College of Louisiana was picked Friday night to oppose North Dakota State University in the Pecan Bowl for the Mid-West region NCAA College Division title here Saturday, Dec. 11.

North Dakota State, with a 10-0 record, is the nation's ranked college division team.

Grambling wound up with an 8-2 record by smashing Lincoln of Missouri 54-18 in its final game Thursday.

It will be the second annual Pecan bowl game. State College of Iowa beat Lamar Tech 19-17 last year.

Ridgewood Hits St. James, 18-7

ST. JAMES, La. (AP)—Ridgewood, defending class B state class B champions, cashed in two fumbles and added a 62-yard touchdown march to beat St. James 18-7 in bi-district playoffs Friday night.

Al Lambert recovered the first St. James fumble on the St. James 33. Four plays later, Ken Lyles burst eight yards over left tackle for the score. The second St. James fumble was at their 20. Lyles got the touchdown on a two-yard burst.

The long drive in the fourth quarter was capped by Rodney Salvaggio's five yard burst.

A fumble also led to the St. James score. It came on the Ridgewood 12. Five plays later Ronald Ordoyne went over from one yard out.

Opelousas, 26-0

OPELOUSAS, La. (AP) — Opelousas jammed three touchdowns across in the second period Friday night and went on to overpower Menard 26-0 in a double-A playoff game.

Jimmy Johnson got two touchdowns on passes from Johnny Daigle.

USL Back Inked To Steeler Pact

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers activated end Jerry Simmons and center Ron Henson Friday for Sunday's National Football League game with the Cleveland Browns at Pitt Stadium.

The Steelers also announced the signing of the second junior eligible who was drafted last year. He is Lonny Price, 6-foot-1, 205-pound running halfback from the University of Southwestern Louisiana.

Kel Nagle, who lost the U.S. Open title in a playoff with Gary Player, has won the New Zealand Open four times. He won the Australia PGA crown four times and the Australia Open once.

Barmore Will Captain Tech Basketballers

RUSTON (Special) — Leon Barmore, 5-10 junior guard from Ruston, will captain Louisiana Tech's basketball team this season.

The Bulldog squad is without a senior this campaign and Robertson selected the smooth ball handling Barmore to be the team leader.

"Barmore is the top scorer back from last year. He averaged 12.5 points per game last season when the Techsters surprisingly finished in a second place tie in the league race. Barmore ranked second to the graduated Jerry Hood in scoring last year for Tech.

Robertson is preparing his squad for the opener against Little Rock University here Wednesday night. "We've got a long way to go before then because we will be playing a team that opened its regular schedule about 10 days ago," Robertson said.

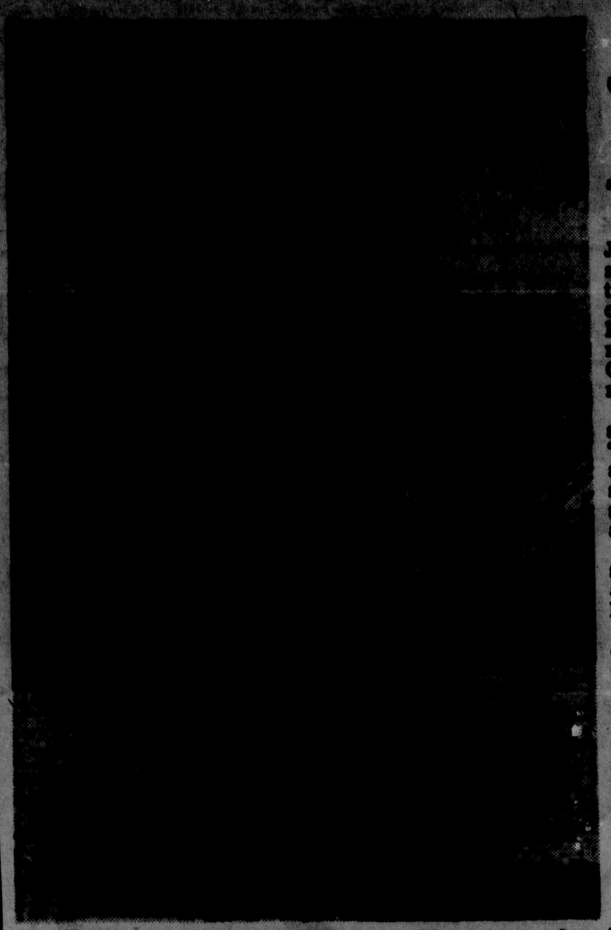
The Tech coach still hasn't settled on a starting lineup although Barmore, 6-11 Richard Peek, 6-10 Bob Watson, 6-3 Jon Pat Stephenson, and 6-4 Malcolm Smith got the call in the scrimmage game against the frosh won by the varsity 90-70.

Peek and Watson were impressive in rebounding while Stephenson led the defense. First game floor mistakes were evident and Robertson was unhappy with the team's ability to run offensive patterns.

The Canines knocked off Thanksgiving Day and resumed the practice pace Friday night.

After the opener against Little Rock, the Techsters stay home the next night to face Harding College. Coach Don Landry's Pups also play both nights, meeting Jacksonville Baptist Junior College and Tyler Junior College in consecutive preliminaries.

Varsity games will start at 8 o'clock with the prelims at 6 o'clock.



MASTERS CHAMP Jack Nicklaus blasts out of a sand trap going to the eight green of the second round of the Cajun Classic underway in Lafayette. Nicklaus bogeyed the eighth but managed to shoot a five under par 67 to take a one stroke lead in the $30,000 tournament. (AP Wirephoto)

Jack Nicklaus In Cajun Lead

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, gunning for his sixth victory of the year, tamed the Oakbourne Country Club course with a five-under-par 67 Friday and took the second round lead in the $32,000 Cajun Classic, final stop on the PGA national tour.

The 25-year-old Nicklaus, who said he wasn't driving well but "got good play out of my irons and putted good," had a 36 hole score of 136. He had a one stroke lead over Bert Weaver and Babe Hiskey.

Weaver, winner of the Jacksonville Open earlier this year, and Hiskey, a tour rookie, each had 68-69—137.

Paul Bondeson, who fired a 66 over the par 72, 6,555-yard course for the first round lead, slipped to a 72. He remained in contention at 138.

Others in the 138 bracket were Miller Barber, the defending champion; Al Kelley, Fred Haas, Rex Baxter, who won the tourney two years ago, and Tom Nieporte.

Barber and Jim Ferree had 68s, the best rounds of the day. Ferree put his six-under score with an opening round 75 for a 141.

Nicklaus, the two-time Masters champion, has already earned $138,000 to take this year's money title. He fashioned his 33-34—67 during the morning when the wind was gusty.

He had trouble with sand traps the first day, but it was much different Friday. Twice he blasted out of bunkers to get birdies from three feet away.

"Yesterday was the first sand shot I have hit in three weeks," he said. "Even the duffers have trouble in the sand if they lay off a while."

Young Dudley Wysong, who had a fine 67 for a 139, got a birdie on one hole the hard way. His tee shot on No. 16 — a par 4, 388-yard hole — went into the water. He dropped out, taking a stroke, and then banged a five-iron into the cup from 175 yards out for his three.

Tournament sponsors decided Friday to up the purse to $32,000. It has been $30,178 with the odd dollars coming from television revenue. The Cajun classic, played in the smallest town in the PGA circuit, still has the tour's smallest purse.

Praise Pours In For Bums Top Rookie

PLAYA DEL REY, Calif. (AP) — Second baseman Jimmy Lefebvre of the Los Angeles Dodgers was accepting congratulations Friday after being named National League Rookie of the Year.

"It's fantastic," said the one-time Dodger bat boy. It makes me feel real good."

The 22-year-old infielder, who lives here, received 13 votes from a 20-man committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America to win the award.

The Houston Astros' second baseman, Joe Morgan, got four votes and Frank Linzy, San Francisco relief pitcher, three. It was the same committee that named Willie Mays of San Francisco as the league's Most Valuable players.

Lefebvre, the Cinderella Kid of the Dodgers, was a key factor in the club's drive to the National League pennant and its win over the Minnesota Twins in the World Series.

Lefebvre was so little known in spring training that few could spell or pronounce his name. It's pronounced La-fever.

He recalled this period Thursday.

"I was called to the Dodgers in spring training and I wasn't even on the roster. I had to make the ball club but I thought they were going to send me back to Spokane. I had to show what I could do."

Captain-shortstop Maury Wills and player-coach Jim Gilliam drilled him in the skills of playing the position.

He went on the play in 157 games and star in the Series. Although he batted only .250, Lefebvre scored 57 runs and batted in 69. Among his 136 hits were 12 home runs, 4 triples and 21 doubles.

The Dodgers signed Lefebvre out of Morningside High School in nearby Inglewood in 1962 and placed him at Reno in the California League.

Pro Picker Sees Weekend Wrapup

By MIKE RATHET

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cleveland Browns can clinch the Eastern Conference title in the National Football League by beating Pittsburgh Sunday while both New York and St. Louis lose.

The triple play will happen, it says here.

Four peerless pro prognosticator compiled a 7-2-3 record last week for 67-30-6 on the season and a .632 percentage. Here we go again (all games Sunday):

National League

Cleveland 42, Pittsburgh 17 — The Jimmy Browns, who had trouble with the Steelers in their first meeting, will have considerably less trouble this time. With Bill Nelson injured, either veteran Ed Brown or little-used Tommy Wade will have to do the quarterbacking for Pittsburgh.

Green Bay 28, Los Angeles 7 — The Packers' slumbering offense showed signs of picking up against Minnesota last week while their defense shows signs of being able to control a game almost by itself. With Bill Munson injured, Roman Gabriel will do the passing for the Rams.

Chicago 35, New York 21 — Gale Sayers will score his 13th touchdown for the Bears. He needs it to tie the rookie record held by Bill Howton of Green Bay. The Giants just don't seem to have enough offense to handle Chicago.

Philadelphia 27, St. Louis 20 — The Cardinals, likewise, don't seem to be able to get their offense rolling despite the fact that Buddy Humphrey was an able substitute at quarterback for Charley Johnson last week. The Eagles should be able to get by a slipping club.

Minnesota 35, San Francisco 31 — The last time they met the Vikings won 42-21 and this one figures to be the same kind of struggle. Here's a vote for Norm Van Brocklin, who may need a victory to save his stomach.

Dallas 28, Washington 17 — With the exception of that fatal, much-discussed interception, Don Meredith moved the Cowboys sharply last week, and Bob Hayes has been a constant plus. The Redskins still need more offensive punch.

American League

New York 35, Boston 17 — Joe Namath passed for four touchdowns last week, and the rookie Jet quarterback figures to have a comparable day against the Patriots. Babe Parilli will have one advantage — the Boston boo birds can't reach him.

Pro Football Begins Annual Coin Battles

NEW YORK (AP) — The National and American football leagues, which have thrown charges and counter-charges at each other, will begin throwing money at the nation's top college football players today minutes after beginning their simultaneous — but separate — drafts.

If last year is any indication, the drafts again will touch off a multi-million dollar battle for player talent, and some high choices will sign contracts only minutes after their names are chalked up on the draft blackboards.

Kentucky quarterback Rick Norton, who appears to be the No. 1 pro-type passer among a small group of standout college signal-callers, could turn out to be the big name in the competition between the two league as did Joe Namath last year.

Norton might be picked on the first round of each draft by the two new teams — the NFL's Atlanta Falcons and the AFL's Miami Dolphins. Both become operational for the 1966 season and presumably would figure a quarterback as their primary need.

Each new club will benefit from liberal draft procedures. The Dolphins will get the biggest break, making the first two selections in the AFL draft, then picking first on every subsequent round through 20. The Falcons get the first and last pick on the first five rounds of the NFL draft, then will select first on every round after that.

Before the draft ends, the 15 NFL teams will have selected 305 players while the AFL will name 271. The AFL will tap 181 in the regular draft, then draft 90 redshirts — players still in school whose college classes are graduating.

The NFL teams will be picked in this order on the first round: Atlanta, Los Angeles, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Dallas, Washington, Minnesota, St. Louis, Detroit, New York, San Francisco, Chicago, Green Bay, Cleveland, Baltimore and Atlanta again.

Following Miami in the AFL draft will be Boston, Denver, Houston, New York, Kansas City, Oakland, San Diego and Buffalo.

In the charges and counter charges that have preceded the actual drafts, some 50 college players have been linked both with either the AFL or NFL and with specific teams.

The following players were among those supposed to have been drafted by the AFL at a meeting earlier this month:

New York: Bill Yearby, Michigan tackle; Sam Ball, Kentucky tackle; Carl McAdams, Oklahoma linebacker.

Oakland: Tom Mitchell, Bucknell end; Jim Fulgham, Minnesota tackle; Butch Allison, Missouri defensive end.

San Dieg: Milt Morin, Massachusetts end; Eric Crabtree, Pittsburgh flanker; Don Davis, Los Angeles State guard.

Miami: Norton; Jim Grabowski, Illinois fullback; Dick Leftridge, West Virginia fullback.

Houston: Stan Hindman, Mississippi guard; Jack O'Billovich, Oregon State linebacker; Dave Ellis, North Carolina State tackle.

Denver: Bob Hadrick, Purdue end; Howard Twilley, Tulsa end; Jerry Shay, Purdue tackle.

Buffalo: Bill Malinchak, Indians end; Mike Dennis, Mississippi halfback; Bill Johnson, U. of the South halfback.

Boston: Klar Singer, Purdue guard; Ken Hollister, Indiana tackle ;Jim Boudreaux, Louisiana Tech end.

The NFL, meanwhile, was supposed to have drawn up a list of 13 must players to sign, including Norton and Grabowski and three players drafted last year as futures — Texas Tech running back Donny Anderson, Missouri back Johnny Roland and Notre Dame lineman Dick Arrington.

Also on the list were defensive back Nick Rassas of Notre Dame, receivers Aaron Brown of Minnesota and Freeman White of Nebraska and linemen Larry Gagner of Florida, Bruce Van Dyke of Missouri, Walt Barnes of Nebraska, Carl McAdams of Oklahoma and Tommy Nobis of Texas.

Others likely to go high are quarterbacks Gary Snook of Iowa and Randy Johnson of Texas A&I running backs Mike Garrett of Southern California and Roger Bird of Kentucky, linemen Harold Lucas of Michigan State and John Niland of Iowa and kickers Charlie Gogolak of Princeton and Dick Kenney of Michigan State.

Celtics Roll With Victory Over Pistons

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — The Boston Celtics rolled to their fifth straight National Basketball Association victory by overpowering the Detroit Pistons 134-114 Friday night with an explosive attack triggered by Larry Siegfried midway through the third period.

The Celtics, gunning for an unprecedented eighth straight NBA title, maintained their one-half game lead over Cincinnati in the Eastern Division.

Siegfried broke a 73-73 deadlock with a three-point play, and the Celtics stayed ahead without difficulty.

Boston pulled in front at halftime, but the Pistons rebounded to tie the count in the third quarter before Siegfried put the Celtics in front to stay. But Detroit refused to quit and trailed by only four points, 93-89, at the outset of the fourth period.

It was the Pistons' last gasp as K.C. Jones, John Havlicek and Mel Counts took command for Boston. The Celtics poured in 41 points in the final 12 minutes. Jones connected for 11, Havlicek 10 and Counts 8 in the surge.

With their high scorer, Sam Jones, sidelined with a knee injury, the Celtics were led by Havlicek with 28 points. Willie Naulls hit for 24 and Siegfried 11. K.C. Jones, held scoreless in the first three periods, contributed 13 assists.

Ray Scott led Detroit with 25 points, while player-coach Dave DeBusschere hit for 21.

Sulphur Takes 14-0 Triumph

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Sulphur upended defending state triple-A champion Baton Rouge 14-0 Friday night with Bill Thomason tearing loose for two fourth quarter touchdown runs.

The victory put Sulphur in the semifinals against Behrman of District 4 in a clash of district runnersup next Friday night in Sulphur.

Thomason bulled seven yards over left guard to break a scoreless deadlock after Jim Barton recovered a Baton Rouge fumble on the Bulldog 19.

An intercepted pass stopped a Baton Rouge comeback at the Sulphur 21. On the fourth play after the interception, Thomason turned the corner and raced 47 yards for the final score.

St. Michaels Is Upset By 14-0

CROWLEY, La. (AP)—Golden Meadow upset undefeated St. Michaels Friday night 14-0 in the class A playoffs.

Pat LeBlanc and Steve Cheramie scored the Golden Meadow touchdowns.

St. Michaels was the top rated class A team going into playoff action Friday night. Its loss was the first in an undefeated season of play.

Golden Meadow now is 6-1-2.

St. Bernard In 13-6 Victory

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Richard Wood led the St. Bernard Eagles to a 13-6 victory over Woodlawn of Baton Rouge in class A bi-district playoffs Friday night, scoring both Eagle touchdowns.

Wood took a pass from Bradley Hernandez in the second quarter on a touchdown play covering 61 yards. He also ripped off 61 yards in the 80-yard touchdown drive that won the game, diving in from four yards out for the score.

With Bowl Bid

Auburn Seeking Cinderella End

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Buoyed by an invitation to the Liberty Bowl, Auburn's surprising football team tries today to put the perfect finish to a Cinderella season by whipping arch-rival Alabama.

The Tigers, who were in the midst of disaster only a month ago when they lost a 3-0 decision to Southern Mississippi, can claim their first Southeastern Conference championship since 1957 with a victory or a tie.

Alabama carries the favorite's tag into the intra-state brawl, however, because the Crimson Tide has lost but once this year and is ranked fifth nationally. Alabama will play in the Orange Bowl against Nebraska.

Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant's Alabama team has not been beaten since an 18-17 upset against Georgia in the season opener. The Tide was tied 7-7 by Tennessee in its only other setback.

Auburn also was deadlocked by Tennessee, 13-13, in the only blemish on a five-game conference record. The Tigers, who dropped three non-conference games, upset Kentucky and Florida and beat Georgia and Mississippi State in their surprising drive to the title showdown.

The game at Legion Field's 70,000-seat stadium has been a sellout since last spring because of the intense rivalry of the Alabama teams.

Both teams boast hard-hitting fullbacks, although Auburn's Tom Bryan is new at the position. The fleet junior played quarterback until the last two games, but has been so impressive at his new position that he now ranks fourth in rushing in the SEC with 487 yards.

Bryan is far behind Alabama fullback Steve Bowman, however. The shifty Alabama senior leads the league with 727 yards.

Martin Signs

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — Coach Billy Martin and catcher Earl Battey signed 1966 contracts with the Minnesota Twins Friday.

Martin signed for an estimated $20,000, a raise of about $8,000 over his 1965 contract.

Battey, who hit .297 for the American League champions, signed for an estimated $35,000, which represented a token increase.

Bowl-Bound Teams In 1965 Football Finales

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seven bowl-bound college football teams take their final regular season warm-ups today while Army and Navy open and close their season with their traditional battle.

The service academy contest always overshadows anything else that happens during the rest of the year for the teams, but this time the game could have even more significance because both teams are so evenly matched.

Navy has won four, lost four and tied one while Army has won four and dropped five.

Both teams are given credit for tougher defenses than offenses, and the game could be a defensive battle such as last year when the Cadets snapped a five-game Middle victory string with an 11-8 triumph.

The usual 102,000, including some 7,000 from the academies and numerous government officials, will witness the annual spectacle.

The game also will be televised nationally (NBC) starting at 1:30 p.m. EST.

Four of the Top Ten teams in the country are on the schedule, but for two of them, the games will be the last of the season.

Sixth-ranked Notre Dame, which has a policy against post-season contests, plays Miami of Florida in a night game, and eighth-ranked Southern California, which lost its bowl chance with a loss to UCLA, takes on Wyoming.

Alabama, the nation's fifth-ranked team, clashes with Auburn for the Southeastern Conference championship. Alabama already is in the Orange Bowl while Auburn has a date in the Liberty Bowl. Tennessee, No. 9 and in the Bluebonnet Bowl, plays Vanderbilt in another SEC game.

Four other bowl teams are in action.

Georgia Tech warms up for the Gator Bowl against traditional foe Georgia, Sugar-bound Florida battles Florida State, Mississippi goes against Mississippi State before heading for the Liberty Bowl and Texas Western, named to the Sun Bowl Friday, plays West Texas State.

The other Sun Bowl spot, incidentally, is the only one unfilled in the major bowl picture. Sun officials said the leading candidates for the bid are Miami, Texas Christian, South Carolina and Utah State.

Texas Christian plays Southern Methodist while Utah State and South Carolina already have concluded their seasons.

Defense Sparks Lutcher To Win

LUTCHER, La. (AP) — A rugged Lutcher defense took the ball away from Buras five times Friday night as Lutcher won 25-0 in a class A playoff game.

With Warren Aguespack directing the offense, Lutcher jammed a touchdown across in each quarter.

In the most spectacular plays, Waguespack hit Terry Poche with a 50-yard bomb and defensive linebacker Danny Roussel picked off a fumble and ran it 52 yards for the third score.

Australia's Kel Nagle, Loser in a playoff to South Africa's Gary Palyer, was the only golfer to break par twice in this year's U. S. Open. He began with a 68, finished with a 69, but shot 74 in the playoff.

Prep Basketball

Wildcat Winners

CROWVILLE (Special) — Winnsboro took a pair of cage wins from Crowville here Friday night. The girls team took a 57-41 win with the boys winning 61-35.

Cherrie Griffen got 28 points and Carla Martin added 22 for the Winnsboro girls with Sue Pierce sinking 20 and Linda Sutherlin 15 for Crowville.

Archie Pippen led the Wildcats with 22 markers followed by Bennie Strong's 14. Ronnie Vickers had 12 for the Crowville lads.

Crowville hosts Holly Ridge next Tuesday.

Block Doubles

JONESVILLE (Special) — Block opened their home stand in basketball here Friday night with a 90-35 win over Central of Larto.

Block girls took a 62-52 win over their Larto opponents.

Bryan Bond led Block with 12 points, followed by Van Taliaferro with 11 and Kenneth Foster, Frankie Schneider and Buzz Scott with 10 points each.

Larto was paced by Terry Alwell with 6 points.

Block had three girls hitting double figures, paced by Nelda Johnson with 22, Francis Spinks with 20 and Velma Spinks with 19.

Larto was paced by Sue Wiley, high in the game with 37 points.

Block boys are now 5-0 on the season while the girls are 3-3. Block's next home game is with Monterey on November 30.

Reserve Blanks Redemptorist 11

RESERVE, La. (AP) — Reserve High blanked Baton Rouge Redemptorist 20-0 Friday night in a class AA playoff, with Keith Cambre logging two touchdowns and setting up another.

Cambre went over from 12 yards out in the opening period to climax a 40-yard drive. In the third, he took a 12-yard scoring pass from quarterback Gene Duhe.

In the final quarter, Cambre intercepted a Redemptorist pass at the eighth and struggled to the one yard line. Carl Schultz bulled over for the touchdown.

Lafayette Gets Win, Sets Stage For Crucial Tilt

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Two big breaks were cashed in for touchdowns Friday night as Lafayette downed Lee of Baton Rouge 13-0 in class AAA playoff.

It was the 10th straight victory for Lafayette and sets the stage for its big game with powerful West Jefferson. The two squads tied for top ranking in the AP's final season Top Ten.

Ross Brubacher paced Lafayette with two touchdowns, both on short plunges.

A bad pass from center to Lee quarterback Kenny Sanders, who was back to punt, set up the first score. Sanders was dropped on his two. From there, Brubacher blasted across.

Midway in the fourth. Bob St. Amant intercepted a Lee pass and ran it back 10 yards to the Lee 28. Six plays later, Brubacher was over from six yards out.

Seven golfers representing California played the four rounds of this year's U. S. Open in St. Louis. Al Geiberger led the West Coast contingent with a 287. He tied Julius Boros for fourth place. Each earned $6,500.

Mrs. Hagan was a 1961 graduate of Tallulah High School and recently graduated from Northeast Louisiana State College, with a major in business education. She was a member of the college honor society, the Alpha Lambda Delta Honorary Fraternity, and Sigma Tau Delta Honorary English Fraternity.

Voters Increase

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The percentage of Negro voters registered in Louisiana increased to 17.1 during October, records of the state board of registration showed Friday.

The state had 1,221,874 registered voters on Oct. 31, of which 1,013,423 were whites and 208,451 were Negroes. Whites made up 82.9 per cent of the total.

The percentage of registered Negroes was .3 over the figure for Sept. 30, and up 3.3 per cent over the end of July, or before a new federal law on voter registration took effect.

The total was up 2,389 from the 206,062 Negroes registered at the end of September. The July-end total was 163,453.

The state has about 2,000,000 persons of voting age, of which 600,000 are Negro.

Youth Stabbed

NEW ORLEANS (AP)— Four Negro youths stabbed and robbed a 15 - year-old boy here Thursday night and ran away laughing, a companion of the victim told police Friday.

The victim, Wayne A. Shinault, was left bleeding on the sidewalk with stab wounds in the chest and back. He was taken to Charity Hospital for treatment.

The companion, Marion Faulkner, 14, gave police this version:

The two boys were walking along a street when the four youths approached and asked if they had any money. The youths grabbed two long-playing rock 'n roll records from Faulkner.

Faulkner then began to run when one of the youths pulled a knife. He heard a thud, turned around and saw Shinault on the sidewalk.

The boy said the four youths were laughing when they ran from the scene.

Warrants Issued

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Warrants were issued Friday for the arrest of two Negro men in the robbery of a Greenwood Road liquor store and the rape of a white woman clerk.

The warrants were issued by Dist. Atty John A. Richardson following investigation by Caddo Parish deputies. Officials declined to identify the pair, pending their arrest.

Maj. Homer C. Bryant, head of the criminal investigation division of the Caddo Sheriff's Department, said the two young Negroes were sought Thursday following the incident, but eluded deputies.

Sign Contract

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP) — Officials of the Harrison County Development Commission today signed a $379,024.55 contract with T. L. James, Inc. of Kenner, La., for extensions and improvements to the Pass Christian industrial district.

Work is to get under way within ten days but during the initial 30 days will be limited mostly to clearing land and drainage improvements.

The contract calls for dredging of sand fill from bayou portage to stabilize the surface of an existing 80-acre industrial park but this work will be undertaken later.

Man Drowns

FRANKLIN, La. (AP) —John Sonnier, 25, of Lafayette apparently drowned while fishing in West Cote Blanche Bay near here Friday, St. Mary Parish Sheriff Chester Baudoin said.

Sonnier and Robert Jones of New Orleans were fishing from the platform of Texas Co. rig No. 115 when their boat drifted away.

Jones said Sonnier dived into the water in an attempt to reach the boat and never appeared above the surface.

Rough weather with waves up to four feet hampered search operations.

Dies Of Wound

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — An autopsy Friday revealed than an unemployed salesman, first thought to be victim of a hit-and-run motorist, died from a stab wound.

Dr. Lloyd LoCascio, assistant coroner, ruled the death Thursday of Gordon R. Pierce, 50, a homicide.

He said a thin-bladed instrument at least six inches long penetrated the victim's heart and liver.

Police at first thought Pierce might have been a hit and run victim. He was crawling in a street near his home when found Thursday night.

Officers said Pierce had been drinking most of the day.

Hottest Day

NEW ORLEANS (AP)— This city sweltered through the hottest Nov. 26 on record Friday.

The high of 83 degrees broke a record of 82 set in 1906.

The high Thursday of 84 broke the record of 81 set Nov. 25, 1964.

Offers Protection

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Dist. Atty. Sargent Pitcher Friday offered complete protection to anyone giving him information on the latest in a series of bombings here.

State police laboratory technicians joined local authorities in a search for clues to Thursday's blasting of a $15,000 dragline at an excavation site here.

Stanley Graham, owner of the dragline, offered $2,500 reward to anyone giving information which leads to an arrest and conviction. He estimated damage to the dragline at $5,000.

Police say they found no motive. They indicated the blast apparently was caused by dynamite.

Pitcher said he was deeply disturbed about the effect the series of bombings would have on the Baton Rouge image. There have been seven such incidents in the past year.

"We will certainly protect anyone who has any evidence to bring to this office," he said. "We will certainly protect his identity and give him complete protection."

Weekend In Jail

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Traffic Judge David MacHauer said Friday a weekend in jail may prove the best traffic instruction he can find for 26 youthful traffic violators.

MacHauer said the short jail sentences, coupled with lectures on traffic safety should "go far in making these young men cognizant of their responsibility."

Most of the violators, he noted, have been before him before on traffic charges.

The 26 youths will be released from jail Sunday night. Until then, the judge said, the boys will undergo a full schedule of work, lectures and films assembled by police.

MacHauer said Capt. Harold Thread, warden of the House of Dentention, promised full cooperation in the program.

Killed Hunting

BOGALUSA, La. (AP) — Milton Crockett, 14, of Bogalusa, was killed Friday by a shotgun blast on a hunting trip.

The youth was struck in the right side as he and a friend, Robert Shipley, also 14, stopped to rest.

Shipley told officers he put his gun across his lap and the hammer, which was cocked, fired the weapon.

Patty Duke Is Married To TV Director

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Television actress Patty Duke was married to television assistant director Harry Falk Jr. on Friday in the Little Brown church at nearby Studio City.

Miss Duke, 19, and Falk, 32, planned a brief honeymoon before the actress returns to work next Wednesday, friends said. They announced their engagement last Oct. 4.

Miss Duke has starred in her own television show for several years, and Falk is assistant director of the "Trials of O'Brien" series.

BBC Decides Film Too Bad To Be Shown

LONDON (AP) — The British Broadcasting Corp. on Friday decided a film it made about the effects of a nuclear war on Britain is too horrifying for television viewers.

The film, "The War Game," includes shots of badly burned bodies, hysterical men and women, and police executing civilians after a food riot.

The BBC has been in difficulties about the film ever since it was finished in August.

The British government's Home Office advised against showing it.

The film was produced by Peter Watkins, who recently won a Television Producers' Guild award for his work on another program. Watkins told newsmen he had quit the BBC because of its attitude toward "The War Game."

Court-Martial Acquits Last Of Charged Officers

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — A general court-martial Friday acquitted the last of three drill instructors accused of mistreating recruits at this Marine Corps training base.

The panel deliberated one hour before freeing Cpl. Jerry W. Nelson, 22, of Alva, Ky., charged with slapping six trainees while they were undergoing basic training in September.

Earlier, the same court martial had cleared S. Sgt. Clyde E. Cornelison, 29, of Cocoa Beach, Fla., and Sgt. Donald A. Stewart, 24, of Parkesburg, Pa., of similar charges.

Three Area Deer Hunters Are Injured

Three area deer hunters were involved in separate accidents Friday. Two of the hunters were children.

A Columbia child shot his thumb off Friday afternoon in a hunting mishap in Ward 8 of Caldwell Parish, a Wisner man was shot two miles north of Cooters Point in Tensas Parish and a Vidalia boy fell from a tree, breaking a leg.

Sheriff Floyd Hodges said James Leslie Manley, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Manley of Columbia, was in a tree stand at 3 p.m. when he pulled the trigger of his shotgun while his thumb covered the end of the barrel.

Hospital officials at Caldwell Hospital at Columbia said the child's thumb was shot off. He was treated and released.

Capt. Jim Gillespie of the Tensas Game Rangers said Henry E. Kenney, 36, of Rt. 1, Wisner, was admitted to Rogers Clinic at Winnsboro after being shot about 7:15 a.m. Kenney had shot a deer and as it was struggling to get up, Theodore F. Buuck, 28, of New Orleans, fired at the deer, Gillespie said. One buckshot hit Kenney in the left side of his back.

Tony Campbell, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Campbell of Vidalia, was in a deer stand about 20 feet up in a tree when he put his foot on a rotten limb and fell to the ground.

Officials at Rogers Clinic said both bones in his right leg were broken just above the ankle. He was later transferred to Jefferson Davis Memorial Hospital in Natchez, Miss.

The accident occurred about 8 a.m., one mile east of the Tensas River near the Three Way Grocery Store in Tensas Parish, according to Deputy Sheriff Jimmy Guice of Franklin Parish.

Windshield Of Airliner Cracks Over Atlantic

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) —An Icelandic airliner made an emergency landing at Prestwick Airport on Friday night with a shattered windshield in the pilot's cabin.

It was the second such occurence in five days to the same type of plane, operated by the same airline over the same route and over the same spot in the Atlantic Ocean.

Fire engines and ambulances lined the runway when the projet CL44 came in for landing but there was no mishap.

The windscreen on the left side of the pilot's cockpit had suddenly shattered 500 miles out of Keflavik, Iceland, on a trip from New York to Luxembourg with 60 passengers aboard.

"The window went with a loud ping just like a pistol shot," said Capt. Stefan Gislason. "I immediately lost height, from 21,000 to 9,000 feet, to avoid the danger of reduced pressure in the cabin. The central layer of the laminated window was shattered."

The same thing happened Monday to Capt. Einar Gislason.

"I hope it was sheer coincidence," said Stefan. "I would not like to think there are any unknown forces at work over that part of the North Atlantic."

Youth Injured As Motorcycle Strikes Auto

RIDGECREST (Special) — James Robert Kelly, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Ware of Crestview Subdivision, was injured Friday night when his motorcycle collided with a parked car here.

According to Ridgecrest Chief of Police, W. G. Brock, the youth was traveling south on Ferriday Drive when he hit a parked car owned by Jerald Williams of Green Acres Subdivision.

The accident occurred about 7 p.m. The Kelly youth was taken to Concordia Parish Hospital in Ferriday where he was still in surgery late Friday night.

Chief Brock said he estimated the motorcycle's speed at about 35 miles an hour. He said the cycle was demolished and the auto was slightly damaged.

The case was under investigation. No charges had been filed.

Legal History

LONDON (AP) — Legal history was made in Britain on Friday as judgment was passed on the first perons to be convicted of murder since the abolition of the death penalty early this month.

Peter Kenneth Aitken, 25, was sentenced in Old Bailey Court to a minimum period of 15 years in jail for shooting a car dealer. Under the new law, the penalty for murder is an indeterminate spell in prison, ranging up to life. The home secretary can decide on parole after the sentence recommended by the judge has been served.

WHITE CHRYSANTHEMUMS and eucalyptus form the Hogarth curve line of Mrs. Aaron May's design in a bottle covered with chipped glass in blue and crystal, accented at the base with a bunch of green sequined grapes. Mrs. James Maxwell, president of Garden Gate Garden club, at right, created an unusual door design using hardware cloth for basic background cut to a triangle tree shape. Green magnolia leaves form the background for colorful artificial fruits that center the design.

MRS. FLETCHER ASHCRAFT has been visiting in Mobile, Ala., making the acquaintance of her new grandson, Christopher Wyche Ashcraft, the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Wyche Ashcraft, who was born November 12. The baby's grandfather, Fletcher Ashcraft, and his great grandfather, Joe Washburn joined the group in Mobile for Thanksgiving and the weekend.

Sally Farr, Burton Price Given Rehearsal Dinner

The wedding today of Miss Sally Ann Farr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Farr Jr., and Burton Louis Price, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover L. Price, inspired the rehearsal dinner in the Holiday Inn dining room Friday evening. Mrs. Price, mother of the prospective groom, and Mrs. Jimmy H. Whittington were the hostesses for the occasion.

The wedding will take place in Covenant Presbyterian Church at 2 this afternoon.

For the rehearsal dinner, tables were arranged in the form of a T and covered with white linen tablecloths. The head table featured an arrangement of miniature white chrysanthemums and greenery in a gold container. The other tables held small arrangements similar to the central one. White candles were placed at intervals between these floral arrangements.

Miss Farr, wearing a two-piece suit of geranium colored velveteen and matching accessories, and Mr. Price presented gifts to their wedding attendants.

Attending the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Farr Jr., Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Farr, Miss Janet Williams, Johnny Ristzell, Miss Janis Brandon, Tommy Brister, Ricky Redd, Jerry Sandifer, Miss Mary Louise Farr, Jimmy H. Whittington, Grover L. Price, Kent Dean, Ronnie Brothers and the Rev. and Mrs. Wayne Gray.

GARDEN CLUB EVENT

Local garden clubs are invited to a Christmas demonstration to be held at the American Legion Hall in Minden on Monday, November 29. Sponsored by the Town and Country Garden Club of Minden, the event will begin at 10 a.m. and will feature Ronnie Merrill of Baton Rouge, who will arrange and display various types of Christmas decorations.

DOUBLE USE

Keep a set of round-bowl fractional measuring spoons in your kitchen — you'll find them useful. For example, the 1-teaspoon size may be used for making melon balls instead of a regular melonball cutter; the tablespoon size does a good job when you are making "drop" cookies.

RICH ROLLS

Mix together a half cup of mayonnaise with a couple of tablespoons of grated Parmesan cheese. Spread the mixture over brown - and - serve rolls placed on foil; bake as usual and serve piping hot.

Color, Convenience Dominate In Homes

Die-hard lovers of contemporary will be pleased with new home furnishings on the market. In addition to a wide variety of new pieces in furniture lines, there are fabrics and bedspreads galore attuned to this decor. Deep colors are more brilliant, more saturated, while pastels get a sophisticated, sharper treatment. Textures have a handcrafted look, and in bedspreads these often are augmented with tailoring touches at mattress edge and bottom hemline.

A noteworthy innovation is seen in the use of yarn as part of the bedspread weave for the first time. Yarn, while light in weight, makes for durability and adds design interest to the fabric. The bedspread has a blistered surface effect, much like the look of matelasse.

Today's trend toward simplicity of design is constantly growing because the smaller size of our living areas requires lightness of scale, better utilization of space and compactness. However, most bedrooms never seem large enough to hold all the furniture you feel you need. Wise allotment of space might suggest wall-hung nite tables, hanging lamps, or perhaps even one wall devoted completely to storage.

Color is playing an ever-increasing part in our lives. No longer are we satisfied with just any color. The things we use . . . from file cabinets to frying pans . . . from telephones to refrigerators . . . come in a choice of colors. Color television and color photography have almost become commonplace. And, there's nothing that can be more wonder - working in decorating a bedroom than the good use of colors. Color scheming becomes easy with handsome fabric as a starter. And, in the bedroom, the bed is by far the largest area to be covered with fabric.

Never was the quotation "Beauty is in the eye of the beholder" more true than it is today. The elimination of formula decorating provides more freedom and in turn more individuality to rooms. This is true not only in combining colors, but also furniture from different periods within an area. The incorporation of tasteful designs from contemporary and Mediterranean collections, for instance can produce a particularly striking effect . . . handcrafted accessories to highlight the pieces of sleek, uncluttered modern. To work a turnabout, you could use the daring color palette of today with gently curving lines of the past to fashion a highly decorative, sophisticated room.

Recent Bride Is Honored

The home of Mrs. Thomas B. Watson on Harrison Street was the setting Sunday for a miscellaneous tea shower when Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Vernon Whitlock and Mrs. L. S. Prichard honored recent bride, Mrs. Pete Grower of Shreveport.

Receiving the guests with the bride were her mother, Mrs. J. D. Merritt of Magnolia, Arkansas and Mrs. Noel Grower, mother of the groom.

The tea table, covered by an imported hand - drawn linen cloth over pink, was adorned with painted daisies in a silver epergne, accented by softly burning tapers.

Mrs. Vernon Whitlock and Mrs. Zollie J. Meadows alternated at the silver tea service with Mrs. Bobby Adair, Mrs. David Watson and Miss Glenda Grower assisting with the serving courtesies.

Miss Ann Grower registered the guests and Miss Pam Grower recorded the gifts for the bride.

Approximately 40 guests called during the appointed hours of the festive affair.

Clearing Windows Of That Winter Fog, Dirt

By Heloise Cruse

Dear Folks:

Many of you have been writing to me asking what to do about windows that accumulate moisture which drips during cold weather, when the heat is turned on.

The cheapest, most satisfactory way I have found, is to let a bit of moisture accumulate on your window until it becomes fogged up . . .

Then, take three or four facial tissues and wipe the inside of the window. Wipe it until it is streaked and partially dry, and, using the same facial tissue, apply a dab of liquid (undiluted) household detergent, such as we wash our dishes with, and wipe the window again.

This might leave it funny for a second or two, but within minutes it will be clear.

If, a week or so later, the window becomes fogged up again, take plain, dry facial tissues and wipe them again.

The great thing about this is, not only can you see out (and believe me, I have tested it many times), but you wash your windows at the same time!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

As we love your hints, I am enclosing one of mine:

When my children are helping to make their favorite roll and cut - out cookies — so need to re-roll the leftover dough. We just use the cold - shaped pieces for "imagination cookies."

The children have fun guessing what each cookie is — a country, state, animal, and what have you.

Mother

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

Carry a few three - by - five-inch cards in your purse for ideas that would otherwise get away, such as shopping, places to go, things to see, friends to call, hobby information, etc.

Carry a magnet, magnifying glass, tape measure or steel rule.

Everywhere you go, you'll look like an expert, a nut, or a Heloise fan of some kind. But—you'll be an expert nut, and have a lot of fun, and be in good company. And, you'll be a better shopper.

A reader

Dear Heloise:

If you teach the younger ones and handle the glass ones to anyone relaxing the drain in the bathtub tends anyway to get out of the tub, there's less danger of drowning, should they fall or faint.

Hazel Dell

How true, how true. A wonderful safety hint.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here's what I do when I burn food in a stainless steel pan:

I use a plastic scraper to remove all I can of the burned material. Then I put a tablespoon of detergent in the pan, add boiling water, and let stand until the water is cool enough to put my hands into.

The remaining burned on food will be loose enough to scrape off easily.

I sponge the pan almost dry, sprinkle generously with cleanser, and scour it with a cloth which has most of the water wrung out.

L. C. R.

Dear Heloise:

If you have imitation pearl ring, earrings, etc., that is scratched or dull looking, just give the pearls a coat of white pearl nail polish, and they will look new and lovely.

This polish is also wonderful as a glue, when replacing imitation pearls in pieces of jewelry.

I use regular, colorless polish as glue in replacing other stones in jewelry, and it doesn't discolor the stones, as certain types of glue are apt to.

Eighth Grade Fun Club Has Bowling Party

A recent festivity for the Eighth Grade Fun Club was a bowling party. Chaperones for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Usrey, Mr. and Mrs. John Strickler, Mr. and Mrs. Lovelle Salley, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Marshall, Mrs. Ray Solomon, Mrs. Albright, Mr. and Mrs. Milligan and Mrs. Joe Coleman.

Enjoying the occasion were 116 of the club's members. Mike Pittman won the prize for the highest overall score. Girls winning prizes were, for the first and third games played, Miss Karen Temple; and for the second game, Miss Sharon Hardy. In the boys division the first game was won by Doug Breckenridge, Rayford Johnson won the second game and Blount Armstrong won the third game.

Refreshments were served by Mr. Scrug.

Mr. and Mrs. Usrey, president; Mr. and Mrs. Strickler, vie - president, and Mr. and Mrs. Salley, treasurer, were in charge of the November party.

DEAR ABBY

Pompous Display Comes From Suffering Ego

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What can I do with a husband who takes me often to a lovely restaurant, then hardly speaks to me the whole time. He is so busy trying to impress the cocktail waitress, waiters, and even strangers at nearby tables. He considers himself a gourmet and bon vivant (which he is not) and he tries so hard to appear important to those who serve us. You should hear him show off his high school French from 30 years ago? How can I let him know how foolish his actions are? To say nothing of his thoughtlessness in keeping busy people from their work, and annoying strangers who couldn't care less. I am too chagrined to sign my name. Just sign me . . .

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: Show me a man who's pompous in public and I'll show you a man who is nothing at home. Your husband is suffering from malnutrition of the ego, and should be treated at home, not in restaurants.

DEAR ABBY: I am so ashamed of my father, I could die. He has been married seven times, and divorced six! All of his ex-wives are living and I have so many half-sisters and brothers, I have lost count.

I went to a priest and confessed that I had been lying about my father, and telling people who didn't know better that my father was dead. The priest said he didn't blame me for lying, but I shouldn't lie any more about it. Now I keep having these horrible nightmares in which I see my father in a coffin with the lid nailed down, and him trying to get out. Please help me.

NIGHTMARES

DEAR NIGHTMARES: Your father's marital record is certainly nothing to brag about, but you are not responsible for your father's behavior. If someone asks about your father, tell them the truth. The chances are they will think you're kidding. These nightmares are probably caused by your guilt - feelings from lying. Forgive yourself, and stick to the truth, and you'll be all right.

DEAR ABBY: Some 13 years ago my wife and I were selected to be godparents by friends who had their first child. We are without children and quite well off.

We have faithfully inquired about the child's progress and have cheerfully played the role of "generous godparents" on all occasions. Birthdays, Christmas, Easter — you name it, we've provided a gift. Now, would you believe it, Abby, we have NEVER seen the child since his birth. And we rarely see the parents. Our godchild has never shown the slightest bit of interest in us, and every effort we have made to become closer to the parents has met with almost humiliating failure. Are we expecting too much? Or are we just a pair of old fools?

GODPARENTS

DEAR GODPARENTS: The OFFICIAL function of godparents is to rear the child in the religion of his parents should they both die while the child is a minor. All gifts should be voluntary. And anyone who feels like a "fool" for giving generously, and continues to give, is a bigger fool than he thinks he is.

DEAR ABBY: Like about 98 per cent of those who snore, I snore only when I am sleeping on my back. When we were first married, I was awakened by a very hard kick in the leg, and my wife yelling, "GET OFF YOUR BACK!" I honestly do not remember this, but my wife claims I shouted, "GET OFF MINE," and with that I kicked her so hard she flew out of bed and landed on the floor. I think I must have quit snoring because we've been married for 33 years and she hasn't complained since.

THE DOWNTOWN Monroe Lions Club's annual shrimp boil will be held Thursday between 5 and 8 p. m. at the Neville High School auditorium. The tickets are available now from any member of the club. Making final plans for the event from left to right are Bert Root, president of the club; Herman Turner, chairman of the event, and Bob Sale, ticket sales chairman.

Appearances Scheduled By Union Choir

RUSTON (Special) — The 50-voice Louisiana Tech Choral Union Choir will appear at several concerts during the pre-Christmas season, according to Alfred E. Tellinghuisen, chairman of choral activities and teacher of singing at the college.

The group is scheduled to give two presentations of the Saint-Saens "Christmas Oratorio." The first will be presented in the Jimmie Davis Tabernacle in Jackson Parish on Wednesday, Dec. 8, at 7:30 p.m., and the second in Howard Auditorium at Tech on Thursday, Dec. 16, at 9:40 a.m. The public is invited to attend both programs.

Tuesday evening, Dec. 8, the Choral Union will be featured in a program at the annual Christmas party of the Louisiana Tech Faculty Wives and Men's Faculty Club in Iva Adams Cafeteria here. This same program will be presented on Thursday, Dec. 9, at the Holiday Inn in Ruston for the annual Christmas dinner of Ruston District Methodist ministers and their wives.

Officers of the Choral Union are:

David Wylie, Ruston, president; Juanita Hebert, Houma, vice president; Nancy Walker, Minden, secretary; Martha Lou Worley, Shreveport, treasurer, and James Taylor, Homer, librarian.

Accompanists for the scheduled performances will include Juanita Hebert, Nancy Greenwood, Lake Charles, Mary Jane Joyner, Rayville, and Larry Newman, Ruston.

Student soloists for these programs will be Nancy Walker, soprano; Martha Lou Worley, mezzo-soprano; Mary Jane Joyner, contralto; James Gill Jr., Baton Rouge, tenor; David Wylie, tenor; Larry Frazier, Alexandria, baritone, and Terry Lindeman Bossier City, baritone.

Other members of the Choral Union are:

Initial Meeting Of DeMolay In Franklin Slated

Two members of the Ouachita Parish Chapter of the DeMolay, with their Masonic adviser, A. H. Edmonds, will travel to Winnsboro Sunday to take part in the initial meeting of the Franklin Parish Chapter of the DeMolay.

Local DeMolays to make the trip will be Joe Herpin Jr., and George Wood. Edmonds said he hoped others would volunteer today to go with the local delegation.

Masonic lodges in Franklin Parish will sponsor the first DeMolay chapter there. It is expected that some 35 members will join the first chapter. An initiatory team from Bunkie will be on hand to direct the program.

The organizational meeting will begin at 2 p.m., and will be followed by a potluck supper at the meeting place.

LBJ, Rusk Discuss World Developments

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — The bloodless coup in the Congo and other world developments came under review by President Johnson in a long phone talk Friday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Johnson's long-distance conference with Rusk also covered Latin-American affairs, among other things.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers said Rusk, who led the U.S. delegation to the meeting of the Organization of American States in Rio De Janeiro, Brazil, reported that session was "fruitful and useful."

Rusk is now back in Washington.

Moyers went into no detail in reporting that Johnson and Rusk talked about the Congo situation and a variety of other world developments. Indications were, however, that no final decision was reached on the U.S. attitude toward the Congo government headed by Lt. Gen. Joseph Mobutu. Mobutu seized the presidency from Joseph Kasavubu and announced he would remain in power for five years.

Through Moyers, Johnson announced that British Prime Minister Harold Wilson will come to the LBJ Ranch for their Dec. 17 conference. The site of the meeting—Washington or the ranch—had been left open until now.

Moyers provided some additional details on Johnson's forthcoming meeting with West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard. Erhard will arrive at the ranch Dec. 18, a day earlier than previously announced, but their talks will not begin until Sunday, Dec. 19, after the President and the chancellor attend church services. Their talks will continue through Monday.

Moyers shed no light on published reports that both President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan and Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India will be coming to see Johnson in the near future.

Moyers said no arrangements have been made so far for meetings with either of the Asian leaders.

Johnson announced he has named Eugene R. Black, his adviser on economic and social development, to head the U.S. delegation to the founding conference of the billion-dollar Asian Development Bank in Manila Dec. 2-4.

In a statement accompanying the announcement, Johnson described the bank as "one of the most hopeful events of our time." He called it "a cooperative effort for peaceful development and human betterment in Asia."

Two Remain Hospitalized After Wreck

RUSTON (Special) — Two persons remained hospitalized here Friday night after a single car accident two miles east of here on Interstate - 20 at 11:05 a.m. Friday.

Seven persons were in the station wagon, according to Lincoln Parish Sheriff's Office, when it passed a truck traveling west on I-20. The auto driver lost control, plunging the car into the median area of the highway, officers said. The truck was not involved in the accident.

Listed in good condition at Lincoln General Hospital here Friday were Mrs. J. M. Hackworth, 77, of Monroe, and Mrs. Betty D. Ellington, 56, of Mangham. The five others were treated and released after the accident, hospital personnel said.

Others in the car at the time if the mishap were Mrs. Ruth Salsberry of Monroe, Mrs. F. E. Woolsey, 76, of Shreveport, and Mrs. Ellington's three children, Perry, eight, Roger, five, and Gene, six.

Residents Hope Southside Odor Problem Solved

Residents of Monroe's southside section expressed hopes again Friday that the chlorination of sewage systems here will solve the area's odor problem.

A citizens' spokesman said, however, the odor problem had not improved since a chlorinator was put in operation at the Texas Avenue and 14th Street Station about a month ago.

Workmen are at work installing a second chlorinator which should be in operation by Tuesday. Chlorine is being added to sewage in the battle against formation of foul-smelling gases, city officials have announced.

Southside resident Raymond Sweet, who has been a leader in compiling protest petitions, said Friday, "The situation last Friday and Saturday, and again Monday, was disturbing. We're hoping that the second chlorinator at the Standifer and South Grand station will help.

"I'm glad to say that the city is cooperating very well, and we certainly appreciate that," he said.

The Ouachita Parish Police Jury supported complaints delivered to the jury and the Monroe City Council which spoke of the odor and "property damage and devaluation."

Finance Commissioner H. W. McSherry remained confident that completion of the second chlorinator will solve the problem. He said Friday that outside experts have indicated it will attack the formation of gases which form as sewage backs up, due to the increased line load since the city ceased dumping into the river.

The escape of the gases apparently is the cause of the noxious odors, officials said.

Senator Thinks Soldiers Should Have Priority

DECATUR, Ga. (UPI) — Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said Friday that Congress should make it a first duty to see that troops in Viet Nam have priority "over every other demand in our nation."

Russell, who addressed a group celebrating $100 million in new DeKalb rounty construction contracts in less than a year, said the United States must win an "all out victory" in Viet Nam.

Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said in an interview that the war "is bound to get worse before its gets better" and "is going to cost more and take longer than we thought."

The Senator said that whereever necessary, every domestic or foreign program should be cut back "so that we can amass overwhelming forces, weapons and materiel to win the war."

"The flower of American manhood is fighting a foe that observes no rules of warfare or humanity in the dirtiest conflict the world has ever seen," he declared. "I greatly fear the number of our men involved, as well as casualties, may be doubled or tripled before we can bring this tragic affair to a successful conclusion."

First duty of Congress should be to see that the troops in Viet Nam "have first priority over every other demand in our nation to bring victory," Russell said.

What the administration has to guard against, the Senator said is that "unprecedented efforts to develop so many costly, far-flung domestic programs at the expense of the war will release inflationary forces dangerous to the economy of the nation."

France Sends First Satellite Into Orbit

PARIS (AP) — France sent its first satellite into orbit Friday from a launching station deep in the Algerian Sahara Desert.

The successful space shot gave France membership in a club reserved until now for the superpowers, the United States and the Soviet Union. President Charles de Gaulle promptly hailed it as "an important accomplishment of which the entire country should be happy and proud."

Launched was a 92.5-pound satellite which is to transmit radio signals for two weeks. The Defense Ministry said the principal, purpose of the shot was not to gather scientific data, but to test its three-stage Diamond rocket, four years in development.

France, which also boasts a small plane-carried atomic strike force, plans to produce its first generation of nuclear-tipped ballistic missiles in the next decade.

The satellite, called the A1, was fired from its pad at Hammaguir, Algeria, in midafternoon. It sped eastward toward Lebanon atop the 62-foot rocket.

After a minute and 35 seconds the liquid-fueled first stage cut out and separated from the vehicle. The solid-fueled second stage fired for 44 seconds and dropped off. Then the third stage of the rocket, also solid fuel, took over for 45 seconds.

The Aq was traveling at 26,000 feet a second when it began its orbit.

An announcement from the launching station at Hammaguir said "everything is functioning normally."

The government, which has made all preparations for the shot in tight secrecy, waited until the satellite had completed an orbit successfully before it made its announcement. The A1 takes an hour and 48 minutes to circle the globe.

Its flight path takes it 1,100 miles from earth at its farthest point and brings it to within 330 miles of earth at its nearest point.

President de Gaulle, in the midst of a campaign for re-election, told his countrymen, "the placing in orbit of the first French satellite, launched by a French rocket, is an important accomplishment of which the entire nation should be happy and proud."

In a letter to Defense Minister Pierre Messmer, De Gaulle also said the satellite "attests to the high value of French science and technique."

The satellite launching was the most dramatic example of French technological development since the French exploded their firat A-bomb in the Sahara Feb. 13, 1960.

It underscores De Gaulle's policy of setting France apart from the superpowers, responsible for its own defense.

It also coincides with De Gaulle's idea of a rebirth of French "grandeur," which has come under attack by some political opponents because of its high price tag.

More French attempts are in the offing. The success of the 26-ton-thrust Diamond rocket makes possible the launching of the second generation of French satellites, the D1, with more sophisticated electronic equipment.

At the same time, another French satellite, the FR1, is being made ready at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., for launching by an American Scout rocket. The FR1 has been described as "extremely elaborate."

Pope Reportedly Asks Stronger Stand On Birth

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI was reported by reliable sources Friday night to have asked that the Vatican Ecumenical Council strengthen its stand against birth control.

Council sources said the Pope had asked that the council's text dealing with questions of marriage and family planning take into account the birth control teachings of Popes Pius XI and XII to reaffirm traditional bans against artifical contraception.

The council takes up birth control in its draft text approved section by section last week and now undergoing revision for a final vote due Dec. 4.

The text speaks of "responsible parenthood" and "conjugal love" and declares that Roman Catholic couples have the right to determine the size of their families. It adds that they must be guided by their consciences in this and must not use means prohibited by the Church.

Burial will be in the Holmesville Cemetery by Kilpatrick Funeral Home of West Monroe.

Also surviving are four other sons, Jake and Marvin Long, both of Farmerville, Jessie Long of Downsville and Lucian Long of Belcher; three daughters, Mrs. Lillie Filman of Farmerville and Mrs. Walton Bridges and Mrs. F. B. Thompson, both of Texas City, Tex.; four brothers, Howell, Rufus, Harvey and Thomas Albritton, all of Downsville; two sisters, Mrs. Charlie Simpson of Downsville and Mrs. Thelma Sewell of Ozark, Ark.; 20 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be grandsons.

Doctor Charged With Bombings Is Commited

GRAY, Ga. (UPI) — A Daytona Beach, Fla. doctor charged with burning Negro churches in Jones and Twiggs counties was committed Friday to Milledgeville State Hospital after a sanity commission found him mentally depressed.

Dr. Beverly White, a former resident of Jones county, had been charged with arson in connection with fires which destroyed an abandoned Negro church in Jones County and the Laurel Grove Church in Twiggs County earlier this month.

The commission, composed of two doctors and an attorney, was called by Jones County Ordinary Harris Morton.

White also was suspected of setting fire to another Negro church and a house in Jones County.

Twiggs County Sheriff Earl Hamrick said that the arson case in his county would still be presented to the grand jury for action. He said the disposition of the case from that point would depend on the grand jury's action.

Presbyterians Schedule Meet

BATON ROUGE (Special) — "God's People—The Church in the World" is the theme for the state-wide Presbyterian Youth Convocation to be held at the First Presbyterian Church here Dec. 28-30, 1965 according to the chairman of the convocation, the Rev. William D. O'Neal of Baton Rouge.

Two of the out-of-state speakers for the convocation will be Dr. B. Frank Hall of Wilmington, N. C. and Dr. David Alexander, new president of the Presbyterian College, Southwestern at Memphis, Tenn.

Other out-of-state speakers for the convocation will be Miss B. Lewis of Richmond, Va., and the Rev. Roland Perdue of Athens, Ga. One of the highlights of the three day meeting will be a panel of the speakers with the Rev. John Bradshaw of Denham Springs as moderator.

Suits Filed

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Oakdale Negroes filed suit in federal district court here Friday against an Oakdale cafe for refusing to serve them food in a section of the cafe reserved for whites.

Plaintiffs were John H. Milton Sr., John H. Milton Jr., Otis Antoine and Gerald Cager.

The suit was filed against W. D. Bradford, proprietor of the Crystal Cafe.

The Negroes claimed "the action of the defendant is a violation of the 1964 Civil Rights Act and that such action will result in irreparable injury, loss and damage" to them.

Scrambled Market Edges Some Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—A scrambled stock market edged a little higher Friday with rails moving to another peak.

Trading in the postholiday session was just moderately active by this year's standards. Volume was off to 6.97 million shares from 7.89 million Wednesday.

Many in the investment community had taken off for an extended Thanksgiving Day weekend. This heightened the customary Friday caution.

The business news background was brightened considerably by news that machine tool orders are running at the highest order rate since June 1964. As this bodes well for expansion plans of industry, it was a bullish stock market item.

Color television stocks, other electronics, an assortment of aerospace defense issues, airlines and specially-situated stocks were the favorites.

American Telephone, the most widely held stock of all, was "ex" its increased dividend and was under selling pressure, losing ⅝ at 62¼ as the second most active stock. The volume leader, for the second straight day, was Martin Marietta, which advanced ⅝ to 24 on 209,000 shares reflecting sustained interest in the aerospace defense sector.

Among other blue chips, Du Pont lost ⅞, Jersey Standard ¾, Eastman Kodak (ex dividend) ⅝, Union Carbide ⅝ and International Harvester 1.

The Dow Jones industrial average of 30 key stocks showed a slight loss of .78 at 948.16.

A broader picture was shown by Standard & Poor's 500-stock index which advanced .09 at 92.03.

This conformed with the fact that gainers outnumbered losers by 699 to 465 among the 1,390 issues traded. New highs for the year totaled 112 and new lows 26.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .4 to 353.0 with industrials off .1, rails up 1.0 to a new high for the year and utilities unchanged.

The Dow Jones rail component advanced 1.44 to 242.33, bettering the high mark it made Wednesday.

Ten of the 15 most active stocks rose and 5 fell.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 3.07 million shares compared with 2.94 million Wednesday.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

Zambia's Rich Copper Belt Is Threatened

KITWE, Zambia (AP) — In an apparent effort to cripple Zambia's rich copper production, saboteurs early Friday blew up a tower on the power line to the copper belt.

A charge planted under another of the pylons connecting the Kariba Dam hydroelectricity line to Kitwe, the copper belt's principal town, failed to explode.

The mines hooked up with grids in the neighboring Congo and continued operating on a limited scale.

When police investigated the blast 27 miles south of Kitwe, the country's two mining companies, the Anglo-American Corp. and the Roan Selection Trust, made an all-out effort to keep production going.

One mine was saved from flooding by the hookup.

A mines spokesman said power was expected to be restored early today.

The explosion had hit the Zambian government hard: It is laboring under severe pressure resulting from Rhodesia's unilateral declaration of independence and a strike by 200 white railwaymen at the border town of Livingstone, which has stopped traffic on the rail lifeline on which land-locked Zambia depends for export routes to the coast.

66 TREE studded acres, with 4 acre stocked lake. 8 miles from city limits West Monroe. Artesian Water. Beautiful building site. Ideal fishing camp. It's hilly and dry, you can drive your car over the grassy hills and down the picturesque glades. These trees are just gorgeous, and at this time a real of color! It has a huge crop of 2 and 3 ft. pine trees now growing in the clear underbrush. Owner will sell all or part. Small down payment. Balance to be leased per year you prefer. It's reasonable and desirable. Call us for appointment to see. (A-6-786-WM)

...Of Famous Paper...

...Proves To Be Daring Case

NEW YORK (AP) — The theft of famous masterworks and other priceless objects of art from the Vatican's Apostolic Library ranks up as the most stupendous of its kind since the disappearance of the Mona Lisa more than half a century ago.

Of past cases of great art thefts provide a criterion, the perpetrators are unlikely to profit. Except perhaps for some absolutely wealthy eccentric in art collecting, content to contemplate the works in utter privacy, a possible buyer of such loot is difficult to imagine.

The Leonardo da Vinci masterpiece of the girl with the enigmatic smile vanished from the Louvre in Paris in August 1911. The Mona Lisa was lost to the world until December 1913, when police recovered it in Florence, Italy.

Vincenzo Peruggia, an Italian accused of spiriting the canvas away, said he never intended to enrich himself—as a patriot he simply wanted to recover for his country an Italian masterpiece held by a foreign land.

In none of the major art thefts of more recent years did the thieves make a penny for their efforts. A few examples:

Aug. 21, 1961—A $282,000 Goya portrait of the Duke of Wellington was stolen from Britain's National Museum. Four years later it was returned by an unemployed truck driver who had hoped in vain to collect a ransom. He said he wanted to spend the money buying television licenses for needy British old folk.

July 10, 1962—Thieves made off with 35 paintings by Toulouse-Lautrec, Renoir, Picasso and Cezanne, worth more than $1 million from a private gallery in London. Police acting on an informer's tip recovered them all 17 days later.

Jan. 17, 1963—Pro-Communist terrorists in Caracas, Venezuela, grabbed $600,000 worth of Picasso, Van Gogha, Gauguins, Braques and Cezannes from an exhibit on loan from France. Police recovered the works two days later.

Feb. 17, 1964—The $1 million Rubens masterprice "Negroes' Heads" was stolen from Belgium's Museum of Ancient Art in Brussels. It was recovered within 48 hours.

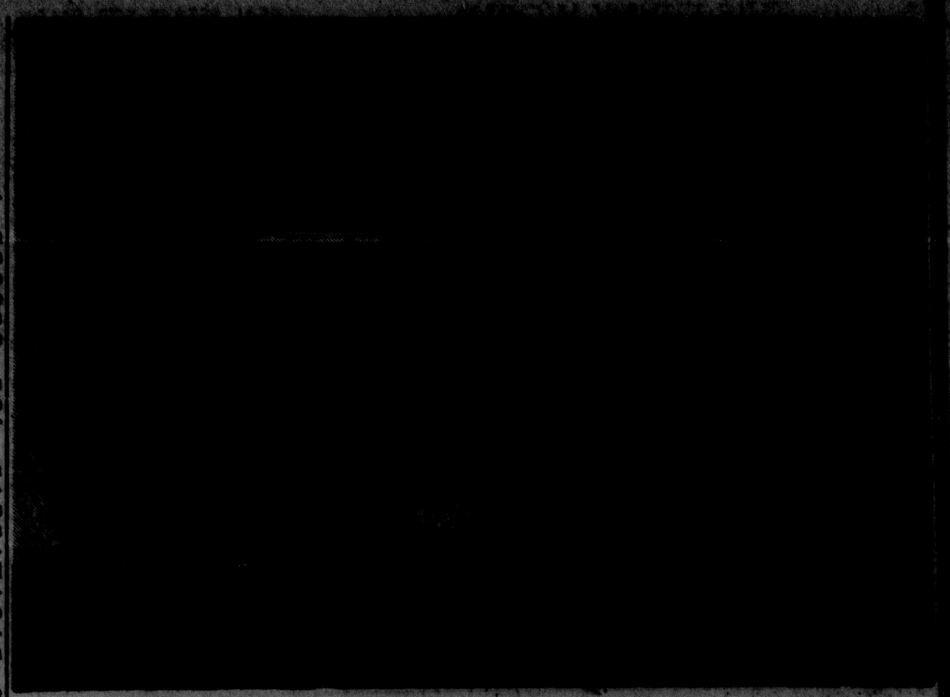
March 20, 1965—Eight oils worth $1 million, including a Renoir and two Van Goghs, were stolen from the Hillsborough, Calif., mansion of the late W. W. Crocker. They were recovered on April 24.

Discussions On Service Slated

Two Women's Army Corps representatives will be in Monroe on Pearl Harbor Day, Dec. 7, to hold discussion meetings on the Northeast Louisiana State College campus.

Capt. Nancy L. Seibert of New Orleans and Sgt. Katherine Bilski of Shreveport will talk with senior girls about the Officer Candidate School's Direct Commission Program and the WAC's four-week summer program for college juniors.

The team members will be in the Student Union Building from 1 to 4 p.m., for interviews with interested coeds. Appointments may be arranged through the local Army Recruiting Station on the third floor of the Monroe Post Office Building, or by telephoning 322-8470.



ACCOMPLISHMENTS in the 4-H home ground beautification program netted a gold wrist watch for former Calhoun 4-H Club member Gary Goodling, center, who won first place in the state contest. Presenting the watch award is Mrs. Donna M. Moore, left, associate home demonstration agent of Ouachita Parish. Gary's mother, Mrs. A. C. Goodling looks on. Gary was named one of the top two contestants in the state contest at the 4-H Short Course on Louisiana State University's campus last summer. The award highlighted seven years of 4-H work for him. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Goodling and is presently a freshman at LSU.

News Demonstrates All Kinds In World

NEW YORK (AP) — The news Friday demonstrated anew that it takes all kinds of people to make a world. Also all kinds of bacteria and all kinds of dogs.

In princeton, N. J., shapely coed Janet M. Bond, 21, started a three-year term as a coroner for Mercer County. Her major responsibility will be the burial of any folks who get drowned in shipwrecks. Mercer County, on the Delaware River, is many miles from the sea. Janet won the job as a write-in candidate in an election three weeks ago.

In Goldfield, Nev., Martin Duffy, 67, explained why he has toiled single-handed for 26 years to keep his Florence gold mine in tip-top condition: The price of gold, now $35 an ounce, might go up.

If it ever does, Duffy says the Florence — which hasn't produced an ounce of ore since 1939 — can once again make money.

In Mariposa, Calif., county welfare workers were faced with a problem named Pedro Anato, 82. Pedro withdrew from the world in 1945 and has never since left his shack in the Sierra Nevada foothills.

A new dam soon will flood the area. The welfare workers want Pedro to come and live in Mariposa, but he says no, asking: "Whjt I jo? Stand argund on street corner with hands in pocket?"

In Union City, N.J., William Farley, 49, found himself behind bars for weighing in with a beef against his landlord. Farley tape-recorded his beef and blared it out his apartment window with a hi-fi speaker. The constabulary nailed him on a disorderly conduct charge.

So much for people; now the bacteria:

It has long been known that kissing can cost you teeth in some circumstances, as for instance when the woman has a short-tempered husband who outweighs you. Now comes even more dire tidings from Dr. Dorman D. Zinner, a University of Miami dental researcher.

Dr. Zinner said the loss of teeth by decay is caused entirely by four types of bacteria, which are responsible for caries, or cavities, in the enamel. The bacteria are contagious. One of the easiest ways to acquire them is by kissing somebody already infected. In other words, kissing carries caries.

And finally, the dog:

In Savannah, Ga., the police vice squad learned that you can lead a dog to liquor, but he won't necessarily do the same for you — not, at least, if he happens to be a pedigreed Doberman pinscher named Schonheidt.

They tried to train Schonheidt to smell out moonshine stills. Acknowledging the failure of this noble experiment, the dog's handler explained:

"He was bred for show. He just wasn't aggressive enough to go after liquor."

Woman Will Be New Police Commissioner

HACKENSACK, N.J. (AP) — The next commissioner of the 140-man Bergen County Police Department will be a shapely 5-foot-5, blue-eyed blonde.

"I get a lot of ribbing but being a police commissioner is not strictly a man's job," says Doris Mahalick, 41, mother of two teen-age daughters.

"I'll be working in areas such as juvenile problems and traffic safety, where a woman has just as much insight as a man," she explained.

Mrs. Mahalick, who assumes her new duties Jan. 1 is not a novice when it comes to police administration. She also was the first woman police commissioner in her hometown of Wallington.

Whe she was appointed to that post in 1962, some local residents were apprehensive.

"They all expected me to start hanging drapes in police headquarters," she recalled.

But, instead of picking pink upholstery for prowl cars, the madam commissioner, during her one year in office, secured funds to purchase badly needed electronic equipment and helped raise police salaries by $1,200.

Mrs. Mahalik comes to the post by virtue of her victory in the November election as freeholder. Her Democratic colleagues then named her chairman of the county's Public Safety Committee, which makes her the police commissioner.

Throughout the freeholder campaign, Mrs. Mahalik was introduced as "the most beautiful candidate anywhere" — much to her despair.

"If I had been in a beauty contest, I'd have loved it," she said. "but while it was flattering, I thought it detracted from my candidacy."

West Monroe Court Docket Rated Heavy

Judge John McCormick presided over a heavy docket in West Monroe City Court's latest session.

Eddie B. Wilson of Rt. 3, Box 157, Monroe, was fined $300 and costs for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages, plus $25 and costs for reckless driving.

Fined $300 and costs for DWI was Ronnie Albritton of 607 S. 5th St., West Monroe.

Garland Kennedy of Rt. 1, Box 105, West Monroe, was fined $300 and costs for hit and run driving, and $25 and costs for reckless driving.

A charge of DWI against Paul D. Wiltz of Lafayette was withdrawn, as were counts of simple and aggravated assault against Tom Hobgood of Rt. 2, West Monroe.

Willie Chisley of 318 S. 8th St., West Monroe, was fined $50 and costs for disturbing the peace. A charge of aggravated battery against Chisley was nolle prossed.

Fined $30 and $25, respectively, in separate cases for simple battery were David Thompson of 710 S. 8th St., West Monroe; and Jack Mulhearn of 1009 S. 6th St., Monroe.

Reckless driving cases and dispositions were Warren O. Manning of Rt. 5, Box 50, West Monroe, $20 and costs; William E. Dunn of 2515 Myrtle St., Monroe, $25 and costs; J. P. Colvin of 2411 N. 7th St., West Monroe; J. C. Oser of 205 Richland, West Monroe, $25 and costs; Rodger H. Mann of Shreveport, $20 and costs; and Parks R. Futch of El Dorado, Ark., charge withdrawn.

Speeding cases and dispositions were Catherine Oliver of Farmerville, George E. Johnson of Calhoun, James E. Worthy of Rt. 1, Box 205, West Monroe, Charles D. Clark of 124 Spiane Dr. West Monroe, Charles Shackleford of 223 Smith St., West Monroe, and Willie Williams of Los Angeles, Calif., all $10 and costs.

The court session was moved up from its usual Friday date and held Wednesday, Nov. 24 due to the Thanksgiving holiday.

Turkish Navy

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — The Turkish navy is engaged in weekend exercises until Sunday off the port of Iskenderun, 100 miles northwest of Cyprus, press reports stated. They said 18 naval units are taking part.

Enterprise May Be Sent Into Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The U.S. Navy's mighty aircraft carrier Enterprise may soon become the first nuclear-powered war vessel to go into battle action.

The 85,000-ton carrier joined the U.S. 7th Fleet which daily launches air attacks against the Communist Viet Cong and North Viet Nam.

Another nuclear-powered warship also joined the 7th Fleet lineup — the guided missile frigate Bainbridge. Both ships were last reported in Philippines waters, but a 24-hour cruise would take them within striking distance of the Viet Nam coast.

The Enterprise carries 85 planes, including Phantom jet fighters, Skyhawk light attack bombers, Vigilante attack reconnaissance types, Skywarrior attackers, Tracker antisubmarinecraft and Seasprite helicopters.

She has a complement of 4,600 men.

The Enterprise is too big to pass through the Panama Canal. When transferred recently from the Atlantic to the Pacific Fleet, she had to circle South America.

Like other nuclear-powered naval vessels, the Enterprise can operate for long periods without refueling.

In the summer of 1964, the Enterprise, the frigate Bainbridge and the nuclear-powered guided missile cruiser Long Beach traveled more than 30,000 miles on a world-circling cruise lasting more than two months. They required neither refueling nor stores of any kind.

The Enterprise has demonstrated a speed of 40 knots. Her original nuclear fuel cores carried her 200,000 sea miles. Such speed and endurance are specially valuable in the vast reaches of the Pacific.

Armored Car Guard Shoots Three Robbers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An armored car guard killed the driver of a hold-up gang's getaway car and shot down two accomplices in a gun battle Friday on a Los Angeles street.

A fourth man was arrested nearby when he sought to flee on foot, police said.

A bystander was struck in the face by shotgun pellets during the exchange of gunfire on West Pico Boulevard.

Detectives said more than $10,000 in cash taken from one of the armored trucks's two guards was recovered from the riddled getaway car.

Police said guard Jerome Jacobson saw the gang rob his partner near a Pico Boulevard supermarket where the truck had stopped for a pickup.

As the bandit car reared away Jacobson killed the driver with a pistol bullet through the back of the head. The car slowed to a halt and the occupants jumped out shooting.

One of the bandits' shotgun blasts shattered the windshield of a parked car and wounded Ben Singer, 70, who was seated in the vehicle. Jacobson's fire, with a pistol and a shotgun, cut down two of the robbers and the fourth ran.

Singer was reported in satisfactory condition at a Los Angeles hospital. Police said he was hit by birdshot.

The bandits were identified by police as John Doe, 25, slain by Jacobson's shot; Arthur Bacon, 29, hit in the left leg; James Hawkins, 25, hit above the left eye, in the nose and right hand and Ernest Walters, 27, who was captured and was uninjured.

AS A NEW WEEK BEGINS FOR POTEET AND JINGLE AT THE BUSINESS COLLEGE

HASN'T YOU HEARD? TIPPIE EBERSHOTT HAD ONE OF THE NEW PORTABLE ACCOUNTING GADGETS IN HER LOCKER...

...AND WHEN SHE CAME BACK FOR HER EARLY CLASS...

IT WAS GONE!

ISN'T THAT AN EXPENSIVE INSTRUMENT TO LEAVE IN A LOCKER OVER A WEEK END?

SHE WENT STRAIGHT TO THE BUS TO TRAVEL TO MAUMEE U. AFTER HER LAST CLASS ON FRIDAY...

AND DIDN'T WANT TO LUG THE LITTLE COMPUTER...

SO SHE LEFT IT HERE... TOO BAD!

TOUGH ON TIPPIE! THOSE PORTABLE MACHINES COST PLENTY!

WOW—JINGLE, WE SHOULDN'T HAVE GABBED SO LONG OVER COFFEE! SEE YOU AT LUNCH!

AND AS JINGLE HASTILY OPENS HER LOCKER—AN OBJECT FALLS FROM THE LOWER PART ONTO THE CORRIDOR FLOOR...

WHAT'S THIS?

IT'S TIPPIE'S PORTABLE COMPUTER

AND IN MRS. HONDO'S LOCKER!

TIME FOR NINE-O'CLOCK CLASSES—IS THERE SOMETHING WRONG HERE?

AND THE LEGAL-SHEAGLE JUST HAPPENS TO DROP BY AT THIS VERY MOMENT!

JELLYST NE

LAKE

DEAR HELOISE:

When I find a trifle for one of my friends, I cut a small branch from a bush or tree and dress it up.

I then put this branch in the dish or planter and arrange the trifle.

This makes an excellent trellis which is almost invisible and blends in with the plant.

Heloise

• • •

To make the trellis even more attractive, why not spray it with green, gold or silver paint before putting it in the planter?

These branches are a real tricky idea. And what's wrong with using old misshapen driftwood?

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

I turn suggestions from your column into unique gifts when I want something that's really different.

First, I clip the hint and paste it inside a humorous greeting card. Then I gift-wrap whatever the hint requires . . . such as nylon net, a bag of marbles for those flapping nylon hose, a recipe for finger paint with all the makings, etc.

Once you get started, you will be surprised how many ways you can find to come up with surprise gifts that will delight your friends.

Just be sure you send the clipping along with the gift!

Eula McCoy

DEAR HELOISE:

To keep the inside of my handbag clean, I place all my cosmetics in a small, clear plastic bag. Other small articles, which might soil the lining of a purse, are in a separate bag. One can see through these bags.

Makes changing purses a cinch, too.

Mabel L.

DEAR HELOISE:

After finding it difficult to buy knitted cuffs to repair jacket sleeves, I came to the conclusion that the cuffs from men's cotton work gloves would do the trick.

Just remove the cuffs from the gloves and sew them on the jacket. They work just fine and are less than fifty cents a pair; the ribbing is extra heavy and comes in dark colors!

Anetta Peak

When you're arranging cut flowers and want to straighten stems, crooked or weak stems, just dip each stem into a detergent spray. Green cellophane makes it pretty and blend with the arrangement.

For stronger support, try the flower children's grocery.

No more flopping flower heads!

Carol Carlson

DEAR HELOISE:

I have found when the "scratch strip" brushes or wears through on your kitchen match box that you can glue an emery board or a strip of sandpaper on the box, and it will again be easy to light the matches.

M. E. K.

DEAR HELOISE:

After cooking with aluminum foil . . . be SURE to wet

If you have a hint, problem or suggestion, you'd like to share . . . write to Heloise in care of this newspaper. 11-28

DEAR HELOISE:

Attached to the inside of the cupboard door under my kitchen sink, I have a pegboard, cut to size, with the appropriate hooks for a small hammer, screwdriver, scissors, roll tape, twine, pliers and a small cup for thumbtacks and small screws.

I find this board most valuable because I always know where the things are and they take up no drawer space.

There is also room for other items I may find necessary to keep handy in the kitchen.

Louise Gehr

DEAR HELOISE:

I never have to scour the tile around my bathtub.

My secret? I installed an extra towel bar over my tub and keep an old towel on it.

Since my husband is the shower-taker in our family, it took a little doing to get him in the habit of drying the walls as well as himself, after every shower.

If you have trouble convincing the head of the house, ask him to scour the tile one time . . .

Ex-Scourer

DEAR HELOISE:

My children were given so many stuffed animals when they were babies that replacing them in toy and dresser each day is time consuming.

I finally put a hammock around the edge of the soft toy and hung them on hooks on the wall.

They were more decorative in the nursery than pictures and were easy to take down when I didn't want a teddy bear, etc. to play with.

Judy Ann

DEAR HELOISE:

I know that many people use an old toothbrush for cleaning around the water faucets and corners of the tub—and I do, too. But do you know where I keep the toothbrush in between cleaning jobs? Attached to the cleanser can by a rubber band!

This way it is always handy when I need it.

Migs Attack Two Unarmed U.S. Reconnaissance Jets

SAIGON, (UPI) — Six Communist Mig aircraft attacked two unarmed U. S. Air Force reconnaissance planes over North Viet Nam, American military headquarters disclosed today. But the American "Voodoo" jets took evasive action and streaked to safety.

A headquarters spokesman said the Mig fired on the U.S. planes with 20-millimeter cannon Friday over Yen Bai, 75 miles northwest of Hanoi. He said the Migs were believed to be supersonic Mig-17's.

SECOND ATTACK

It was the second reported attack by Migs on unarmed American reconnaissance planes. The first came weeks ago and in neither attack were the American planes damaged.

The spokesman would not go into detail of how the U.S. planes evaded the Migs, and no other details of the attack were immediately available.

Friday the first nuclear-powered American warships committed to the Viet Nam war—the carrier Enterprise and the guided-missile frigate Bainbridge—moved into combat stations off the coast of South Viet Nam.

While the Navy added the extra muscle to the growing U.S. military might in the war against the Communists, B52 bombers from Guam pounded enemy targets 75 miles northeast of Saigon.

The huge eight-engined bombers of the Strategic Air Command struck in support of a joint force of American, Vietnamese and Australian troops trying to prevent a vast rice harvest in Binh Tuy province from falling into Viet Cong hands.

Ground fighting slackened and field forces in Viet Nam reported their quietest day of the month with no casualties from enemy action for a 24-hour period.

(Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said on his arrival in Paris for a NATO meeting that the Communist monsoon offensive "has been blunted and, I think, defeated." McNamara is going on to Viet Nam from the NATO meeting.)

The "several thousand" allied troops thrown into the campaign to protect the rice harvest were in the fifth day of the probe through the Communist-dominated area, but there have been no reports of fighting. In the past, villagers have been forced to turn over rice to the Viet Cong, who live off the land.

U.S. nuclear submarines have been in the western Pacific and have visited Japan. But the Enterprise and the Bainbridge were the first nuclear powered warships to join the Viet Nam effort. They joined other 7th Fleet ships already on station off Viet Nam.

U.S. naval officials said their arrival was the first step in transferring all four of the Navy's nuclear-powered major ships to the Pacific Fleet.

They said the guided-missile cruiser Long Beach and the guided-missile frigate Truxton were scheduled to join the Pacific Fleet next year.

Cong Flags May Fly During Walk

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Banners of the Communists Viet Cong may fly alongside the American Flag during today's "peace march" on Washington, in defiance of its sponsors' wishes.

Walter Teague of New York said Friday that members of his U. S. Committee to Aid the National Liberation Front of South Viet Nam also would carry signs-rejected by march organizers-demanding the immediate withdrawal of U.S. forces from Viet Nam.

The National Liberation Front is the Communist name for the Viet Cong, which is conducting guerrilla warfare against the Saigon government.

30,000 EXPECTED

The National Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy (Sane) has ruled out any but its own authorized placards and banners in the demonstrations planned today in front of the White House and on the grounds of the Washington Monument.

About 20,000 to 30,000 persons were expected to take part.

But Teague said his group's displays would be carried "whether Sane likes it or not."

Asked what would happen if marchers showed up carrying Viet Cong flags, march coordinator Sanford Gottlieb said "Our monitors will make a strenuous non-violent effort to persuade them to put them aside."

If the flag-carriers persist, he said, "I wouldn't be surprised if they were surrounded by American flags." He would not say whether specific plans to block off Viet Cong flags had been made.

Meanwhile, handbills were circulated advertising a counter rally organized by "The Ad Hoc Committee of Patriots to Stand Up For Our Boys In Viet Nam." to be held today on the mall between the Capitol and the Washington Monument.

The address given for the committee was the same as that of the American Nazi Party in suburban Arlington, Va. Rally speakers were listed as George Lincoln Rockwell, the Nazi "fuhrer"; Herb (The Skull) Booker of Hell's Angels, the motorcyclist fraternity, and Michael Lee Lutman of the Ku Klux Klan.

Teague's committee is one of the more militant of the 100 antiwar groups attending a four-day convention held here by the National Coordinating Committee to End the War In Viet Nam. The meeting is not officially connected with today's march, although delegates were expected to take part.

The Teague group has been selling Viet Cong flags for $10 and $8 apiece at convention headquarters, situated at a church Thursday and at a downtown hotel Friday.

The flags, priced according to quality, feature a large yellow star over a panel of blue and red. Teague reported fewer than 20 had been sold so far.

His committee also is distributing pamphlets urging contributions and support for the Viet Cong as the only effective way to oppose the war. Anyone against the National Liberation Front, they said, is "directly supporting the goals of the Johnson administration and its Saigon puppets."

Sane says its slogans would call for a halt in U.S. air strikes and suspension of the American military buildup as a first step toward a ceasefire and negotiations, but not for an immediate withdrawal of U.S. troops.

Towers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Towers, 308 Browning St., West Monroe, Air Force's Aerospace Team Program, now at Lackland AFB, San Antonio, Tex.

Cecil A. Brumley and Paul M. Butler enlisted together in the Air Force's Aerospace Team Program and are at Lackland AFB. Brumley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil C. Brumley, Rt. 1. West Monroe, and Butler is the son of Mrs. Ella Ruth Butler, 314 Medorah Dr., West Monroe.

Deer Hunting

Deer hunting is the main interest of Airman 3-C Edmund D. Wallace of West Monroe, son of Mrs. Ola Loveless, who is presently home on leave from the Air Force. Wallace has just completed a weather observer course at Chanute AFB, Ill., and will report to Craig ABF next to put his training to work.

State Will Be Inspected For Nuclear Site

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A four-man atomic energy commission team will arrive here Monday to inspect Louisiana sites proposed for a $380 million proton accelerator, it was announced Friday.

The team is one of eight looking at 85 sites in the nation proposed for the huge accelerator, sometimes called a giant atom smasher.

Three sites will be visited Tuesday north of Lake Pontchartrain at Covington, Mandeville and Abita Springs. Louisiana's first choice site is a hilltop area north of Covington.

While in Louisiana the site team will visit the Tulane Regional Primate Center for a briefing on Tulane, the NASA Slidell Telecomputer Center, and Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge.

The group will visit the state department of highways for a report on proposed and projected highway construction in the area of the proposed accelerator site.

Transportation is reported to be an area in which Louisiana may have difficulty in competing with other areas.

Mock Flight Of Gemini 7 Slated Today

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) —Engineers fueled the Gemini 7 spacecraft Friday for a crucial mock flight test today that must be passed to clear the way for the Dec. 4 opening of next month's twin launchings.

The rehearsal will put the powerful Titan 2 rocket and its two-seater payload through a series of three simulated launches designed to uncover any "bugs" in the system.

SIT IN CAPSULE

Gemini 7 Astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell, set to remain in orbit 14 days in the spacecraft, will sit in the capsule during part of the exercise to monitor instruments. Backup Astronauts Edward White and Michael Collins also will participate in the drill.

The test, scheduled to start at 6 a.m. CST, will last about 12 hours. The rocket and its bell-shaped payload will undergo three abbreviated countdowns and flights with all events being simulated electronically.

If the exercise is successful, project officials will signal the start of final launch preparations for Gemini 7. But if any serious problems are found, the shot probably would be delayed.

The Gemini 6 spacecraft and its booster, now in "bonded storage" at the Cape awaiting the Gemini 7 blastoff, will be put through an identical test four days before the scheduled Dec. 13 launch with Astronauts Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford aboard.

Gemini 6 already has passed one simulated flight, for its original Oct. 25 launch date, but the exercise will be re-run to make certain there have been no changes in the ship's condition since its October launch was cancelled because of the failure of its Agenda rendezvous rocket.

Technicians started preparing the Gemini 7 spacecraft Wednesday for today's test and checked its oxygen lines Thursday. Friday they were completing loading about 400 pounds of maneuvering rocket propellant into the spacecraft.

"Everything is going along well," said a space agency spokesman. "There are no problems."

Would-Be Bank Robbers Are Foiled In Try

IDALOU, Tex. (UPI) — Police Friday night captured three would-be bank robbers who held three women hostages for hours in an Idalou bank. The hostages were released unharmed.

The men had earlier taken two other hostages from a Idalou church and put them in the trunk of a car. But the two prisoners were released by a passerby who heard them pounding on the lid of the trunk in which they were held captive.

Police agreed to let the men go and to provide them with a getaway car if they would let the three women, all employes of the Idalou First State Bank, go free.

The men, described by police as Latin Americans, had said they were not going to make use of the getaway car until after dark. As the sun set, an army of police surrounded the bank.

The police then made their move. One officer went to the door of the small kitchen where the men were holed up. He yelled inside and asked to see if the hostages were all right.

One of the would-be bandits opened the door and the three women walked out of the door into clear view of the police.

An officer then yelled to the women to duck behind a nearby wall, and they ran quickly into the arms of waiting policemen.

With their key to freedom gone, two of the bandits panicked and dashed out the back door of the building and into the promised escape car.

The third remained behind and surrendered meekly to police as they swarmed into the room.

The two who reached the car sped away, but ran into another vehicle driven by a private citizen who was listening to reports of the story on the radio and decided to do his part in apprehending the men.

The three suspects were placed in separate cars by members of the Department of Public Safety and driven to Lubbock, 10 miles to the west.

Crew Of Ship Evacuated By Coast Guard

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The Coast Guard began evacuating the crew of the 10,000-ton freighter Oduna by breeches buoy late Friday several hours after the vessel went aground on Unimak Island in Alaska, the Alaska Steamship Co. announced here.

A spokesman for the steamship company said its agent in Kodiak, Alaska advised that all of the 37 men aboard the stricken vessel had been removed by 6:15 p.m. PST.

A breeches buoy is a life buoy running upon a hawser stretched between ships or from ship to shore. It is designed primarily for rescuing persons.

The Alaska Steamship spokesman said the men would be taken to Cold Bay, on the Alaska Peninsula near Unimak, by Coast Guard helicopter and the Seattle tug Adeline Foss to spend the night. He said they would probably be flown to Seattle today.

The Adeline Foss assisted the Oduna in getting a line ashore for the breeches buoy operation.

The Coast Guard said the vessel, skippered by Otto Klarbbe of Seattle, had five feet of water in her forward holds and engine room and was heeling to starboard.

Wilson Prepares To Use Force In Zambia

GEMINI 7 ASTRONAUTS Frank Borman, left, and James Lovell wear lightweight space suits they will have on during their 14-day space voyage scheduled to begin Dec. 4 from Cape Kennedy. Dec. 13, Astronauts Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford will ride another capsule, Gemini 6, into orbit to rendezvous with Gemini 7. In flight, these Gemini 7 helmets will be covered by a zippered plastic hood so the suit can be pressurized. A Gemini 7 rehearsal is planned today. (AP Wirephoto)

Troubled Area Will Get Troops

LONDON (AP) — Britain late Friday night was reported ready to send troops to Zambia in a show of armed strength near the border of rebellious, white minority-ruled Rhodesia.

The report came soon after Zambian authorities blamed saboteurs for a blast early Friday that destroyed a pylon on the power line from the Rhodesian border serving Zambia's rich copper-mining belt. Zambia is the former Northern Rhodesia, now ruled by its African majority.

PATIENCE ENDS

London officials said the British, nearing the end of their patience with the rebel Rhodesian government in Salisbury, will dispatch a token military force to Zambia within a short time.

Massive headlines in London newspapers set the mood:

"Go-Ahead for Troops on Way," said the Daily Express.

"Troops SOS by Zambia — Wilson is Ready," said the tabloid Daily Mirror.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson's office at 10 Downing St., declined at first to make any statement about the reports of British military moves in Central Africa.

In Salisbury, Prime Minister Ian Smith said he suspected that Communists blew up the pylon that disrupted electric service from the Kariba Dam. In Kitwe, Zambia, officials said an explosive charge placed under another pylon failed to go off.

After the blast, President Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia immediately renewed his pressure on Britain to send troops into the troubled border zones.

Kaunda has called for British military intervention ever since Smith's government on Nov. 11 proclaimed Rhodesia independent of Britain.

"A decision to send a token military force to Zambia is expected to be taken by the Cabinet in the next 48 hours," said the London Daily Mail.

"And it seems probable that it will make a show of armed strength in the Rhodesian crisis."

Overhanging the situation was a possibility that unless Britain sends troops into Zambia, Kaunda would invite military aid from other African nations, and possibly even from Communist powers such as the Soviet Union and Red China.

Prime Minister Wilson was reported standing by for a personal report from Malcolm MacDonald, Britain's special representative in East and Central Africa.

Rusk Announces Hanoi's Coldness

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Friday the United States rejected Communist North Vietnamese peace feelers last autumn because Hanoi felt it was "on the threshold of victory" and only wanted to give the United States a face-saving chance to get out of Viet Nam.

"Our attitude was and is that we are not interested in saving face but in saving South Viet Nam," Rusk told a news conference.

He had a prepared statement ready on a question raised by recent published report in Look Magazine quoting the late U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson about the issue. Stevenson was quoted as saying that Washington turned down twice—before and after the November presidential election—a North Vietnamese offer through U.N. Secretary General U Thant to go to the conference table.

LIFT OF AGGRESSION

Without waiting for a question about the Stevenson report, Rusk said "it seems clear beyond a peradventure of a doubt that Hanoi was not prepared to discuss peace in Southeast Asia based upon the agreements of 1954 and 1962 and looking toward the lift of aggression against South Viet Nam."

He noted that only Thursday, North Viet Nam had denied making any proposals for negotiations. And in recent weeks, he added, Hanoi's stand on peace talks appeared to have hardened with preconditions.

For the first time publicly, Rusk acknowledged Thant had informed Washington last fall that Hanoi had told him indirectly it "would be willing to have a contact with the United States and that the secretary general had suggested Rangoon as a suitable site."

"Throughout all last year, the general attitude of the Communist world was that they might consider some device to save the face of the United States while they themselves imposed their will on South Viet Nam," he said.

Some Damages Follow Brief Thunderstorm

High winds during a Friday night thunderstorm resulted in fallen power lines in sections of West Monroe and power failure in two sections of Monroe.

FAA at Selman Field said there was a complete power failure in the area at 10:30 p.m., shortly after the rainstorm had ceased.

Electricity lines were down in scattered sections of West Monroe. Exact locations of all lines which were down could not be determined by midnight Friday.

French L. Smith of the Monroe City Utilities Commission said line ten which feeds the east portion of the city toward the Baptist Children's Home was out briefly, but power was quickly restored. Line five which feeds the section north above Louisville Avenue went out during the storm and crews corrected the situation within about half an hour. The power failure was attributed to lightening.

Winds mangled some of the newly - hung Christmas decorations in downtown Monroe and many of the lights were out.

The predicted showers for Friday night materialized about 9:30 p.m., accompanied by thunder and winds up to 30 miles an hour. The storm was short-lived, however, and winds were peaceful again by 10:30 when the rain had also stopped. FAA had not measured the rain by midnight.

Forecast for today calls for fair skies and colder mercury readings. Highest should be 62 to 66 and overnight lows should drop to 38 to 42.

Shifting winds should become northerly at 8 to 16 miles an hour.

Temperatures through next Thursday should remain at four to eight degrees above the normals. Normal highs are 63 to 69 and normal lows are 39 to 47. Precipitation should be moderate to locally heavy in occasional periods of showers until Thursday, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Tornadoes Spin Across Six States

By United Press International

The worst Midwest storm system since last spring spawned tornadoes, savage winds and hail storms in at least six states Friday night. Westward, a massive wintry storm spread snow from the Rockies to Michigan.

Twisters raked rural stretches of Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Kentucky, Arkansas and Tennessee. Farm buildings were demolished, hospitals unroofed and telephone lines knocked out.

No injuries were reported.

The weather bureau said the likelihood of more tornadoes exists until early this morning in central Indiana, northwestern northern and central Ohio and Pennsylvania.

A twister struck Paragould, Ark., upsetting house trailers and damaging about five buildings. Numerous farm buildings were flattened or damaged by other twisters in central and southern Illinois.

At Nashville, Ill., a tornado rolled up the tar-and-stone roof of the Washington County Hospital like a carpet, leaving only a layer of ceiling insultation to cover one wing of the building.

About 20 patients were moved to other parts of the hospital. Firemen and other workers moved in to mop up deep puddles from the leaking roof.

Teaching Methods 'Proven Failures'

BOSTON (AP) — Traditional methods of teaching children to read and write are proven failures when used with culturally deprived children and a totally new approach is needed, according to a report released here Friday.

"We're just giving them more and more of the same thing that didn't work in the first place," said Miss Muriel Crosby of the Wilmington, Del., public schools.

"We need a breakthrough with the early emphasis on the children speaking their own unique nonstandard version of the English language. Reading and formal language instruction can come later."

Miss Crosby is cochairman of the special task force that studied language programs for disadvantaged children for the National Council of Teachers of English. She takes office as president of the council at its concluding convention session tonight.

Miss Crosby said in an interview that disadvantaged children generally enter school at least two years retarded in learning skills because of the limited vocabularies and learning opportunities in their homes.

"The child speaks a different language in the home and the streets than he is expected to learn in school," she said. "He learns early that he and the teacher are not communicating. He senses disapproval and clams up.

"All too often the teacher classifies the disadvantaged as slow learners. This just isn't true and deprives him of the only opportunity he has to extend his language skills."

The report suggested that in the early schools years the emphasis be on extending the child's vocabulary, not correcting his English.

"If the child speaks a dialect and says 'Them magnet's pickin' up the nails,' we do not need to worry about 'them magnet's' at this point. If we do not first encourage the child to use his own language in its full range, we may diminish his desire to use language in school."

The report recommends that formal reading instruction be delayed until a disadvantaged child has had intensive training in oral language. It also recommends that direct instruction in the use of standard, informal English be delayed until at least the fourth grade.

Plane Loaded With Goodies To Viet Nam

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — A four-engine plane-loaded with candy, cookies, cigarettes, playing cards and similar items — left Manchester on Friday for Viet Nam.

The New Hampshire National Guard's plane carried 2,000 pounds of gifts for American fighting men as part of Operation Christmas Star.

The operation, endorsed by President Johnson, is a nationwide effort to collect gifts for the servicemen during the holiday season.

The plane will stop at Travis Air Force Base in California to take additional Christmas cargo aboard before flying to Viet Nam.

Smith Says Reds Behind Sabotage

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Prime Minister Ian Smith expressed a suspicion Friday night that Communists may have been behind the destruction of a power line tower that disrupted an electric circuit in neighboring Zambia early Friday.

"I wonder," Smith said in a statement issued through the Information Ministry, "Whether this has not been instigated by the Communists — Chinese or otherwise — who have moved into Zambia in recent months."

Zambia came under African control after the breakup of the British-run Central African Federation, in which it was a partner with white-ruled Rhodesia. Zambians are among critics of Rhodesia's Nov. 11 declaration of independence.

An explosion damaged the tower and cut the flow of electricity between the Kariba hydroelectric works and Kitwe, the principal town in Zambia's rich copper belt.

Smith said he was "extremely sorry to hear of such sabotage.

"Injury of this nature to the economy of Zambia is to be deplored," he said.

"It is both interesting and significant, however, that Mr. Lardner Burke (minister of law and order) in his speech in Parliament yesterday warned President (Kenneth) Kaunda that by harboring saboteurs in his country he was running the danger of such people using their subversive training on Zambia and the Zambian government.

"My first reaction is that this is precisely what has happened. People are attempting to step up trouble and to dislocate the economy of Zambia, hoping that they can pin the blame on Rhodesia. Quite obviously this is something that has been carried out by fairly sophisticated people."

The Rhodesian government fired Miss Leslie Dew, secretary to African opposition leader Josiah Gondo Friday, charging her with "political activities."

The dismissal was taken generally as a sign of the government's displeasure over the antigovernment stand taken by nine African members of Parliament Thursday. They walked out, charging that the government, the new constitution and the session itself were illegal.

Miss Dew is the great granddaughter of one of Rhodesia's early settlers, Sir Harry Johnston. Gondo heads the United Peoples party, the official opposition.

Miss Dew was present late Friday, apparently as Gondo's representative, when British Governor Sir Humphrey Gibbs again asserted his determination to remain here as the representative of Queen Elizabeth II.

Sir Humphrey, who is ignored by Smith's government, told newsmen he plans to hold out in Government House, his usual residence, "until such time as constitutional rule is restored."

Although the Smith government has withdrawn the sentries at his front gate, cut off his telephone, taken away a large part of his staff and deprived him of his official cars, the governor is comfortable enough. He manages a game of croquet almost daily on his spacious lawn.

In Bulawayo, two African brothers were held for trial on charges of possessing two machine guns, 468 rounds of ammunition and a stick of explosive. The material was found in two caves about 40 miles from Bulawayo.

Police said the brothers, Shadreck and Timothy Ncube, told them they had been given the weapons by a third African, otherwise unidentified.

Several Die In Mishaps Across State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ten persons, one an infant only 45 minutes old, died in accidents across Louisiana during the first day and a half of the long Thanksgiving Day holiday weekend.

Six fatalities occurred on the highways.

St. Mary Parish Coroner G. P. Musso classified the death of infant as a traffic fatality following an autopsy Friday.

Joseph Scott, 21, of Eunice, died late Thursday night when his car sideswiped a station wagon near Eunice and overturned.

Joe Hewitt, 70, of Alexandria, was killed Thursday when he walked in front of a pickup truck on I-20 six miles west of Gibson.

Stanley W. Singletary, 18, of Pearl River, La., was killed Friday when his car ran off of State Highway 41 two miles south of Talisheek and struck a tree.

The Associated Press traffic count began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and continues through midnight Sunday.

Claude J. Crockett, 49, of Jennings, was killed Thursday in a two-car collision on La. 26 about 10 miles south of Jennings. He was a member of the Jefferson Davis Parish Fair Association.

Joseph Verrett, 12, of Mamou died Thursday when he was pulled beneath the wheel of a tractor he was trying to free from the mud on a farm.

John Sonnier, 25, of Lafayette disappeared in West Cote Blanche Bay near Franklin while fishing Friday and was presumed drowned.

Ernest Coulon Jr. of Barataria perished when flames swept his tug after the barge it was pushing severed a high pressure natural gas line near Delacroix Island Thursday.

Eddie Johnson, 15, of Houma was killed in a hunting accident Thursday. Johnson was shot in the upper chest as he reached to take a shotgun from a younger brother, authorities said.

U.S. SECRETARY of Defense Robert S. McNamara, left, shakes hands with British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart as he arrives at the Foreign Ministry in London Friday for a discussion of European defense and nuclear problems. McNamara Arrives In Paris For Talks

PARIS (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara Friday said the monsoon offensive mounted by the Vietnamese Communists "has been blunted and, I think, defeated."

He said this was one of the main reasons for his planned visit to South Viet Nam, which will be his seventh to the embattled Southeast Asian nation since 1962.

McNamara arrived from London for a one-day meeting today of the defense ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) on the crucial problem of interallied nuclear sharing. France is boycotting the conference.

Accompanied by Under Secretary of State, George W. Ball, McNamara stopped off briefly in London on his flight here to confer with British government leaders.

A U.S. official said McNamara and Ball had a "wide-ranging exchange of views on all problems" with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart and Defense Minister Denis Healy.

No details of the discussions were disclosed. But they were understood to have included Viet Nam, Britain's east-of-Suez strategy, as well as the delicate problem of giving West Germany a say in allied nuclear strategy.

The two Americans and the British officials also had what was described as a "substantial amount of discussion" on Communist China. The uneasy situations in Malaysia and Kashmir and the Rhodesian breakaway also were taken up.

Wilson has been trying to arrange Viet Nam peace talks. But his efforts ran into difficulties Friday when the Russians listed a number of obstacles to improvement of Soviet-British relations.

On his arrival from London, McNamara told newsmen at Orly Airport: "The Viet Cong's monsoon offensive has been blunted and, I think, defeated."

He conceded that casualties on both sides have been very high. But he said the Communists in mounting the offensive against American, Vietnamese and Allied forces in Viet Nam were "looking to the future."

"We are too and I am going to Viet Nam for that purpose," McNamara said.

Shipping Firm Celebrates Its 100th Birthday

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP) — One of the world's largest private shipping empires celebrated its 100th anniversary Friday night as flags hung half mast for the death of its leading lady.

Ann-Ida Brostroem, 82, daughter of the founder of the firm that bears her name, died Friday only 12 hours before the scheduled time of the celebration. It went on as planned, except that the dancing that was to have followed a gala dinner was canceled.

Ann-Ida Brostroem was Sweden's richest woman. She left a private estate estimated to be worth $18 million. The estate, according to unofficial reports, will be divided between her seven grandchildren.

The shipping firm, headed by Dan-Axel Brostroem, Mrs. Brostroem's eldest son, owns 96 ships totaling 1.2 million tons. The business is divided among about 20 subsidiaries under the control of A.B. Tirfing, the head company.

Tirfing was founded by Dan-Axel Brostoem's grandfather in 1865 when he bought a small vessel for $450.

Criticism Of U.S. Action Is Countered

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — A Colombian criticism of U.S. military action in the Dominican Republic was quickly torpedoed Friday by Latin-American diplomats at the inter-American conference.

The reaction was typical of efforts here to keep controversial issues out of this meeting, which is aimed at improving hemispheric machinery to handle future problems.

Similar steps were taken earlier, when the conference ignored Ecuador's appeal for discussion of its border dispute with Peru, and when the United States, after a head count, quietly decided not to ask the conference to study the idea of an inter-American peace force.

The U.S.-Dominican action had been labeled "armed military intervention" in the preamble of a resolution, submitted by Colombia, reaffirming the principle of nonintervention.

The reference surprised the United States and dismayed many Latin-American delegates because of the general desire here to seek a broad consensus and avoid rifts.

The Colombian foreign minister, Castor Jaramillio Arrubla, told a committee discussing his resolution it was not aimed against anyone, "least of all the United States, with whom we have the best relations and are confident they will improve even more."

Jaramillio Arrubla said his delegation believed frank and open discussions of the problem would render "a great service to the great country of the north."

"We do not want to divide the peoples of America," he said, but added: "We do not want a repetition of the Dominican case."

Other Latin-American delegates, while pledging their support of the principle of nonintervention, said the Colombian resolution singled out only one basic principle of the Organization of American States and their juridical equality.

A Chilean delegate proposed that the resolution be sent to a working group drafting a general reaffirmation of all the principles of the inter-American system. He was quickly backed by other Latin diplomats.

U.S. Delegate W. Averell Harriman also supported the Chilean move, saying that the OAS charter principles "should not be altered or confused by new interpretation but reaffirmed."

The reference to the Dominican Republic is expected to be dropped in the working group's resolution.

Japanese Vehicles

LONDON (AP) — Lord Halsbury, member of Britain's Science Research Council, warned the British motor industry that it must expect Japan to become one of its major competitors on world markets. He told the motor industry association: "I have seen a Japanese sales directive conceived in almost military terms—entitled 'How to attack in the face of the enemy.' We have to take note of it."

Negroes Said Kept Off Trial Juries

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Federal attorneys produced testimony Friday that no Negroes have served on the trial juries of adjoining Lowndes County in the last 13 years.

A jury commissioner, the government said, did not even recommend placing Negroes on jury rolls until recent weeks.

Justice Department attorneys, in a detailed analysis presented to the court, said that in 98 per cent of the cases the names placed on the jury rolls in Lowndes were identical with those of the all-white voter list.

The testimony that no Negro has served on a trial jury in the rural south-central Alabama county in at least 13 years came from Circuit Court Judge T. Werth Thagard, who presides over the court in Lowndes and two adjoining counties.

The white-haired Thagard, a former state senator, said no Negro had served on a jury since he went on the bench in 1952 although some Negroes have been on panels of prospective jurors.

Thagard is the judge who presided over the two recent trials in Lowndes County growing out of civil rights killings. A Ku Klux Klansman and a part-time deputy sheriff were acquitted in the slayings of two civil rights workers.

Jury Commissioner Henry Barganier testified that he only recently began recommending that Negroes be put on the jury rolls.

Another commissioner, Bruce Crook, told the court that he had submitted names of Negroes to go on the jury lists "ever since I was appointed" eight years ago.

John Jackson, the third member of the commission, said he could not recall any term of court when more than six Negroes were on a jury venire of from 60 to 100 names.

The Justice Department and the Negroes filing the suit contended that putting Negroes on the jury rolls did not begin until after the suit was filed and that only a fracional number had only a fractional number had since been put on.

The clerk of the commission, Kelly Coleman, testified that she was unaware of any instructions to put Negroes on the jury rolls in recent weeks, "but after the suit was filed I think they decided they had to do it."

"In other words," asked Justice Department attorney Charles Nesson, "it was the filing of the suit which prompted them to do that?"

Mrs. Coleman replied, "Probably so."

The Justice Department analysis of the jury records, Nesson told the court, showed that of 2,748 names on the jury list since 1953, 2,693 or 98 per cent of them were also on the voters list.

In the fall of 1954, Nesson continued, 110 prospective jurors were called and all of them were registered voters.

The government contended also that the analysis showed that only a relatively small number of men on the jury list were actually summoned to court for duty.

The study revealed that 211 jurors had served six to 18 times during the 15-year period.

Holiday Toll Of Deaths Increasing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The traffic death toll climbed Friday in the middle stretch of the long Thanksgiving weekend.

The total mounted to 281.

One of the victims was an infant boy who died 45 minutes after his birth in a Franklin, La., hospital. The baby was delivered minutes after his mother, Mrs. Herbert Bell, was hurt when an ambulance taking her to the hospital Thursday hit a trailer.

After an autopsy, the corner ruled Friday the child died of traffic accident injuries.

In the compilation period that began at 6 p.m. local time Wednesday, and will end at midnight Sunday, motor vehicle fatalities have been recorded at a rate exceeding the average of around 110 per day for the first three quarters this year.

Widespread rain and snow Friday could have differing influences on the loss of life. Such conditions often hold down the volume of travel. But they also heighten the dangers of driving, especially in the season of short days.

During the Thanksgiving tally periods — all four days — in recent years motor vehicle fatalities have ranged from 442 in 1960 to 554 last year.

The National Safety Council makes no advance estimate of such deaths for Thanksgiving on grounds that it is largely a home holiday that involves less long-distance driving than other traditional holidays.

The Associated Press made a survey of a nonholiday, extended weekend of four days to provide figures for a comparison with the Thanksgiving period statistics. The test ran from 6 p.m. Wednesday Nov.10 to midnight Sunday Nov. 14. The toll then was 568.

'Lonely Hearts'

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Red Bulgaria is soon to have a new lonely hearts club. The aim of the "matrimonial and acquaintance agency," as outlined in the Bulgarian paper Otechestvan Front, is to "develop its activities free of the avidity of matrimonial agencies of the past whose only purpose was to make profits from the marriages arranged or from the dowry."

Breadless Weekend Faces Britons

LONDON (AP) — Millions of Britons resigned themselves to a breadless weekend after a wave of hysterical buying set off by a bakers' strike.

Housewives lined up in front of shops even before they opened but only the lucky ones got bread and then only one loaf per customer under rationing imposed by most stores.

In sharp contrast to Thursday's frantic bickering and jostling, women in queues Friday were orderly and even joking about what has become known as "the bread hunt." The shops that had bread sold out in most cases before noon.

One bread robbery was reported. Thieves snatched eight loaves from a small cafe just off Fleet Street.

Many stores ran out of supplies quickly. Only the independent bakeries were operating. They stepped up production but could not meet the demand.

The bakers union called a 48-hour strike in an area, including London, affecting 20 million persons, to press their demands for a 30 per cent wage increase. Bakers now get a basic weekly wage of $32.20. They want $42.

The bakers union has been waging a series of strikes but the call-out of 10,000 members was the most serious so far.

Stepped Up Bombing Raids Seen In North Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — A forecast of increased emphaisis on bombing North Viet Nam was interpreted by U.S. officials Friday to mean that more strikes might be made — but not necessarily the commitment of more planes or a change in targets.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told newsmen Thursday night that bombing attacks on North Viet Nam have been directed at infiltration routes to the south and "I think you can expect increasing emphasis" on this.

One possibility raised by McNamara's statement, made as he left for London and Paris en route to Viet Nam, is that the United States might send its giant B52 bombers over North Viet Nam. So far the big jets have hammered only at Viet Cong targets in South Viet Nam.

Discussing McNamara's statement, some U.S. officials said they do not believe he meant a change of targets in North Viet Nam. They added that blows on targets now being hit have done substantial damage to the flow of men and munitions into South Viet Nam.

These officials still give no support to demands in some quarters that the Red capital of Hanoi be bombed. They said Friday that the risk of escalation of the war from such action is high.

When asked if this mean Red China might enter into the war, the officials commented that obviously Red China does not yet have nuclear weapons but Chinese assistance to North Viet Nam might be extended other ways.

The officials ruled out, at this time, the bombing of the North Viet Nam port of Haiphong, saying the same objections that pertain to bombing Hanoi apply in the case of Haiphong.

However, the officials emphasize that the no-bombing policy for Hanoi and Haiphong is only a present policy. It would be changed.

Officials here and in Saigon have estimated in recent days that up to nine regiments of the North Viet Nam regular army now may be deployed in the South. The presence of seven regiments has become known and the presence of another is probable and still another possible, they report.

Total manpower for nine North Viet Nam regiments could be as high as about 16,000 men.

Along with the problem of Viet Nam, American officials are keeping an eye on military affairs elsewhere in the world. These include the relative strength of the U.S. and the Communist bloc in missiles which might be used in an escalated or totally new war. Related to this question is the question of antimissile defense.

The officials said this country has a superiority over Russia of three or four to one in ballistic missiles and intends to maintain that superiority. The count for U.S. millies now is given at about 1,000 Minuteman missiles, 654 Polaris and 54 liquid-fueled Titans.

U.S. officials say Russia has no solid-fueled, quick-firing ICBM missiles like the Minuteman and the submarine-launched Polaris.

On the question of missiles and air defense, the officials expressed these thoughts:

Three kinds of threat exist. The first is the threat of sophisticated Soviet missiles. The next one is what they consider the lesser threat of missile attack by Red China. The third defense question is a system of defense for U.S. ICBM bases against enemy attack.

The Defense Department is confronted with the problem of whether to go ahead and deploy the proposed Nike X antimissile missile with an accompanying program for a fallout-shelter system.

The Defense Department, the officials said, has not yet decided whether to start the Nike X system. If a decision is made to go ahead, this will show up officially in the Pentagon's fiscal 1967 budget request to the White House and Congress.

Available information indicates that Russia is working on her own development of a reliable antimissile system but has not attained this objective.

'Opal' Well-Loved By First Nighters

By TRAVIS HATO
World Staff Critic

We are all victims of benevolence. We lose our hearts after one small introduction and we respond with awakening and trust when all the while we know it is but actors on a stage.

Yet that is what theater is all about. It draws us out of ourselves for a brief while and we are grateful for that. And if all theater is always as entertaining as was the Little Theater of Monroe production Friday night we will feel confident that our efforts are well spent.

Along with the cast of "Everybody Loves Opal," we too struggled with tragicomic futility. We were highly amused when they were amused and touched when they were touched. We filled the Strauss Playhouse to near-capacity and we dreaded afterwards to go out into the rain. For one night we, along with Oscar Wilde and Horton Foote and Damon Runyon and the author at hand, John Patrick, preferred the sparkling life inside rather than the serious life outside.

But what really matters is that well - chosen artists assessed our deep human needs and, through the medium of theater, provided answers for those needs.

The chief feature of Friday night's performance was the harmony or "ensemble" of the six stars — and each in his own way was the star of the show. The pace and exactness was a credit to director George Black.

Star No. I, for sure, was Opal herself, Marilyn Taylor. Just as she "loosened up" the stiff-necked doctor on stage she melted that ever - present audience resistance and offered a superlative impersonation of a brassy, lovable "hobo-ette."

To her sense of timing chiefly goes the credit for this marvel of well - drilled performances by a uniformly excellent cast.

Bill Blythe as the Runyonesque confidence man, bossy, insistent, folksy, makes the character an arresting one. His very casualness made the audience comfortable and responsive.

Marsha Mitchell added the proper dash of spice to this sophisticated farce. One of Opal's lines suits her. The audience under her spell was soon "a roomful of people all sitting around purring."

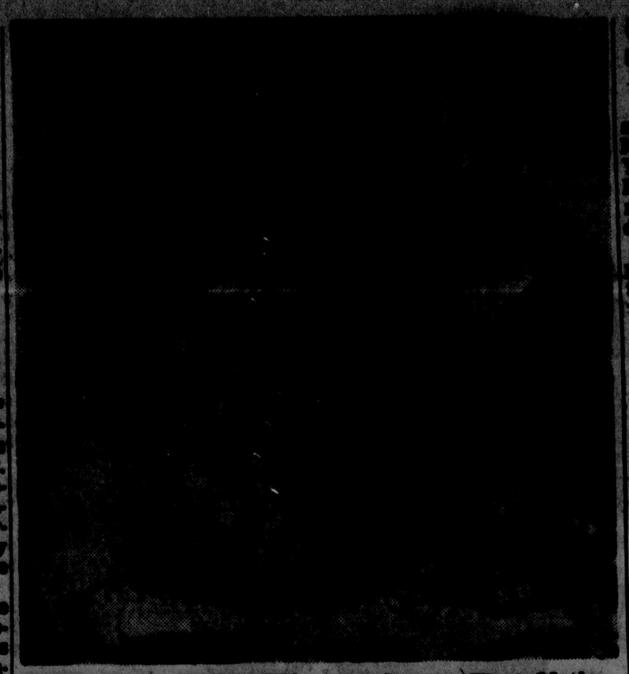
John Filhiol's key phrases amid comedy sequences revealed the dead - serious purpose of the play. It was not all comedy. It had a message. A subtle one. There's good in everybody.

Filhiol was burdened with all the tongue - twisting words and difficult phrases but he never dropped a cue or broke the spell.

Jack Easterling was, in effect, the audience personified. At first he was "cool" to Opal's cajoling manner but soon he could not resist her. Easterling is a natural for broad mimicry and brilliant pantomime.

In an important role plotwise, Curtis Rape flashed forth with warmth and friendliness and kept the production moving ahead speedily.

The play itself was sentimentally old - fashioned yet somehow buoyant and charming. It was a frivolous comedy but well done and well organized. Or maybe it is that we, like the zany confidence men, are victims of benevolence.



MRS. D. R. RACKLEY, caretaker at First Methodist Church in Idalou, Tex., and her 16-year-old son, Joe, were robbed, tied up and held in trunk of their car by a trio of bandits who later attempted to rob the Idalou First State Bank Friday. Passersby heard the Rackleys beating on car trunk, freed them while bandits were holding three women bank employes hostage inside bank after officers got tip and surrounded the place. Settlement Reached On Newspaper Pact

NEW YORK (UPI) —Representatives of the American Newspaper Guild and the New York Daily News announced Friday they had reached a last minute settlement of a contract dispute.

Settlement of the dispute, which could have brought about the suspension of publication by five of the city's other major daily newspapers was announced at 7:05 p.m. EST. This was five minutes beyond a strike deadline of 7 p.m. EST set by the union.

The New York Guild originally had threatened to strike the News at 6 p.m.

But three minutes before the deadline, the executive vice-president of the union, Thomas J. Murphy, announced movement by both sides on all but one of the disputed issues and said the union had granted a one-hour extension of the deadline.

Murphy said that on the key issue of the union shop the guild had compromised its earlier stand. He said it had accepted a solution "not up to or equal with that won at the New York Times."

Murphy said that the publisher would retain the right to designate one of each 15 as "privileged to remain outside the guild."

Wilson Runs Into Difficulty In Probe

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's search for ways to end the Viet Nam war through peace talks ran into difficulty Friday when the Russians listed a series of obstacles to any improvement in relations between London and Moscow.

Wilson discussed the Viet Nam situation with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara who stopped over here on his way from Washington to Paris for a meeting of the Nato defense ministers today. Details of the discussion were not disclosed.

Wilson is sending Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart to Moscow Monday to try to persuade the Kremlin to reopen the Geneva conference as the first step toward bringing the United States and Communist North Viet Nam to the conference table.

The prime minister himself will carry his peace efforts directly to President Johnson when he meets with the U.S. chief executive at the Texas White House on Dec. 17.

The official Soviet government newspaper Izvestia Friday said Stewart was welcome in Moscow. But it warned of obstables to better Soviet-British relations, including British support of the Atlantic nuclear force idea, alleged backing of West Germany's "aggressive, militaristic tendencies" and support of U.S. policies in Viet Nam.

Izvestia also accused Britain of being inconsistent on the subject of a treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons and said such an agreement is an urgent necessity at this time.

Wilson, who disclosed his twin-pronged peace offensive to Commons Thursday, said as long as the war in Viet Nam continued "the danger of escalation is very great . . . (and) might mean a major land war in Asia or worse."

He put the blame for the war squarely on the shoulders of the Communist North Vietnamese regime. He said President Ho Chi Minh had repeatedly rejected peace talk overtures.

He pledged that Britain would "continue with every initiative we can to get Hanoi to the conference table."

Flames Scorch 44 Acres In Ouachita

Five grass and timber blazes flared up around Swartz about 1:30 p.m. Friday, scorching 44 acres in what was called the worst day of the year for fire in Ouachita Parish by veteran foresters.

Two crews of firefighters from the five - parish forestry district that includes Ouachita battled the blazes "dead out" by 6 p.m. The fires were cut off first from the threatened homes that dotted the burning areas and no property loss other than timber was reported.

Charles Whatley, assistant district forester, gave the following locations for the fires: 1) near the Acme Brick Co., two miles north of Monroe on the Old Bastrop Road; 2) near the Swartz School; 3) near the Columbia Carbon Plant on the Old Bastrop Road; 4) off the Old Bastrop Road near the Ouachita Parish gravel pit; and 5) on the Old Bastrop Road near the Ouachita-Morehouse parish line.

Whatley said the causes of the blazes were being "checked into" and added that the fires "weren't unusual."

West Monroe Fire Chief Aubrey Taylor said a truck from his department cruised the area looking for house fires after he learned that the parish fire truck broke down.

"The dry weather and the wind contributed to the fire," Whatley said, "though they are not unusual. Columbian Carbon men were on call if we need them but we managed. The fires burned about 30 acres grass land and 14 acres of timber."

No estimate of the dollar loss was available. Reports from the area covered by the forestry district showed fires in every parish but Morehouse. Whatley said, "It was our worst day of the year."

Orleans Man Returned To Face Charges

A 22-year-old New Orleans man was returned to Monroe Friday from Miami, Fla. on charges of burglary and auto theft in connection with the Oct. 25 burglary of Fleeman's Flying Service in which $700 in cash and a 1965 auto were taken.

The man was identified as John Grant Wood Jr. Wood was arrested in Miami after Monroe police flashed word that he was wanted for the local burglary. Wood waived extradition and was returned to Monroe by the Ouachita Parish sheriff's department.

With one burglary cleared by arrest, Monroe police were immediately faced with two more.

About $100 was taken from Jones Barbecue at 1011 DeSiard St. late Thursday. The money came from a jukebox, a pin ball machine and a coin box in a locked office. Entrance was gained by forcing out a window air conditioner, police said.

A check writing machine and 300 blank checks were taken from the Cox Furniture Co. at 501 Texas Ave., according to police. Vending machines were rifled and an unknown amount of change taken. The building was entered through a front window.

Booked for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages in Monroe was Henry N. Olds, 42, of Shreveport, apprehended on Catalpa Street at 2:45 a.m.

Charged with drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon in Monroe was George Allen Jr., 18, of F-170 Foster Homes, Monroe.

Booked for aggravated assault and disturbing the peace was Weldon Hinton, 44, of Farmerville.

Russians Hand Belongings Of Tourist Over

MOSCOW (UPI) —The belongings of American tourist Newcomb Mott, who faces 18 months in a labor camp for entering Russia illegally, were handed over to his parents Friday at the American Embassy here.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mott of Sheffield, Mass., who traveled to the Arctic city of Murmansk for the trial of their 27-year-old son, returned to Moscow Friday.

They said they would confer with their son's Soviet lawyer on his planned appeal to the Russian Supreme Court.

Mott was convicted in a three-day trial at Murmansk this week of illegally entering Russia from Norway Sept. 4. He was sentenced to what observers considered an unusually stiff 18 months at a labor camp.

Medical Opinions Confuse Sometimes

Where to go next? What to do? Is it or isn't it?

So many patients remain confused and helpless when caught between two or more differing medical opinions. Whom to believe? What's the pitiable patient to do? For example:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am in my early 30s, a young man perplexed and anxious. For about 10 years I have been suffering with a soreness around my spine in between my shoulders and radiating down my left shoulder and arm. But for the past five years I have been having a lot of chest pain, too.

A few weeks ago I went to a doctor. He diagnosed my condition as angina pectoris, due to arteriosclerosis of the coronary arteries. He advised me to lose about 20 pounds.

I lost 15 and went to another doctor, a well-known heart specialist and told him my symptoms, and what the first doctor had said. He gave me a very thorough physical (at least, compared to the first doctor) including a Master two-step exercise test for my electrocardiograms. I had chest X rays, blood tests (including cholesterol) thyroid tests, urinalysis—all of which were normal.

He diagnosed my condition as for which he gave me pills. No heart disease. Right now, as I said, I'm confused. The first doctor's diagnosis sticks in my mind and frightens me.—Mr. T.

MANY UNSURE

Comment: I don't suppose it will help you when I say that there are many other thousands of patients like yourself — unsure and anxious—because they are caught between two diagnoses. Some, unfortunately, go along for months and years without taking definite steps to resolve their insecurity. They either believe one doctor or the other. Like tossing a coin, their health and life depend upon the flip: heads or tails?

What I invariably tell people in a similar quandary is this: resolve the problem as soon as possible. And the best way to do so is to ask for consultation with an expert in the field, for a third opinion. Make sure the one you consult (on the advice of your previous doctors) is completely impartial. Like a supreme court judge.

After he has handed down his opinion, accept it. Other wise you will continue to live in fear and live your life as a tremulous question-mark.

I repeat: too many people—either because of procrastination or unwillingness to pay an extra fee—go through life unnecessarily burdened with anxieties which might have been prevented or alleviated.

INDICATION

Mrs. H. If it were me, I'd hesitate to go under the knife just to fix up some adhesions. I'd want to be sure there was a definite indication for such surgery. For example, obstruction in the intestines, etc.

For Mr. W: Shortness of breath in your husband who is 73 might very well be due to a failing heart. But that is only a guess. Emphysema might cause similar symptoms. He might have a combination of lung and heart disease. There are many other reasons for shortness of breath.

Therefore, I agree with you, he deserves medical investigation. Especially when, as you say, he's otherwise in fine shape.

Greet Kennedy

MANAUS, Brazil (AP) — In equatorial heat, school children sang "Bob's a jolly good fellow" on the arrival Friday of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.

Kennedy and his wife, continuing their South American trip, flew here from Rio de Janeiro. They found a crowd of 2,000 at the airport. Artur Cesar Ferreira Reis, the state governor, welcomed the senator.

After a weekend boat trip on the Amazon, the Kennedys go to Venezuela on Monday.

Civil-Liberties Stretch

Two major decisions by the United States Supreme Court seem to have given the New York Civil Liberties Union the idea that civil liberties in this country can be stretched to almost any length.

Several years ago, the Supreme Court held that members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People could not be compelled to reveal their membership and that the organization could not be required to supply the names of its members. Now a similar ruling has been made in regard to the federal law requiring members of the Communist party to register. These decisions practically amount to saying that any person's individual membership in any organization is his own business.

In view of this fact, it will be interesting to observe what ruling the high court will make on revealing membership in the Ku Klux Klan if such a case is brought before it. If it should hold that Klan membership must be revealed but that Communist party and N. A. A. C. P. membership need not be revealed it would seem to be taking two positions on the same issue.

Even among those who have no connection with civil liberties organizations and want nothing to do with Civil Liberties Leagues or Unions, there are a good many who hold an individual's right to privacy in high regard. This privacy is being more and more invaded by federal government regulations. It would be strange indeed if the Supreme Court's devotion to the cause of integration and its apparent liking for other groups should lead it to make decisions that would guarantee more privacy for Mr. Uno Who, or the average private citizen. Guaranteeing privacy for the average citizen probably would hurt the Supreme Court's feelings but, no matter how weird its decisions may be, it surely must show some consistency.

In defending David J. Miller, draft-card burner, the New York Civil Liberties Union will attack on two constitutional grounds the new federal law forbidding such acts. These two contended grounds are that the law seeks to suppress an individual's right to free speech and that its severity constitutes "cruel and unusual punishment, which, in application, violates due process of law."

Civil Liberties Union lawyers hope to cite a long history of high court opinions defending a citizen's right to symbolic expression. They will point out that failure to comply with the Alien Registration Act — a roughly comparable offense — is merely a misdemeanor, while the new federal law against draft-card burning makes the offense a felony. Civil liberitarians also feel that the recent Supreme Court decision on registration of Communists may make the draft-card possession law, long on the statute books, unenforceable. They contend that if a Communist can refuse to register because it might incriminate him, a man without his draft card might refuse to show it on the same grounds.

Draft-card burning is an action which has highly incensed most of the patriotic citizens of the United States and some feel that it borders on disloyalty. There can be no doubt that it is an insult to the government and that it threatens refusal to comply with the draft law itself. Yet, there is doubt in the minds of some non-liberitarians that a mere insult should constitute a felony. Laws enacted under the impetus of high feeling, rather than considered judgment, may be too severe. This does not mean that we, in any way, condone the acts of the draft-card burners. We admit some doubt, over a period of many years, whether the mere failure of a man to have a draft card on his person, when he may otherwise have it in his possession, should constitute a crime.

Our main conclusion is that the Supreme Court, in some of its decisions, has been getting itself into "deep water" and that it will take a lot of squirming around on the court's part to be consistent without giving the individual citizen more privacy.

Before we know it, in the light of new high court rulings, someone may contend again that government demands for income reports are an infringement on privacy.

Some Reflected Fame

If you do any kind of work for which you receive pay, you must have a Social Security number. That is the law of the land. Recently it was announced in the Nashville (Tenn.) Banner that Carolyn Binkley "is gonna" file an application for a Social Security card. Generally that would not be news but Carolyn is only four years old and has started to work.

She's not punching a time clock, nor doing manual labor, nor waiting on tables, nor teaching school. She's made a singing record and it has started earning money, so she'll be on the list of Uncle Sam's taxpayers. And she probably doesn't even know she has an Uncle Sam.

There are at least three persons, however, whom she definitely does know about. Her parents are Bob and Phoebe K. Binkley. Bob is choral director of Donelson High School and choir director of the First Lutheran Church. Phoebe teaches piano and at one time performed professionally with the St. Louis Municipal Opera. So Carolyn comes by her singing naturally.

But there's another important man in her life. Commenting on a story about Carolyn, Jack Knox, editorial cartoonist for the Nashville Banner, whose cartoons also are carried frequently on the Monroe Morning World editorial page, said:

"I was afraid you might miss it and I wouldn't want anybody to miss it. That's the way we grandfathers are. This is my granddaughter!"

We started out to comment that it's strange for a 4-year-old to be working, then got around to the fact that she is the granddaughter of a famous artist and then showed how this noted artist works for the Monroe Morning World. That entitles us to some reflected fame.

$100-Billion Santa

Never able in any country in the history of the world to rise far above the elemental stage without the aid of white men, Negro so-called "civil rights" leaders are now asking the biggest present from Santa Claus of all time.

A Negro leader said it would be cheaper to spend $100 billion of the people's (mostly white) tax money to wipe out Negro ghettos than to let tensions build until they explode into "another unhappy Watts of Los Angeles."

Ever hear of anyone doing anything to improve his own situation without calling for charity every time he opens his mouth? Ever hear of controlling by force or jailing those who violate the law by "explosions"? We admit such things are rare in an administration in which everything must be given to the Negro and in which "civil rights" become the privilege of trampling on other people's rights.

States Plan Medicare Dates

See Difficulty In Acting In Time

SOME STATE health agencies now realize that they may have difficulty in meeting the effective dates set by Congress for medicare for those of 65 years or older, which for most of its benefits will be effective July 1, 1966, but for post - hospital and extended care not until January 1, 1967.

Application cards sent by the Social Security Administration to 16.9 million eligible aged who were asked whether they wanted $3 a month deducted from their social security benefits under the medical insurance plan has an acceptance from those so far replying of about 88 percent, with more than 8 million signed and returned. This optional plan would pay 80 percent of the patients cost for physicians' and a variety of other services. Eligibles have until March 31 to make up their minds on whether they want it.

The 88 percent acceptance is lower than the Department of Health, Education and Welfare had expected on the voluntary plan, and there may be a pick-up as some of those who have rejected it may change their minds.

ON THE HOSPITAL plan, which is automatic, Congress estimated at the time of its passage, that there will be 19 million eligibles by July 1, 1966. The State medical authorities must calculate whether the facilities in their jurisdictions are capable of meeting the expected case load, which in the first year, at least, is expected to place a burden on some of those facilities, especially in smaller communities.

The basic hospital insurance section of the law, as most of the elderly beneficiaries can now recite from memory, provides hospitalization up to 90 days for each spell of sickness, but the patient must pay the first $40, plus $10 a day for each day over 60; also there are as many as 100 days of extended care in a nursing home and 100 home health service visits a year by nurses, physical therapists and other health workers. All benefits become effective July 1, 1966, except for skilled nursing service in extended care facilities which are effective on January 1, 1967.

ADMINISTRATORS of the bill in the Department of Health Education and Welfare expect the State health departments will use the next six months to catalog hospitals and nursing homes which will be available at midyear for inpatients. Comparatively few are expected to refuse to take medicare patients, and the rest must check their facilities and such factors as probable increase in case loads, number of employees and numerous other details, as well as the schedules of doctors and other attendants.

The accounting task alone will be considerable as the government must pay, through private health insurance companies the larger part of doctors and surgeons' bills, as well as provide outpatient care in a clinic or hospital and provide a wide variety of diagnostic or therapeutic services with compensation for the providers.

No scale of payment is set for services. The act says only that payments to institutional providers of care be based on reasonable costs and payments to doctors and non-institutional providers be based on reasonable charges. How these are to be worked out may become a controversial problem during the early months of the program and will continue to be so, in decreasing extent, as Federal and State administrative authorities wrestle with the problem.

IT IS NATURALLY expected that the urban centers with their many hospitals, will be able to meet the principal requirements of medicare in a reasonable time. What the situation will be in smaller communities, where more hospitals already have their full capacity of patients, is more difficult to figure.

Some States are already beginning to anticipate difficulty in meeting the midyear deadline. Their health departments are learning in some instances that they are short of facilities specified in the medicare act, and may have difficulty in meeting the demands which will be put upon them.

Wisconsin, one of these States is shaking its head over the prospect as disclosed by a recent survey.

FOR MANY YEARS, the Badger State has been a leader in the field of welfare legislation and has pioneered many social benefits for the benefit of its citizens. A recent survey by the State Commissioner on Aging indicates that there is no provision for many of the services called for in the medicare act.

Only two of the State's 72 counties are said to have facilities and personnel to carry out the anticipated requirements of the medicare act. Those two are Milwaukee, which includes the city and Dane, which includes Madison, the State capitol and the University of Wisconsin.

Forty counties or more than one half, have no outpatient clinics, 50 have no nursing homes and as many report no agency or personnel for home health care visits. The Wisconsin check also discloses that with 430,000 residents 65 or older, the State has but 128 medical - social workers.

This may be an indication that in many rural sections, hospitals and community groups now perform voluntary services that have left little need for those classifications; but under the breadth of the medicare program, it is only to be expected that demand for them will originate and expand.

BARRY GOLDWATER

America Answers Left's Challenge

AMERICA's ANSWER to the radical left's anti-Viet Nam challenge is one of the most encouraging and heart-warming developments in years.

All over the country the response to draft-card burnings and demonstrations urging withdrawal of American troops from Southeast Asia has been effective, law-abiding and constructive.

Largely as a result of the well - publicized "teach-ins" against American policy and activities, such as the anti-draft campaign sponsored by leftist student groups, responsible Americans in thousands of cities and towns are competing with each other to find the most effective way to express their support for American men fighting in Viet Nam.

Voluntary enlistments in the armed services are up 50 per cent, and commanding officers in this country are faced with hundreds of demands for transfer to the Asian theater of war from servicemen stationed here.

THE PENTAGON and State Department have been besieged for help and instructions on the best ways to send presents or expressions of support to U. S. servicemen and their South Vietnamese allies against the Communist Viet Cong. Supplies, given voluntarily, are stacked up on West Coast docks because there are no ships which can move them.

These activities have been carried on quietly without benefit of fanfare, hoopla and TV cameras. It is not the kind of hip-hooray, flag-waving patriotism that we associate with World War I or the kind of grim determination which characterized our patriotism in World War II. But is is an expression of the deep appreciation of responsible Americans for the country in which they live, for the cause of freedom throughout the world and of gratitude for the efforts of our servicemen.

It is not accurate to call what is transpiring a resurgence of patriotism. The feeling of pride of country and dedication to freedom has always been present in the hearts of the vast majority of Americans. What we are seeing is an outward expression of this feeling.

AMERICANS DON'T usually wear patriotism on their sleeves: But today's orderly expression is a direct result of the radical left's attempts to undermine American foreign policy and present the world with the erroneous idea that most U. S. citizens are against the effort to halt Communist agression in Viet Nam.

The activities of hundreds of civic organizations, such as the Junior Chamber of Commerce which is sponsoring a special project to support the anti-Communist effort in Asia, coincided with one of the country's major patriotic holidays. There can be no doubt that the nation's reply to the radical left made Veterans Day, 1965, one of the most significant observances in recent years.

All this activity will be interpreted by the far-out liberals as a resurgence of outmoded nationalism characteristic of the days when a new nation could be galvanized with cries like "Remember the Alamo" and "54-40 or Fight."

We will be told we live in a swiftly changing world where such old-fashioned virtues as patriotism and love of country make us introspective and isolationist again.

We will be told that the respect for Flag and country and freedom are "square" in light of current world developments.

Be that as it may, on the Viet Nam issue at least, the radicals have had their day, and it wasn't good enough. The "squares" are in full control of events and of public opinion. They are letting the world know exactly how the American people really feel about Communist aggression.

Foolish Pretense In 'Mainstream'

IT WASN'T TOO many months ago that the pundits were screaming about Barry Goldwater and his obtuse refusal to drift with the country's political mainstream. Mr. Goldwater, we were told every hour on the hour, was trying to peddle policies and ideas alien to the Republican Party. If he moved more to the left, then he would not be isolated from his own party.

That was the argument, and it impressed a good many voters who were terrified that Mr. Goldwater stood for a "radical rightism" which would hurt the GOP and yank the party into a backwater of reactionary thought. But was the Republican Presidential campaign so divorced from the Republican Party's political position?

Americans for Democratic Action has inadvertently offered evidence to the contrary. ADA, as you probably know, prepares a chart of the voting records of all the members of House and Senate. It uses this as an index to the purity of these officeholders. A high ADA rating means that the Congressman in question has gotten high marks for his "liberalism" — and, according to the lights of the pundits, is in the American mainstream. A low rating indicates submission to non-mainstream thought and act.

NOW COMES ADA with its latest listing. If the pundits were right about the ideological split between Mr. Goldwater and his fellow Republicans in Congress, then this would be reflected in the ADA's ratings on the Great Society legislation which Mr. Goldwater opposed.

The statistics are interesting.

Of the 140 Republicans in the House of Representatives, 87 had an ADA rating of 5 or less. Of that 87, 67 rated a flat zero. Of the eight members of the Republican leadership in the House, 6 scored a zero. The two major "mainstream" leaders of the GOP's House delegation, Minority Leader Gerald Ford and Representative Charles Goodell, rated 5 and 11 respectively. Representative Peter Frelinghuysen, of liberal-tending New Jersey, who is also classed as a leading Republican "moderate," scored a low 11— Mr. Ford's rating.

Where then was the claim that Mr. Goldwater did not represent his party's thinking? Actually, had Barry Goldwater remained in the Senate, his rating would have fitted in pretty neatly with those of the House Republicans.

All that talk about the "mainstream" becomes a silly pretense at political profundity. For if there is anything that the Republican Presidential candidate represented, it is the thinking of his party. That was why he got the nomination. And that was why his most stalwart adherents could be found in the House of Representatives.

TO ARGUE otherwise would be to fly in the face of the facts. But it was part of the mythology of 1964 that the Goldwater supporters were able to wrap up the nomination by some kind of abracadabra or mumbo - jumbo. Survey after survey showed that county chairmen, precinct workers, and the organized grassroots of the Republican Party shared Mr. Goldwater's political views and hoped to see them implemented by his election to the Presidency.

No candidate, working through his party organization over a period of time, can win their votes at a convention unless they respect what he stands for. Only a last - minute blitz, like those mounted by Wendell Willkie in 1940 and the backers of General Eisenhower in 1952, can put over a candidate who stands against the philosophy of his party.

In terms of today — and putting aside criticism of the pundits — the voting records of the Republican delegation in the House have considerable significance. They indicate that all the attempts of the liberal-left minority in the GOP to swing the party away from its established principles have not succeeded in bringing it closer to the ADA spirit. The GOP remains the party of conservatism, and only as such can it play an important role in a two - party America.

By devoting their time and efforts to making the GOP a party of liberal leftism, the so-called moderates simply weaken the American political system. If there is a mainstream in America, it flows between a right bank and a left bank. So far, none of the pundits have been able to engineer a one - bank river.

WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY

Student Tuition Fee Row Stirred

IN NEW YORK CITY, presidents and chancellors of the City Colleges are lining up to resign their offices in a huff over a complicated disagreement whose meaning is of extra-parochial concern. Technically, the dispute was over the question whether the principal officials of several of the major New York City colleges had any business publicizing their positions on a proposal of Governor Rockefeller. This proposal had to do with massive administrative adjustments involving at least a technical tuition levy for students attending the City Colleges.

I say technical, because it was carefully explained that the students wouldn't have to pay a penny of the ostensible levy; that the federal government, and Albany, would pick up the entire tab. But the Board of Education of New York City, which hires and fires the presidents and chancellors, was so alarmed at the mere mention of tuition rates for the students that it publicly rebuked the educators who, consulting their hurt feelings, have now announced their resignations.

THE QUESTION does indeed boil down to whether students ought to make some payment against their own tuition fees at the public colleges. The fun began a year ago when Governor Rockefeller, surveying the bleak finances of the State and City, ventured a proposal that students at the City Colleges of New York should pay a mere $100 toward their tuition. The students rallied in protest against this affront on their intellectual, moral, and economic integrity: and New Yorkers were treated, over a period of several weeks, to block - long lines of well - fed students parading around the colleges carrying gaudy pickets calling for the extermination of Rockefeller and anyone else who proposed that they should contribute toward their education a sum of money considerably less than they could earn if they charged union wages for every hour they spent picketing in the course of an academic year.

But the politicians got the picture, and during the mayoralty campaign the two major candidates vied with one another in affirming the principle of "mandated free tuition." The counter-offensive from Governor Rockefeller, if such it could be called, was ineffective. He said nothing to the effect that New York City students should be expected to pay something toward their education considering that students of the State pay something toward theirs, and that students throughout the country pay something toward theirs.

A better argument was advanced by Professor Ernest van den Haag, whose analysis I have used from time to time on pickeeters bloated with self - pity, and that argument is this. It is absolutely predictable that the typical graduate of a New York City college will within a very short period be earning more money per year than is now being earned by the lower and the lower - middle class of New York City taxpapers.

AND IT IS, moreover, demonstrable that New York banks are willing to lend long - term money at virtually no interest to students matriculated in the city colleges, to be repaid several years after graduation Thus the question arises: Is it just to tax poorer people in order to relieve students of the burden of going to a bank and borrowing money which they will be able to repay out of surplus a few years hence? Is it fair to ask a janitor or a taxi-driver to dig into his pocket in order to relieve a man who a few years from now will be a doctor or a lawyer, to avoid his having to go to a bank and borrow a few hundred dollars?

The demagogues are likely, as usual, to win this fight; and no New York politician is likely to explain to the people that if New York City students end up as they are getting a totally free tuition, it will be because money has been teased out of the pockets of other taxpayers; of California taxpayers, for instance, who do charge their students a tuition in the colleges.

New Jewelry Store Opens Here Today

The new home-owned Flair Jewelry store, 1804 Louisville Ave., will hold its grand opening today. The store will open at 9 a.m. and remain open until 9 p.m. This schedule of hours will be followed Monday through Saturday throughout the Christmas shopping season.

Irving Sills, owner and manager of the store, said refreshments will be served today to all those coming by to look over the new facilities. There also will be some free gifts given out and visitors may register for a drawing on a $100 diamond ring.

The store, located in a new shopping district adjacent to several other businesses, will carry name brand merchandise such as Bulova, Accutron, International stainless flatware, Sunbeam appliances and Lovebright diamonds. It will have a complete line of men's and ladies jewelry.

Also the new store will have a service department headed by Charles L. Brown, a local watch and jewelry repairman, who is a registered watchmaker, graduate of the Louisiana Watchmaking School in Natchitoches, and Jewelry Repair Center at Paris Junior College, Paris, Texas. He is married, has two children, and lives on Treasure Island, Monroe.

Sills, who has been in the jewelry business for 11 years with a local jewelry store, is a native of the Twin Cities area. He is married, has four children, and lives on Route One, West Monroe.

Wayside Inn Damaged By Fire Friday

SUDBUR, Mass. (AP) — The Wayside Inn, made famous by the pen of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, was badly damaged by fire Friday.

Built in 1686, the wood frame inn originally was known as the Red Horse Inn but its name was changed in 1897 after Longfellow wrote "Tales of a Wayside Inn" more than a century ago.

George Washington and the Marquis de Lafayette were among the inn's first distinguished guests.

Friday's fire started in the kitchen.

Early American antiques and books were piled outside as flames mushroomed up into the 2 ½-story wood structure and spread to a wing where the guests are housed.

Fire Chief Alfred St. Germain estimated damage at $40,000.

Employes said the blaze was not so damaging as a 1955 fire that destroyed almost all of the rambling structure.

Henry Ford bought the inn and surrounding land in 1923 and it was the Ford Foundation that rebuilt it — at a reported cost of $675,000 — after the 1955 fire.

The inn is administered by the National Trust for Historic Preservation, Inc., a nonprofit educational organization chartered by Congress but supported partly by the Ford Foundation.

Longfellow, who did much of his writing at the inn, wrote the "Tales" after a visit in 1863.

Tass Strikes Out At Visit By McNamara

MOSCOW (AP) — The official Soviet news agency Tass said Friday that the coming visit to Viet Nam by U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara "is a preparation for a new stage in the Viet Nam war."

Tass said that "McNamara's every visit to Viet Nam resulted in wide measures to intensify the war. After his last visit the strength of American and South Vietnamese puppet forces was nearly trebled.

"McNamara is going to Saigon at a time when more and more calls are issued in the United States for stepping up bombardments of North Viet Nam and attacking the biggest industrial centers of the country — Hanoi and Haiphong."

Ex-President Of Congo Admits He Is Defeated

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) —Ex-President Joseph Kasavubu has agreed to serve in Parliament under the government of strongman Gen. Joseph Mobutu who overthrew him Thursday in a bloodless coup, it was disclosed Friday.

Kasavubu has written a letter to Mobutu in which he admits defeat and refers to the 33-year-old army chief of staff as the Congo's "chief of state."

Mobutu showed the letter to African diplomats who visited him Friday afternoon.

Kasavubu, who was elected to the House of Representatives from the city of Leopoldville in elections this spring, said he would take the seat in Parliament entitled him.

As a former president, he also has the right to sit in the Senate for life—a right Mobutu confirmed Thursday. It was not immediately clear which Kasavubu would accept.

The ex-president also said in his letter he would leave his former official residence and accepted Mobutu's offer of a military bodyguard for his protection.

Mobutu, who took over the government effortlessly Thursday and proclaimed himself president for five years under state of emergency rule, told the African diplomats his action was taken "for the good of the country."

Mobutu's premier-designate Leonard Mulamba, meanwhile, opened talks on forming a "government of national union" in the wake of the coup.

In a communique read on Radio Leopoldville, Mulamba said he had conferred with provincial delegates and said he hoped to present a government in parliament today.

Painting Sold For Huge Profit

LONDON (UPI)—A portrait by 17th century Dutch artist Frans Hals that brought only $7 two years ago was sold to a Parisian art dealer Friday for $205,900.

The painting, featured at a sale at Christie's, was bought by art dealer Walter Goetz.

The painting was owned by Mrs. Gisela Kemperdick of Cologne, Germany, who bought it for an undisclosed amount from Leonid Hotinov, a 64-year-old Russian pianist.

Hotinov had bought the painting in 1963 at an auction in Arnheim, Holland for $7.

Mrs. Kemperdick had the painting cleaned and a experts ruled it was an original Hals. The portrait measures 34½ by 25½ inches and is believed by some critics to be

Famed Politician Dies With Cancer

BARRINGTON, Ill. (AP) — William Casey Marland, 48, who became West Virginia governor as a brilliant young lawyer of 34 and nine years later was driving a taxi, died of cancer Friday at his home in this Chicago suburb.

Surgery last August disclosed Marland had cancer of the pancreas. This blow fell four months after he landed a responsible business post in a comeback following a long but successful fight to beat his drinking problem.

Marland had been undergoing cobalt treatments, but his condition became steadily worse. He died at 3:20 a.m. in the home where he lived with his wife Valerie and their four children.

When a reporter discovered the ex-governor driving a Chicago taxi last March, Marland said he had taken the job in the summer of 1962 as part of his program to rehabilitate himself.

"It occured to me that a certain anonymity and retirement could be achieved best by handling a taxi on the streets of Chicago," Marland said in an article he wrote for The Associated Press about his fight with alcoholism. He said he hadn't had a drink in nearly four years.

Last April industrialist James F. Edwards employed Marland as his executive secretary. Edwards, whom Marland as governor once appointed to the West Virginia Racing Commission, has manufacturing interests in several states and also owns Waterford Park race track near Chester, W.Va.

A swift political rise put Democrat Marland in the governor's mansion in Charleston, W.Va., 5½ years after his graduation from the West Virginia University College of Law. When he was inaugurated in January 1953, he became the youngest man to hold the office until then.

John L. Lewis, then president of the United Mine Workers, supported Marland for governor in the 1952 campaign in the coal-producing state.

In his first year as governor, Marland tried unsuccessfully to get the legislature to pass a "severance tax" on production of coal and other natural resources. Over this and other matters, he fell out with his party's leaders in the legislature, especially the State Senate.

The breach lasted throughout Marland's four-year term. The Senate rejected Marland appointments in wholesale lots.

Marland received much credit for West Virginia's prompt and peaceful start toward compliance after the U.S. Supreme Court-outlawed racially segregated schools in 1954. In a characteristically terse news conference statement soon after the court decision, Marland said: "West Virginia will obey the law."

Ineligible for re-election as governor, Marland ran for the U.S. Senate in 1956.

A few months ago it was stated that in the process of expanding the Jonesboro Road which is currently undergoing repairs, Cheniere Lake would be extended to the Jonesboro Road and the spillway would be at the Jonesboro Road rather than at its present location. Has any progress been made on this project?

E. L. Elmore, chairman of the Cheniere Lake Commission said he does not think this statement was ever released, because it is not the intention of those concerned to move the spillway down to the Jonesboro Road. Elmore said the Highway Department has designated no provisions for a dam at the site you mention, and that the department would not allow water to stand along the highway without building such a dam. The only way such a project would be possible would be the building of an oxbow dam upstream from the bridge on the Jonesboro Road in order to keep the water from getting too close to the bridge structure. This project is still in the planning stage by the commission and has not been approved. Neither have funds been appropriated nor land secured. The land between the bridge and the proposed site for the oxbow dam is still privately owned.

What tract of land did the Ouachita Parish School Board recently lease to a chemical company for $20,000? What will this money be used for?

The board on July 6 approved a three-year lease to the Monsanto Company of Houston, Tex., the 20-acre site of the Old Mineral Springs School. The lease of the land (the north half of the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of Section 15-17N-1E) carried a $20,000 bonus to the school board, plus these returns on possible mineral production from the land: one-sixth of oil revenue; one-sixth of gas; $2 per long ton of sulphur; 10 cents per ton on potash; and one-sixth of any other gaseous or hydrocarbon minerals.

The company must drill on the land, the agreement stipulates, within one year, or else terminate the lease or pay $10,000.

The money from the lease goes to the board's general fund for operational expenses of every type.

What is considered maximum jail time? What is the maximum time a person may be sentenced to serve in a parish jail, regardless of whether the crime is a felony or misdemeanor?

A person is sentenced to serve time, either in the parish jail or the state prison, according to the gravity of the offense. The presiding judge may use his own discretion in deciding whether the time will be served in the local jail or in the state penitentiary at Angola. Also the terms of the sentence dealing with or without hard labor is left to the presiding judge of each case.

In Ouachita Parish, the three judges of the Fourth District Court take into consideration, in addition to the gravity of the offense, whether it is a first offender, or a repeater. Also, many other circumstances may enter the case, especially when pre-sentence investigations are ordered. In fact the reason for the pre-sentence investigation is to find out the specific circumstances for each case.

The statutes of the State of Louisiana Revised Code specify the maximum and minimum fines and or sentences for each of the crimes, or offenses, defined in the criminal code.

But there is no limitation as to how much time a person may be sentenced to the local jail.

What is the world's largest lake and how big it is?

Since a lake's definition is a body of water surrounded by land, the Caspian Sea is the largest lake. It is bounded by the Soviet Union and Iran and is fed by eight rivers. If you want to consider this a sea and want only the largest conventional lake, it would be Lake Superior, one of our Great Lakes. The Caspain Sea has an area of 143,550 square miles, is 780 miles long and is 3,215 feet deep. Lake Superior, between the United States and Canada, has an area of 31,800 square miles, is 350 miles long and 1,333 feet deep.

I understand that on or in the cornerstone of the new city hall (in Monroe), there will be emblems or some mention of the Masonic lodges. I would like to know why the Masonic Order, rather than any other fraternal organization.

Monroe Mayor W. L. Howard reports that the Masons asked the city for the opportunity of furnishing the cornerstone for the city hall, at a cost to the Western Star Lodge of some $500 to $600.

The practice of Masons providing the cornerstone for many public buildings is one dating back to the country's beginning, the mayor said, perhaps because of the number of Masons who signed the Declaration of Independence.

The Masonic emblem will go on the city hall cornerstone, but no decision has been made as to what items will be placed into the stone. Many federal buildings in Washington, D. C., as well as buildings throughout the nation, have had cornerstones supplied by Masons — including the White House and the capitol building, Howard said.

However, he added, "If any other organization has something worthwhile or of historical interest for the cornerstone, then we are wide open." Also needed for the city hall are a number of other items, for which city officials report they would be grateful. Among them are five flagpoles which will stand before the structure.

I have frequently read accounts of persons "pledging" the Fifth Amendment in refusing to answer questions before investigative bodies. Exactly what does the Fifth Amendment say?

The fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution, one of the original 10 amendments constituting the Bill of Rights states:

"No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law, nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation."

If you will note, it said ". . . nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself . . .". So, if a person testifying in any case can reasonably assume that his testimony would incriminate him in any way, he may refuse, using this cited constitutional guarantee as his authority, to answer the self-incriminating question. The Fifth Amendment was made a household phrase during investigations by Congress of subversive organizations.

Why is the visiting at the parish jail only permitted on Sunday morning? Since most people that could visit are in church, it seems they would have one day to visit in the week. What are the visiting hours in the other jails in Monroe and West Monroe?

Visiting periods in all of the local jails, parish, Monroe and West Monroe, are arranged for the convenience of all persons involved — as long as it does not interfere with the operations of the agency in charge.

In the case of the Ouachita Parish jail, the visiting hours are from 9:30 to 11 a.m. on Sundays. The sheriff's department, which handles the operations of the jail, pointed out that during the week, Monday through Friday, officers are busy taking persons from the jail down to Fourth District Court for arraignment, sentencing and for other purposes.

To have visiting periods during these days would seriously hamper the operation of the jail.

In the Monroe city jail the visiting hours are from 10 to 11 a.m. Monday through Friday, with no visiting on the weekends.

In West Monroe visiting hours are from 1 to 3 p.m. on Sunday.

Collection Stolen At Vatican Library

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Daring thieves who knew what they were after climbed a 30-foot water pipe to break into the Vatican Library Thursday night and escaped with two ancient and priceless collections of poetry.

The thieves took manuscripts partly handwritten by Petrarch and Tasso, but they ignored other valuable documents in the same glass case.

It was the most spectacular theft in Vatican history. Whoever did it clearly knew both the vatican grounds and the inside of the 500-year-old library intimately, and had the agility of circus acrobats.

Police said they were convinced it was a two-man job. The thieves shimmied up a narrow water pipe, caught on to an adjacent balcony and entered the library by breaking a window.

They cracked a glass case and extracted the manuscripts they were after. They also stole a copy of the famed crown of St. Stephen, first king of Hungary, and a box of relics of Garcia Moreno, assassinated president of Ecuador.

They left untouched a letter from Michelangelo to the superintendent of St. Peter's, a letter written by the painter Raffaello, and an essay from Galileo to the cardinal who later became Pope Urban VIII explaining his theory of how the earth moves around the sun.

Police voiced the theory that a mad collector had commissioned two men to steal on the Petrarch and Tasso texts but that the thieves, attracted by the glitter of the crown and relics container, took them along for themselvss.

They broke into only the glass case containing the manuscript of "Il Canzoniere" by Petrarch — 1304 - 1374 — after Dante perhaps Italy's greatest poet; and a manuscript of works by Tasso — 1544-1596 — whose masterpiece was "Jerusalem Delivered," an epic of the first Crusade.

These were in the library's Sistine Hall where the burglars left untouched other cases containing autographs of Martin Luther, love letters of Henry VIII to Anne Boleyn, and gifts of kings and emperors.

Police, describing the stolen objects, said Petrarch's manuscript filled 72 parchment pages measuring 106 inches in length and 80 inches in width.

Tasso's poems, police said, were written on 152 parchment pages, measuring 118 inches by 89 inches.

The crown of St. Stephen was copied from the original.

President Moreno's box, decorated with enamel and copper, was one he carried in his hands when he was killed Aug. 6, 1875.

First estimates placed the value of the stolen articles at $320,000 but vatican sources called the figure ridiculously low and said it was impossible to place a value on them.

The copy of the crown, historic symbol of sovereignty in Hungary, and the box of Moreno relics were taken from a corridor between the Sistine Hall and the Borgia apartments.

The theft was discovered by Vatican guards Friday morning.

How To Keep Well

By DR. VAN DELLEN

Our Nation is said to be well vaccinated against smallpox but not very well immunized. Almost everyone has been vaccinated once, but the protection tends to wane unless the procedure is repeated at five year intervals. By the end of 20 years, the person has little or no immunity left.

Revaccination every three years is recommended, for those working in hospitals, public health departments, in the armed services, at ports of entry, or air line facilities. Those who may be exposed to the disease because of travel or residence in areas where smallpox is rife need annual revaccination.

Some public health authorities believe that the disease will be eradicated in 20 years. When this time comes there will be no need for vaccination. Until then we are faced with an unusual problem. Shall we stop vaccination and risk getting a disease that kills 3 out of every 10 victims or continue to assume the gamble of developing complications from this protective procedure?

Many medicos have never seen a case of smallpox. The last smallpox death in the United States occurred in 1949 when an exposed person entered the country, developed the disease and infected others. Since then more than 200 deaths have been traced to the vaccine.

Routine vaccination should be continued because fatalities can be avoided by treating reactions promptly. In addition side effects are less likely to occur when the initial (primary) vaccination is given in early childhood and immunity is maintained by revaccination every three to five years. Delay in giving the primary injection until adulthood increases the danger of developing complications.

We also know that reactions to the primary vaccination are more likely to occur in children with blood disorders, eczema, and other forms of dermatitis. This is overcome by using a weaker vaccine when the skin is relatively clear. Vaccination is dangerous for adults with certain malignancies and other conditions who are being treated with cortisone, nitrogen mustard, or radiation thereapy.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

TOMORROW: Hospital Accidents.

BEER AND PREGNANCY

A reader writes: I would like to know if it is harmful to the unborn baby if the mother drinks beer while carrying. Could it cause the baby to be retarded or deformed?

REPLY

Beer in moderation is not harmful and does not cause deformity or retardation. The main problem is calories and weight.

BY THE BUNCH

N. K. writes: Is it better to take vitamin A in carrots or capsules?

REPLY

Natch — in carrots. However, diversify your meals by eating other foods, containing vitamin A, such as asparagus, broccoli, cheese, eggs, milk, liver and prunes.

C. C. writes: Is a wood house more healthful than one of stone or brick?

REPLY

No. In some parts of the country one material has advantages over another, but I doubt if health enters the picture.

CATS AND COLDS

M. G. writes: Can a cold be caught from a cat?

REPLY

No, because only man and monkeys can transmit the cold virus.

Deadline For Home Lighting Contest Noted

The deadline for entering the annual Christmas Home Lighting Contest, co - sponsored by the City of Monroe and the News-Star — World Publishing Corp., was set Friday at 5 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 13.

Home owners throughout the city may enter but all entries must be postmarked no later than 5 p.m. on the final day of the contest. An official entry blank may be found on page 2-A in today's Morning World.

Actual judging of the winners will be an event of Friday, Dec. 17. Decorating of the homes should be completed by 5 p.m. on that day.

Names of the winners in each of the city's 12 contest districts will be announced in issues of the Morning World and News-Star on Wednesday, Dec. 22. The single overall winner will also be announced at that time.

To be eligible for prize, a person must be a resident of the City of Monroe or must reside in one of the adjacent built-up areas on the east side of the Ouachita River. Entrants must fill out and return the official entry blanks listing the districts in which they live.

District winners will receive $100 and the top overall winner will net an additional $150.

Many organizations have endorsed the aim of the contest to make Monroe the best Christmas lighted city in Louisiana. Officials said the anticipated large number of entries is a reflection of civic pride.

Gold Outflow Resumes During Past Week

NEW YORK (AP) — The outflow of the nation's monetary gold stock resumed during the past week after a three-month respite with a loss of $80 million.

The drain brought to $13.8 billion the dollar value of the nation's monetary gold. The total gold outflow so far in 1965 has been $1.57 billion. During the comparable period of 1964 the loss was $135 million.

The gold drain was believed to have reflected primarily purchases by France, which has been pursuing a policy of converting its surplus dollars into gold.

The U.S. gold drain directly reflects the nation's balance-of-payments deficit, which totaled more than $9 billion in 1964 and is expected to amount to about $1.5 billion in 1965.

Strong Winds Whipping Up Deep Snows

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Strong northerly winds whipped up a near-blizzard Friday in parts of several states as a steadily deepening snow cover measured 18 inches or more in northeastern Minnesota.

The Weather Bureau issued heavy snow warnings for adjoining sections of Minnesota, Wisconsin and upper Michigan, and said this area would get three to eight inches of more snow by this morning.

The bureau's warning of hazardous traveling applied also to northeastern Nebraska and northwestern Iowa. The storm already had laid a cover of snow as deep as six inches in some places from the Rocky Mountains across parts of Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, the Dakotas and Nebraska.

The heart of the storm, centered in early afternoon along the Minnesota-Iowa border, was moving northeastward. Its collision with warm air moving up from the Gulf of Mexico set off general rains and occasional thunderstorms from the middle Mississippi Valley to the eastern Great Lakes region.

The storm's drift to the northeast pulled severe cold down from Canada and into the northern Midwest. Cut Bank, Mont., which had a reading of 10 below zero Friday morning, was only two degrees warmer by afternoon.

The subzero cold was spreading into North Dakota. The Weather Bureau said freezing temperatures were likely as far south as southern Kansas and Missouri and central Illinois by this morning.

The far fringes of the storm reached both coasts. The weather was rainy in the Pacific Northwest. New England got snow, as much as three inches in six hours in Vermont.

Fair weather continued in waterlogged Southern California where 400 persons still were marooned in the mountains by washouts caused by two weeks of heavy rains.

The fair weather extended eastward to the southern Great Plains which basked in unprecedented warmth for so late in the season. Record highs included 85 at Houston and 83 at Beaumont, in Texas and 79 at Little Rock, Ark.

Pick Made For Salvation Army National Head

NEW YORK (AP) — Commissioner Samuel Hepburn, 64, of Chicago, has been named national commander of the Salvation Army, it was announced here Friday.

Hepburn succeeds Commissioner Holland French, 71, who is retiring Jan. 14 after 50 years in the Salvation Army.

Hepburn, currently territorial commander of the central territory with headquarters in Chicago, also served in the western New York division based in Buffalo, the eastern territory based in New York, the southern Pennsylvania division with headquarters in Philadelphia, the western territory based in San Francisco, and finally the central territory.

10 Days Of Rain Causing Slides

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Ten days of heavy rains were blamed Friday for a series of landslides around Puerto Sanches in far southern Chile.

Authorities said at least five persons were dead and roads were blocked. Large areas were without electricity when a slide hit the government-owned power plant at Puerto Aricen.

Missing Heiress Said To Have Baby

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — A family friend said Friday that Swiss heiress Anna Marie Hitz arrived here, broke, with her German husband Nov. 2. She had to be taken at once to a maternity hospital where she gave birth to a daughter but the friend did not know where she is now.

Doctors at Centro Medico Maternity Hospital said a woman giving the name of Anna Marie Hitz Bierschenk gave birth to a daughter Nov. 3 but had left, giving no forwarding address.

In Washington, D.C., her mother, Anna Spring, reported she had received a cablegram purporting to come from her daughter in Caracas saying she had married Ulrich Bierschenk, a German Embassy watchman.

The friend of the Hitz family told The Associated Press that Anna Marie "had to be taken to a maternity clinic immediately upon her arrival with her husband."

"They were totally broke," the friend said. "They had no money to pay even hotel bills so we took her to the clinic and gave them some money. Later on we saw the baby girl.

"Anna Marie had advised Bierschenk to go to the Germany Embassy to seek ways to get back to the United States, and that is the last we heard of them."

Mrs. Spring, a housekeeper at Washington's St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Cathedral, said the cablegram she received could have come from anyone. She asked the telegraph company and police in Caracas to try to trace the telegram, which had no return address.

Mrs. Spring, who resumed her maiden name after a divorce from Swiss millionaire Othmar John Hitz, said this was the cablegram:

"Have married. Birth certificates show I am 18. Stop this ridiculous persecution. I am happy now."

Mrs. Spring said if it could be established the cablegram was from her daughter, she would go to Caracas, adding: "You cannot stop a girl if she is happy."

Mrs. Spring said her daughter was last seen about a month ago in California with Bierschenk, a former Utah State University student. Anna Marie met Bierschenk while doing part-time work at the Germany Embassy in Washington.

Anna Marie ran away from home last July. Mrs. Spring said she wrote or telephoned regularly until a month ago. Mrs. Spring reported her daughter's disappearance to Washington police last week.

Anna Marie was the subject of a custody battle between her father and Mrs. Spring until he died in 1958. Hitz had business interests in Venezuela and a Venezuelan court had given Mrs. Spring custody. But Hitz took Anna Marie and sent her to a number of different schools. Mrs. Spring traced her daughter to Switzerland and returned with her to Washington.

A legal guardian is said to be in charge of Hitz's estate and Anna Marie will be unable to touch the money until she is 21. Hitz built a coffee business into a fortune estimated at from $10 million to $30 million.

Anna Marie and Bierschenk gave a middle-class hotel address when she entered the clinic but the hotel receptionist said they are not there. He added that Bierschenk stayed while Anna Marie was in the clinic, then left without a forwarding address after paying his bill. The rent was $7 a day.

The family friend, who declined to be quoted by name, said: "We also told them to go see lawyer Rafael Naranjo Osty, who handled her father's business here long ago. We thought maybe he could help her if she thought she had any claim to her father's money."

The lawyer's office would not comment.

Dr. Luis Leamus, who delivered the baby, said:

"I had the watch duty that night when she came as an emergency case without her own physician. The delivery was normal and she was very calm. She left the hospital three days later and neither the hospital nor myself has yet been paid."

Robert Brunet Is Offensive Leader

RUSTON (Special) — Robert Brunet, sophomore halfback from Larose-Cutoff, was Louisiana Tech's leading scorer and rusher during the 1965 grid campaign.

Brunet scored seven touchdowns and gained 477 yards during the season, averaging 4.3 yards per carry. He also caught seven passes and had a 93-yard kickoff return, longest play for the Canines.

Billy Laird wound up his career in fine style, connecting on 109 of 179 aerials for 1,295 yards and seven touchdowns. He completed 60.9 per cent of his passes.

Wayne Davis was the leading receiver, setting records with 59 receptions for 611 yards during the campaign. Maurice Greer had 27 catches for 296 yards and Jim Jones 19 for 275 yards. Freshman Ken Liberto caught 11 for 144 yards.

Senior Tommy Robertson led in interceptions with three for 65 yards, one going for a TD. Linebacker Bob McElhenon had two for the campaign.

Jim Jones averaged 38.2 yards on 10 kicks and Paul Clark 36.0 on 30 punts. Jim Stringer led in punt returns with 14 for 170 yards with Butch Daniel returning 11 for 71 stripes. Richie Golmon had eight kickoff returns for 127 yards while Brunet had five for 144 yards and Jones four for 63 yards.

Golmon was second in rushing with 397 yards followed by Tom Linder with 161, Eddie Taylor 141, and Buzz Clark with 64 yards.

Phil Robertson, frosh quarterback, gave Laird good support with 19 completions in 39 attempts for 265 yards and three TD's. Golmon and Jones each had three TD's in ranking behind Brunet in scoring. Speedy Campbell kicked 14 conversions and had one field goal.

Trojan Defense Stops Islanders

SICILY ISLAND — Sacred Heart used a rugged defense and a powerful offense to advance to the quarter finals in the state Class B playoffs by defeating Sicily Island 32-6 here Friday night.

The Trojans of Ville Platte, champions of District 4-B for the first time in 17 years, will play host to the District 1-B winner, Arcadia, next Friday night.

Arcadia advanced by defeating Mangham 26-7 in a bi-district game Thursday night.

It was just the second loss handed the Tigers of Coach Raymond Peace, rated 5 in the final state Class B poll, finishing a successful season with a 9-2 record and the District 3-B crown.

Led by halfback Mike Landy and Henry Dupree plus the hard charging antics of fullback Elliot Manuel, Sacred Heart scored touchdowns in the last three periods and a field goal in the second quarter to take the win, their ninth of the year.

Sicily Island, facing a defense that had yielded only 12 points all season in recording a 6-0 district record, managed to enter Trojan territory only once, scoring in the last quarter.

After a scoreless first period, Sacred Heart set up operations on its own 36 and began a 64 yard drive that resulted in the first score. At his own 43, quarterback Ted Lemoye tossed to end Brent Manuel for a 46 yard gainer to the Tiger's 11 and Dupree went over five plays later for the score. Extra point kicker Rick Borg added the PAT for a 7-0 lead.

Two plays after Sicily Island hauled in the ensuing kickoff, Trojan Paul Fontenot fell on a Billy Ray McCarty fumble at the Tiger's 21 yard line.

Three plays gained only three yards and Borg shocked the crowd by booting a 34 yard field goal to give Sacred Heart a 10-0 lead just before the half. It was Borg's third field goal of the season.

The Trojans quickly make it 17-0 after intermission.

Sicily Island took the kickoff but was forced to punt. The Tiger's kicker, McCarty, faced a wind in excess of 25 miles an hour and the ball covered only 10 yards to his own 34.

On the first play Landry went around end for 18 yards to the 16 and Lemoyne kept for a 12 yard gainer to the four. Manuel then plunged over for the score and Borg added the extra point.

Sicily Island's lone touchdown followed a pass interception by Randy McDonald at his 35 yard line . . . Aided by a 15 yard penalty for roughing the kicker after the drive bogged down, the Tigers went on to score with the big gainer a 28 yard pass from halfback Carl Ready to McCarty at the four.

Ready burst through the middle on the next play and capped an 11-play drive that covered 65 yards, making the score 17-6 after McCarty's kick attempt was wide.

The last touchdown of the game came with less than one minute remaining. With two successive 14 yard gainers by Dupree, Sacred Heart moved the ball from their own 47 to the Tiger's six in six plays, where Lemoyne faked a pass and rounded left end for the touchdown.

Borg's PAT was no good.

Sicily Island, with sophomores Ready and Jerry Watson doing most of the work, managed only 92 yards on the ground. Watson picked up 22, Ready 25 while McCarthy had 23.

Landry ended the night as the game's leading rusher with 63 yards, followed closely by Manuel who had 56. Dupree had 35 and Peter Savoy 26 as the Sacred Heart crew gained 189 yards on the ground and 69 in the air for a total offense of 258 yards.

The Trojans led in first downs 14-6 but both clubs were hurt by penalties, with Sicily Island being set back 102 yards and Sacred Heart 56.

West Monroe Gets Lopsided Triumph

CALHOUN (Special) — West Monroe used a balanced scoring attack and a strong defense to rout Calhoun 75-39 here Friday night.

The Rebels put five men in the double digit bracket as they led all the way.

West Monroe was in front 15-8 at the end of one quarter and led 35-15 at halftime.

The Rebs, who are now 3-1, open district 1-AAA play next Tuesday night when they host Bossier City.

Leading the way for West Monroe were Johnny Watkins with 15 points, Marvin Smith with 14, George Schaeffer with 13, Ronnie Wiggins who had 11 and Floyd Reeves who netted 10.

Wiggins, who has just joined the Rebel cagers after the end of football season, was outstanding on the boards with 13 rebounds. Four other Rebs had eight rebounds each; they were Bill Wade, Gary Brewster, Richard Crockett and Reeves.

Schaeffer was cited for his tremendous defense.

Pelicans' Power Too Strong For Bearcats

By JIM MATHIS
World Sports Writer

RUSTON — The Homer Pelicans showed why they're rated as the No. 3 double-A team in the state as they overpowered the Ruston Bearcats for a 19-7 bi-district playoff decision here Friday night before a packed house.

The Pels collected the victory on the strength of a devastating ground attack, which was led by 140 pound halfback Tommy Beavers.

Homer picked up 250 yards rushing while holding Ruston to 173 yards total offense.

Beavers scored the first touchdown of the game on the second the Pels' play from scrimmage as he broke off-tackle for a 46 yard jaunt.

The tally came with 8:46 left to play in the opening stanza and was a preview of things to come for Homer.

The Pelicans scored again the next time they got the ball. This time the Pels showed that the shortest distance to the goal is a straight line, as they marched 85 yards, mostly on off-tackle plays. The drive consumed just eight plays, with the biggest coming when quarterback Jimmy White scampered 42 yards on a roll-out. The 165 pound White also covered the final five yards on a roll - out after the Bearcats had adjusted their defense to the off - tackle plays.

The score came with just 12 seconds left to play in the first quarter.

The Bearcats finally found the scoreboard near the end of the first half when fullback Allen Shorey bulled over from the one yard line. Charles Alexander added the extra point with 3:31 left in the half.

The Pelicans came back after intermission to take the kickoff and mount a 70 yard scoring drive. The big play of the drive came when the Bearcats had forced the Pels to punt but a Ruston man was called for roughing the kicker and the ball was placed at the Cats' 38 yard-line with Homer still in control.

Homer took eight plays to score, the tally coming when White scored on another roll-out that covered ten yards.

Benny Prince added the Pelicans' only PAT of the night with 3:49 left in the third period.

The rest of the contest amounted to a rushing duel between the Bearcats' Shorey and the Pelicans' Beavers.

The Cats ace came out on top after the statistics were added up as he collected 114 yards to Beavers' 104.

Much of the Pelicans success resulted from their ability to catch Ruston quarterback Billy Bahm in the act of passing. The Homer defenders threw Bahm for a minus 22 yards, and allowed him to complete only one pass for ten yards.

Homer's defensive unit also managed to come up with the big play as they stopped Ruston within their own ten yard-line on four occasions.

Neville Tigs Win From J-H Tigers

Neville picked up its first basketball victory of the young cage season here Friday night, defeating Jonesboro's defending AA champs 64-61.

Both teams are now 1-2. Neville opens district action in its next contest, hosting Byrd of Shreveport next Tuesday night. Jonesboro will be at Natchitoches Tuesday.

The see-saw battle went right down to the wire. Neither team ever led by more than six points and the lead switched hands several times in the last period.

Neville went in front for good with about two minutes left when Petey Smith connected, making the score 62-61.

Lance Dreyer iced it up with seven seconds left on two free shots.

Jonesboro used three men who competed in the state football playoffs against Jesuit Thursday night and all performed well.

James Earley popped in 14 points, Leslie Mize had 12 and Randy Phillips added six. The Jonesboro Bengals were led by 6-3 scoring ace Don Chandler who had nine field goals and five free shots for 23 points.

Charles Floyd had 20 points and 11 rebounds to pace Neville while Jay Eppinette got 18 points and 12 rebounds.

Club Charges NFL Is Sitting With Players

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A spokesman for the San Diego Chargers of the American Football League said Friday that National Football League representatives are attempting to coerce college players in advance of today's professional drafts.

Al LoCasale, personnel director for the Chargers, said he has heard that the NFL has hired at least 250 representatives, called "babysitters," to entice college players away from the AFL during the drafts.

LoCasale said that the NFL men tell the players that if they do not agree to go to a site where they would not be available to the AFL and do not agree to sign with an NFL team, they will not be selected by any NFL club.

"One college coach called me today and said that he had to throw some NFL representatives off his campus Wednesday," LoCasale said. "His team is in a bowl game and, with the 'babysitters' around, he said his players couldn't concentrate."

The AFL had scheduled a draft for Nov. 20, saying it had to do so to combat the NFL's babysitting practice. It was latter rescheduled for today.

LoCasale said the NFL used the "no sign-no draft" technique to some extent last year, but is using it in more extensively this year.

"They're scaring the dickens out of some boys, and I'm tired of them coming out like white knights," LoCasale said.

He referred to NFL criticism of an alleged AFL secret draft.

Royals Rally In Defeating N. Y. Knicks

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Royals overcame an early New York lead Friday night and defeated the Knickerbockers in a 117-113 National Basketball Association game.

The Royals won their eighth straight home victory over New York with the season's largest crowd of 7,851 watching.

Willis Reed's shooting helped the Knicks to a 30-16 lead with 3-13 left in the first quarter. Coach Jack McMahon then sent in Happy Hairston to replace Wayne Embry at the job of covering Reed, and the Royals began to make up for lost time.

They closed to 32-28 at the end of the quarter behind the shooting of Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas, and pulled to a 57-56 lead after a nip-and-tuck second quarter.

The game remained close until the final period when the Royals pulled ahead to a 100-97 lead with 8:45 left. The Knicks closed the gap, but could not get any closer than the final score.

For the second game in a row the Royals, led by Robertson's 30 points, put four men over the 20-point mark. Reed paced the Knicks with 30 points.

Lincoln Worried About Position With San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Keith Lincoln, the glamor boy of the American Football League, is worried about his future with the San Diego Chargers.

"This has been a disappointing year for me," said the 26-year-old Lincoln, who has been riddled with injuries. "I just hope he (Coach Sid Gillman) won't give up on me."

Lincoln was the all-league fullback in 1963 and 1964 but was slowed by a thigh injury and missed the first three games of the season.

He slammed his helmet against his locker after the 20-20 Thanksgiving Day tie with the Buffalo Bills and admitted he was thinking about next season.

"I hope he (Gillman) doesn't trade me," said Keith. "I like it here. I hope I can help the team win the championship this year, but it's next year I'm thinking about."

Lincoln didn't see action against the Bills until the second half when he returned a kickoff 27 yards. He carried the ball once for three yards.

But it was Lincoln who sparked the Chargers in their fourth-quarter comeback. He took a John Hadl swing pass and raced 66 yards up the sideline to set up a field goal that cut the Bills' lead to 17-13.

The former Washington State star was on the bench while rookie Gene Foster from Arizona State ran in his place. Foster dropped a touchdown pass from Hadl in the second quarter and gained only 10 yards in the game.

Foster started ahead of Lincoln "because Foster has been looking better than Lincoln," Gillman said. Lincoln has 125 yards on only 31 carries, while Foster has 264 yards on 94 tries.

"But I'm hoping Keith is ready now. In the last quarter, he started to look like the Lincoln we used to know," Gillman said.

Bench Warmers Notch Victory Against Lakers

BALTIMORE (AP) — Little Johnny Egan, who came off the bench to spark a Baltimore comeback in the third quarter, scored the final four points Friday night and insured a 110-107 National Basketball Association victory over the Los Angeles Lakers.

Two other parttime performers, Johnny Green and Don Ohl, also contributed to the victory as Baltimore broke a 97-97 tie after blowing a 10-point lead midway through the final period.

Green, who like Egan played only 15 minutes, tapped in a missed field goal attempt by Ohl to break the 97-97 tie, grabbed a rebound which led to a free throw by Kevin Loughery and drove the length of the court for a field goal which put Baltimore ahead 102-99.

Woodlawn Is 13-2 Winner

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Woodlawn's defensive line stopped Terrebonne of Houma cold on offense and won 13-2 in their triple-A first round playoff game Friday night.

Woodlawn, champion of District 1-AAA, scored first in the third period on a 24-yard pass from Terry Bradshaw to Russell Evans and then got the clincher in the final period on a three-yard run by Evans.

Woodlawn is now 10-1-1, and Terrebonne finished 8-3. Terrebonne was runnerup in District 5-AAA.

Fair Park Wins Behind Smith

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—V. T. Smith racked up two touchdowns Friday night to lead Fair Park of Shreveport to a 19-12 triple-A victory over Jesuit of New Orleans in bi-district playoffs.

Smith took a scoring pass from John Miller—a short two yarder that climaxed a 58-yard drive—then got another on an end run that came after an 87-yard march.

The clinching tally came on a 71-yard march in eight plays with Harry Watson sweeping around end from 15 yards out in the final period.

Miller's passing broke the Jesuit defenses. He hit on 11 of 19 throws for 184 yards. The win moves Fair Park into the semifinals.

LaRose-Cutoff, 33-7

LAROSE-CUTOFF, La. (AP) —The power running of Carl Fitzo paced LaRose-Cutoff to a 33-7 victory over Abbeville in a double-A bi-district playoff Friday night.

Fitzo scored three touchdowns on runs of 1, 10 and 54 yards. LaRose-Cutoff had a 20-0 fourth quarter lead before the visitors were able to score.

Boyer To Plead No Contest In Assault Case

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — An attorney for New York Yankees third baseman Clete Boyer said Friday he would enter a plea of no contest Monday at Boyer's trial on charges of assault and battery.

Boyer will not appear when the case is called in Municipal Court, said William Leonard, the attorney. Boyer recently took an off-season job with a trucking company "and does not feel he could ask the time off to appear here," Leonard said.

Boyer and Yankee outfielder Roger Maris were charged last spring after Jerome Modzelewski, 25 accused them of slugging him in a bar fight. Maris was found innocent at his trial.

Kinder, 13-12

KINDER, La. (AP) — Ron Fontenot passed and ran Kinder to a 13-12 victory over St. Francis Friday night.

St. Francis scored first on a 15-yard run by Pete Calliuet, but Fontenot pitched 20 yards to Jim Green to tie the score at the half.

St. Francis took the lead on a 20-yard pass from John Hebert to Ron Bergeron, but Fontenot ripped off end for four yards and the tying touchdown, and plowed over from two yards out for the winning PAT.

Central Scores Amite Conquest

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Central scored two touchdowns in the second quarter and added two more in the fourth en route to a 27-0 victory over Amite in class AA playoff Friday night.

Marshall Bernard accounted for two scores, one on a two-yard run and the other on a 16-yard pass to Gaynell Whittington.

Garry Sides scored early in the second period with a 21-yard gallop and Jack Milligan raced 48 yards shortly before the half for the other score.

Auderich Leads Morgan City

MORGAN CITY, La. (AP) — A fourth period drive riding on Mike Auderich's passing boosted Morgan City to a 21-19 victory over Plaquemine in double-A bi-district playoffs Friday night.

Morgan City opened its drive on its 23. Auderich completed five of six passes, with the final touchdown throw going to Earl Goula.

The victory matches Morgan City against Reserve next Friday night in Morgan City.

Grambling Foe In Pecan Bowl Against NDS

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Grambling College of Louisiana was picked Friday night to oppose North Dakota State University in the Pecan Bowl for the Mid-West region NCAA College Division title here Saturday, Dec. 11.

North Dakota State, with a 10-0 record, is the nation's ranked college division team.

Grambling wound up with an 8-2 record by smashing Lincoln of Missouri 54-18 in its final game Thursday.

It will be the second annual Pecan bowl game. State College of Iowa beat Lamar Tech 19-17 last year.

Lions Score Win At Hawk Expense

Ouachita had little trouble with little Kilbourne and got almost everyone into the scoring act as the Lions rolled over the Hawks, 72-39 at the Lion gym Friday night.

Gary Armstrong and Jimmy Hicky led the offensive charge for the Lions with Hicky also sparking the Ouachita defense with eight individual steals.

Armstrong, who hit on eight of 13 field goal attempts for a 61 percentage, finished the night with 19 points and as high man for both teams.

Hicky followed with 17 points including seven field goals on 14 attempts for 50 per cent.

Arthur Earl, with 10 caroms, was the top rebounder for the Lions, who picked off 42 for the night. Mike Leath, who scored only two free throws, came up with eight rebounds in the contest.

Seventeen floor mistakes in the contest were costly for the Hawks as Ouachita constructed a 35-16 halftime lead.

Ouachita hit on 30 of 65 shots from the floor, 46 per cent, and Kilbourne made good nine of 34 shots from the floor, 24 per cent.

Kilbourne on the other hand hit 75 per cent of its free shots, 21 of 28 and Ouachita got 55 per cent of its gratis tosses, 11 of 20 from the line.

The Kilbourne girls rolled to their 12th straight win of the season, taking a 41-30 decision over Ouachita. Cockrell punched in 22 to lead the Hawks and Debbie Guinn hit 26 for the lady Lions.

Ouachita meets Kilbourne again Tuesday night in a road game.

ST. JAMES, La. (AP)—Ridgewood, defending class B state class B champions, cashed in two fumbles and added a 68-yard touchdown march to beat St. James 18-7 in bi-district playoffs Friday night.

Al Lambert recovered the first St. James fumble on the St. James 33. Four plays later, Ken Lyles burst eight yards over left tackle for the score. The second St. James fumble was at their 20. Lyles got the touchdown on a two-yard burst.

The long drive in the fourth quarter was capped by Rodney Salvaggio's five yard burst.

A fumble also led to the St. James score. It came on the Ridgewood 12. Five plays later Ronald Ordoyne went over from one yard out.

USL Back Inked To Steeler Pact

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers activated end Jerry Simmons and center Ron Henson Friday for Sunday's National Football League game with the Cleveland Browns at Pitt Stadium.

The Steelers also announced the signing of the second junior eligible who was drafted last year. He is Lonny Price, 6-foot-1, 205-pound running halfback from the University of Southwestern Louisiana.

Kel Nagle, who lost the U.S. Open title in a playoff with Gary Player, has won the New Zealand Open four times. He won the Australia PGA crown four times and the Australia Open once.

Barmore Will Captain Tech Basketballers

RUSTON (Special) — Leon Barmore, 5-10 junior guard from Ruston, will captain Louisiana Tech's basketball team this season.

The Bulldog squad is without a senior this campaign and Robertson selected the smooth ball handling Barmore to be the team leader.

"Barmore is the top scorer back from last year. He averaged 12.5 points per game last season when the Techsters surprisingly finished in a second place tie in the league race. Barmore ranked second to the graduated Jerry Hood in scoring last year for Tech.

Robertson is preparing his squad for the opener against Little Rock University here Wednesday night. "We've got a long way to go before then because we will be playing a team that opened its regular schedule about 10 days ago," Robertson said.

The Tech coach still hasn't settled on a starting lineup although Barmore, 6-11 Richard Peek, 6-10 Bob Watson, 6-3 Jon Pat Stephenson, and 6-4 Malcolm Smith got the call in the scrimmage game against the frosh won by the varsity 90-70.

Peek and Watson were impressive in rebounding while Stephenson led the defense. First game floor mistakes were evident and Robertson was unhappy with the team's ability to run offensive patterns.

The Canines knocked off Thanksgiving Day and resumed the practice pace Friday night.

After the opener against Little Rock, the Techsters stay home the next night to face Harding College. Coach Don Landry's Pups also play both nights, meeting Jacksonville Baptist Junior College and Tyler Junior College in consecutive preliminaries.

Varsity games will start at 8 o'clock with the prelims at 6 o'clock.

Jack Nicklaus In Cajun Lead

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, gunning for his sixth victory of the year, tamed the Oakbourne Country Club course with a five-under-par 67 Friday and took the second round lead in the $32,000 Cajun Classic, final stop on the PGA national tour.

The 25-year-old Nicklaus, who said he wasn't driving well but "got good play out of my irons and putted good," had a 36 hole score of 136. He had a one stroke lead over Bert Weaver and Babe Hiskey.

Weaver, winner of the Jacksonville Open earlier this year, and Hiskey, a tour rookie, each had 69-68—137.

Paul Bondeson, who fired a 68 over the par 72, 6-555-yard course for the first round lead, slipped to a 72. He remained in contention at 138.

Others in the 138 bracket were Miller Barber, the defending champion; Al Kelley, Fred Haas, Rex Baxter, who won the tourney two years ago, and Tom Nieporte.

Barber and Jim Feree had 68s, the best rounds of the day. Ferree put his six-under score with an opening round 75 for a 141.

Nicklaus, the two-time Masters champion, has already earned $138,000 to take this year's money title. He fashioned his 33-34—67 during the morning when the wind was gusty.

He had trouble with sand traps the first day, but it was much different Friday. Twice he blasted out of bunkers to get birdies from three feet away.

"Yesterday was the first sand shot I have hit in three weeks," he said. "Even the duffers have trouble in the sand if they lay off a while."

Young Dudley Wysong, who had a fine 67 for a 139, got a birdie on one hole the hard way. His tee shot on No. 16 — a par 4, 388-yard hole — went into the water. He dropped out, taking a stroke, and then banged a five-iron into the cup from 175 yards out for his three.

Tournament sponsors decided Friday to up the purse to $32,000. It has been $30,178 with the odd dollars coming from television revenue. The Cajun classic, played in the smallest town in the PGA circuit, still has the tour's smallest purse.

Praise Pours In For 'Bums' Top Rookie

PLAYA DEL REY, Calif. (AP) — Second baseman Jimmy Lefebvre of the Los Angeles Dodgers was accepting congratulations Friday after being named National League Rookie of the Year.

"It's fantastic," said the one-time Dodger bat boy. It makes me feel real good."

The 22-year-old infielder, who lives here, received 13 votes from a 20-man committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America to win the award.

The Houston Astros' second baseman, Joe Morgan, got four votes and Frank Linzy, San Francisco relief pitcher, three. It was the same committee that named Willie Mays of San Francisco as the league's Most Valuable players.

Lefebvre, the Cinderella Kid of the Dodgers, was a key factor in the club's drive to the National League pennant and its win over the Minnesota Twins in the World Series.

Lefebvre was so little known in spring training that few could spell or pronounce his name. It's pronounced La-fever.

He recalled this period Thursday.

"I was called to the Dodgers in spring training and I wasn't even on the roster. I had to make the ball club but I thought they were going to send me back to Spokane. I had to show what I could do."

Captain-shortstop Maury Wills and player-coach Jim Gilliam drilled him in the skills of playing the position.

He went on the play in 157 games and star in the Series. Although he batted only .250, Lefebvre scored 57 runs and batted in 69. Among his 136 hits were 12 home runs, 4 triples and 21 doubles.

The Dodgers signed Lefebvre out of Morningside High School in nearby Inglewood in 1962 and placed him at Reno in the California League.

Pro Picker Sees Weekend Wrapup

By MIKE RATHET

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cleveland Browns can clinch the Eastern Conference title in the National Football League by beating Pittsburgh Sunday while both New York and St. Louis lose.

The triple play will happen, it says here.

Four peerless pro prognosticator compiled a 7-2-3 record last week for 67-39-6 on the season and a .632 percentage. Here we go again (all games Sunday):

National League

Cleveland 42, Pittsburgh 17 — The Jimmy Browns, who had trouble with the Steelers in their first meeting, will have considerably less trouble this time. With Bill Nelson injured, either veteran Ed Brown or little-used Tommy Wade will have to do the quarterbacking for Pittsburgh.

Green Bay 28, Los Angeles 7 — The Packers' slumbering offense showed signs of picking up against Minnesota last week while their defense shows signs of being able to control a game almost by itself. With Bill Munson injured, Roman Gabriel will do the passing for the Rams.

Chicago 35, New York 21 — Gale Sayers will score his 13th touchdown for the Bears. He needs it to tie the rookie record held by Bill Howton of Green Bay. The Giants just don't seem to have enough offense to handle Chicago.

Philadelphia 27, St. Louis 20 — The Cardinals, likewise, don't seem to be able to get their offense rolling despite the fact that Buddy Humphrey was an able substitute at quarterback for Charley Johnson last week. The Eagles should be able to get by a slipping club.

Minnesota 35, San Francisco 31 — The last time they met the Vikings won 42-21 and this one figures to be the same kind of struggle. Here's a vote for Norm Van Brocklin, who may need a victory to save his stomach.

Dallas 28, Washington 17 — With the exception of that fatal, much-discussed interception, Don Meredith moved the Cowboys sharply last week, and Bob Hayes has been a constant plus. The Redskins still need more offensive punch.

American League

New York 35, Boston 17 — Joe Namath passed for four touchdowns last week, and the rookie Jet quarterback figures to have a comparable day against the Patriots. Babe Parilli will have one advantage — the Boston boo birds can't reach him.

Pro Football Begins Annual Coin Battles

NEW YORK (AP) — The National and American football leagues, which have thrown charges and counter-charges at each other, will begin throwing money at the nation's top college football players today minutes after beginning their simultaneous — but separate — drafts.

If last year is any indication, the drafts again will touch off a multi-million dollar battle for player talent, and some high choices will sign contracts only minutes after their names are chalked up on the draft blackboards.

Kentucky quarterback Rick Norton, who appears to be the No. 1 pro-type passer among a small group of standout college signal-callers, could turn out to be the big name in the competition between the two league as did Joe Namath last year.

Norton might be picked on the first round of each draft by the two new teams — the NFL's Atlanta Falcons and the AFL's Miami Dolphins. Both become operational for the 1966 season and presumably would figure a quarterback as their primary need.

Each new club will benefit from liberal draft procedures. The Dolphins will get the biggest break, making the first two selections in the AFL draft, then picking first on every subsequent round through 20. The Falcons get the first and last pick on the first five rounds of the NFL draft, then will select first on every round after that.

Before the draft ends, the 15 NFL teams will have selected 305 players while the AFL will name 271. The AFL will tap 181 in the regular draft, then draft 90 redshirts — players still in school whose college classes are graduating.

The NFL teams will be picked in this order on the first round: Atlanta, Los Angeles, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Dallas, Washington, Minnesota, St. Louis, Detroit, New York, San Francisco, Chicago, Green Bay, Cleveland, Baltimore and Atlanta again.

Following Miami in the AFL draft will be Boston, Denver, Houston, New York, Kansas City, Oakland, San Diego and Buffalo.

In the charges and counter charges that have preceded the actual drafts, some 50 college players have been linked both with either the AFL or NFL and with specific teams.

The following players were among those supposed to have been drafted by the AFL at a meeting earlier this month:

New York: Bill Yearby, Michigan tackle; Sam Ball, Kentucky tackle; Carl McAdams, Oklahoma linebacker.

Oakland: Tom Mitchell, Bucknell end; Jim Fulgham, Minnesota tackle; Butch Allison, Missouri defensive end.

San Dieg: Milt Morin, Massachusetts end; Eric Crabtree, Pittsburgh flanker; Don Davis, Los Angeles State guard.

Miami: Norton; Jim Grabowski, Illinois fullback; Dick Leftridge, West Virginia fullback.

Kansas City: Francis Peay, Missouri tackle; Bob Dunleavy, West Virginia end; Gary Peddigrew, Stanford linebacker.

Houston: Stan Hindman, Mississippi guard; Jack O'Billovich, Oregon State linebacker; Dave Ellis, North Carolina State tackle.

Denver: Bob Hadrick, Purdue end; Howard Twilley, Tulsa end; Jerry Shay, Purdue tackle.

Buffalo: Bill Malinchak, Indians end; Mike Dennis, Mississippi halfback; Bill Johnson, U. of the South halfback.

Boston: Klar Singer, Purdue guard; Ken Hollister, Indiana tackle ;Jim Boudreaux, Louisiana Tech end.

The NFL, meanwhile, was supposed to have drawn up a list of 13 must players to sign, including Norton and Grabowski and three players drafted last year as futures — Texas Tech running back Donny Anderson, Missouri back Johnny Roland and Notre Dame lineman Dick Arrington.

Also on the list were defensive back Nick Rassas of Notre Dame, receivers Aaron Brown of Minnesota and Freeman White of Nebraska and linemen Larry Gagner of Florida, Bruce Van Dyke of Missouri, Walt Barnes of Nebraska, Carl McAdams of Oklahoma and Tommy Nobis of Texas.

Others likely to go high are quarterbacks Gary Snook of Iowa and Randy Johnson of Texas A&I running backs Mike Garrett of Southern California and Roger Bird of Kentucky, linemen Harold Lucas of Michigan State and John Niland of Iowa and kickers Charlie Gogolak of Princeton and Dick Kenney of Michigan State.

Celtics Roll With Victory Over Pistons

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — The Boston Celtics rolled to their fifth straight National Basketball Association victory by overpowering the Detroit Pistons 134-114 Friday night with an explosive attack triggered by Larry Siegfried midway through the third period.

The Celtics, gunning for an unprecedented eighth straight NBA title, maintained their one-half game lead over Cincinnati in the Eastern Division.

Siegfried broke a 73-73 deadlock with a three-point play, and the Celtics stayed ahead without difficulty.

Boston pulled in front at halftime, but the Pistons rebounded to tie the count in the third quarter before Siegfried put the Celtics in front to stay. But Detroit refused to quit and trailed by only four points, 93-89, at the outset of the fourth period.

It was the Pistons' last gasp as K.C. Jones, John Havlicek and Mel Counts took command for Boston. The Celtics poured in 41 points in the final 12 minutes. Jones connected for 11, Havlicek 10 and Counts 8 in the surge.

With their high scorer, Sam Jones, sidelined with a knee injury, the Celtics were led by Havlicek with 28 points. Willie Naulls hit for 24 and Siegfried 11. K.C. Jones, held scoreless in the first three periods, contributed 13 assists.

Ray Scott led Detroit with 25 points, while player-coach Dave DeBusschere hit for 21.

Sulphur Takes 14-0 Triumph

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Sulphur upended defending state triple-A champion Baton Rouge 14-0 Friday night with Bill Thomason tearing loose for two fourth quarter touchdown runs.

The victory put Sulphur in the semifinals against Behrman of District 4 in a clash of district runnersup next Friday night in Sulphur.

Thomason bulled seven yards over left guard to break a scoreless deadlock after Jim Barton recovered a Baton Rouge fumble on the Bulldog 19.

An intercepted pass stopped a Baton Rouge comeback at the Sulphur 21. On the fourth play after the interception, Thomason turned the corner and raced 47 yards for the final score.

St. Michaels Is Upset By 14-0

CROWLEY, La. (AP)—Golden Meadow upset undefeated St. Michaels Friday night 14-0 in the class A playoffs.

Pat LeBlanc and Steve Cheramie scored the Golden Meadow touchdowns.

St. Michaels was the top rated class A team going into playoff action Friday night. Its loss was the first in an undefeated season of play.

Golden Meadow now is 6-1-2.

St. Bernard In 13-6 Victory

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Richard Wood led the St. Bernard Eagles to a 13-6 victory over Woodlawn of Baton Rouge in class A bi-district playoffs Friday night, scoring both Eagle touchdowns.

Wood took a pass from Bradley Hernandez in the second quarter on a touchdown play covering 61 yards. He also ripped off 61 yards in the 80-yard touchdown drive that won the game, diving in from four yards out for the score.

With Bowl Bid

Auburn Seeking Cinderella End

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Buoyed by an invitation to the Liberty Bowl, Auburn's surprising football team tries today to put the perfect finish to a Cinderella season by whipping arch-rival Alabama.

The Tigers, who were in the midst of disaster only a month ago when they lost a 3-0 decision to Southern Mississippi, can claim their first Southeastern Conference championship since 1957 with a victory or a tie.

Alabama carries the favorite's tag into the intra-state brawl, however, because the Crimson Tide has lost but once this year and is ranked fifth nationally. Alabama will play in the Orange Bowl against Nebraska.

Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant's Alabama team has not been beaten since an 18-17 upset against Georgia in the season opener. The Tide was tied 7-7 by Tennessee in its only other setback.

Auburn also was deadlocked by Tennessee, 13-13, in the only blemish on a five-game conference record. The Tigers, who dropped three non-conference games, upset Kentucky and Florida and beat Georgia and Mississippi State in their surprising drive to the title showdown.

The game at Legion Field's 70,000-seat stadium has been a sellout since last spring because of the intense rivalry of the Alabama teams.

Both teams boast hard-hitting fullbacks, although Auburn's Tom Bryan is new at the position. The fleet junior played quarterback until the last two games, but has been so impressive at his new position that he now ranks fourth in rushing in the SEC with 487 yards.

Bryan is far behind Alabama fullback Steve Bowman, however. The shifty Alabama senior leads the league with 727 yards.

Martin Signs

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — Coach Billy Martin and catcher Earl Battey signed 1966 contracts with the Minnesota Twins Friday.

Martin signed for an estimated $20,000, a raise of about $8,000 over his 1965 contract.

Battey, who hit .297 for the American League champions, signed for an estimated $35,000, which represented a token increase.

Both signed one-year contracts.

Bowl-Bound Teams In 1965 Football Finales

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seven bowl-bound college football teams take their final regular season warm-ups today while Army and Navy open and close their season with their traditional battle.

The service academy contest always overshadows anything else that happens during the rest of the year for the teams, but this time the game could have even more significance because both teams are so evenly matched.

Navy has won four, lost four and tied one while Army has won four and dropped five.

Both teams are given credit for tougher defenses than offenses, and the game could be a defensive battle such as last year when the Cadets snapped a five-game Middle victory string with an 11-8 triumph.

The usual 102,000, including some 7,000 from the academies and numerous government officials, will witness the annual spectacle.

The game also will be televised nationally (NBC) starting at 1:30 p.m. EST.

Four of the Top Ten teams in the country are on the schedule, but for two of them, the games will be the last of the season.

Sixth-ranked Notre Dame, which has a policy against postseason contests, plays Miami of Florida in a night game, and eighth-ranked Southern California, which lost its bowl chance with a loss to UCLA, takes on Wyoming.

Alabama, the nation's fifth-ranked team, clashes with Auburn for the Southeastern Conference championship. Alabama already is in the Orange Bowl while Auburn has a date in the Liberty Bowl. Tennessee, No. 9 and in the Bluebonnet Bowl, plays Vanderbilt in another SEC game.

Four other bowl teams are in action.

Georgia Tech warms up for the Gator Bowl against traditional foe Georgia, Sugar-bound Florida battles Florida State, Mississippi goes against Mississippi State before heading for the Liberty Bowl and Texas Western, named to the Sun Bowl Friday, plays West Texas State.

The other Sun Bowl spot, incidentally, is the only one unfilled in the major bowl picture. Sun officials said the leading candidates for the bid are Miami, Texas Christian, South Carolina and Utah State.

Texas Christian plays Southern Methodist while Utah State and South Carolina already have concluded their seasons.

Wildcat Winners

CROWVILLE (Special) — Winnsboro took a pair of cage wins from Crowville here Friday night. The girls team took a 57-41 win with the boys winning 61-35.

Cherrie Griffen got 28 points and Carla Martin added 22 for the Winnsboro girls with Sue Pierce sinking 20 and Linda Sutherlin 15 for Crowville.

Archie Pippen led the Wildcats with 22 markers followed by Bennie Strong's 14. Ronnie Vickers had 12 for the Crowville lads.

Crowville hosts Holly Ridge next Tuesday.

Block Doubles

JONESVILLE (Special) — Block opened their home stand in basketball here Friday night with a 80-35 win over Central of Larto.

Block girls took a 62-52 win over their Larto opponents.

Bryan Bond led Block with 12 points, followed by Van Taliaferro with 11 and Kenneth Foster, Frankie Schneider and Buzz Scott with 10 points each.

Larto was paced by Terry Alwell with 6 points.

Block had three girls hitting double figures, paced by Nelda Johnson with 22, Francis Spinks with 20 and Velma Spinks with 19.

Larto was paced by Sue Wiley, high in the game with 37 points.

Block boys are now 5-0 on the season while the girls are 3-3. Block's next home game is with Monterey on November 30.

Reserve Blanks Redemptorist 11

RESERVE, La. (AP) — Reserve High blanked Baton Rouge Redemptorist 20-0 Friday night in a class AA playoff, with Keith Cambre logging two touchdowns and setting up another.

Cambre went over from 12 yards out in the opening period to climax a 40-yard drive. In the third, he took a 12-yard scoring pass from quarterback Gene Duhe.

In the final quarter, Cambre intercepted a Redemptorist pass at the eighth and struggled to the one yard line. Carl Schultz bulled over for the touchdown.

Lafayette Gets Win, Sets Stage For Crucial Tilt

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Two big breaks were cashed in for touchdowns Friday night as Lafayette downed Lee of Baton Rouge 13-0 in class AAA playoff.

It was the 10th straight victory for Lafayette and sets the stage for its big game with powerful West Jefferson. The two squads tied for top ranking in the AP's final season Top Ten.

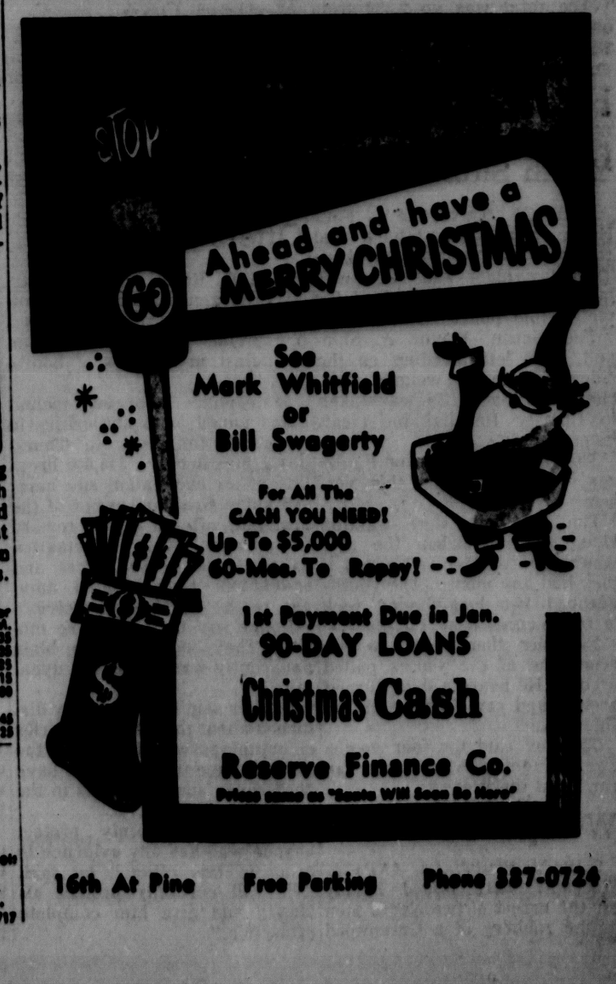
Ross Brubacher paced Lafayette with two touchdowns, both on short plunges.

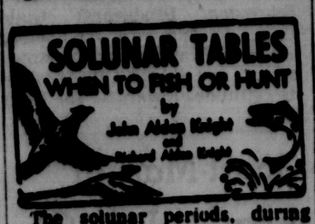
A bad pass from center to Lee quarterback Kenny Sanders, who was back to punt, set up the first score. Sanders was dropped on his two. From there, Brubacher blasted across.

Midway in the fourth, Bob St. Amant intercepted a Lee pass and ran it back 10 yards to the Lee 28. Six plays later, Brubacher was over from six yards out.

Seven golfers representing California played the four rounds of this year's U. S. Open in St. Louis. Al Geiberger led the West Coast contingent with a 287. He tied Julius Boros for fourth place. Each earned $6,500.

Australia's Kel Nagle, Loser in a playoff to South Africa's Gary Palyer, was the only golfer to break par twice in this year's U. S. Open. He began with a 68, finished with a 69, but shot 74 in the playoff.





The solunar periods, during which there is maximum fish and wildlife activity, are printed below. Major periods began at the times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours. Minor periods are shorter.

Some 73 members of the Central Louisiana Swine Producers Association will sell stock at this final sale. The next sale will be held in mid-January.

Homecoming

RAYVILLE (Special) — The West New Home Baptist Church on Good Road will hold its annual homecoming Sunday, according to the Rev. Everett Geis, pastor.

The Rev. Paul Kolb, district missionary for Richland Parish, will speak at the 11 a.m. service. Hymn singing will be held after lunch.

Revival Set

FERRIDAY (Special) — A Mission or Catholic Revival will be held by members of St. Charles Church Sunday through Friday, with services set for 7 p.m. daily.

Speaker will be Fr. John LeBauve, Divine Word Missionary.

Special sessions for high school students will be held at 4 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday.

Named Assistant

CODY, Wyo. (Special) — Mrs. Jo Ann Hagan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe French, Waverly, was recently appointed administrative assistant to head the administrative services section of business management for the Shoshone National Forest, Cody, Wy.

Mrs. Hagan was a 1961 graduate of Tallulah High School and recently graduated from Northeast Louisiana State College, with a major in business education. She was a member of the college honor society, the Alpha Lambda Delta Honorary Fraternity, and Sigma Tau Delta Honorary English Fraternity.

Voters Increase

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The percentage of Negro voters registered in Louisiana increased to 17.1 during October, records of the state board of registration showed Friday.

The state had 1,221,874 registered voters on Oct. 31, of which 1,013,423 were whites and 208,451 were Negroes. Whites made up 82.9 per cent of the total.

The percentage of registered Negroes was .3 over the figure for Sept. 30, and up 3.3 per cent over the end of July, or before a new federal law on voter registration took effect.

The total was up 2,389 from the 206,062 Negroes registered at the end of September. The July-end total was 163,453.

The state has about 2,000,000 persons of voting age, of which 600,000 are Negro.

Youth Stabbed

NEW ORLEANS (AP)— Four Negro youths stabbed and robbed a 15-year-old boy here Thursday night and ran away laughing, a companion of the victim told police Friday.

The victim, Wayne A. Shinault, was left bleeding on the sidewalk with stab wounds in the chest and back. He was taken to Charity Hospital for treatment.

The companion, Marion Faulkner, 14, gave police this version:

The two boys were walking along a street when the four youths approached and asked if they had any money. The youths grabbed two long-playing rock 'n roll records from Faulkner.

Faulkner then began to run when one of the youths pulled a knife. He heard a thud, turned around and saw Shinault on the sidewalk.

The boy said the four youths were laughing when they ran ran from the scene.

Warrants Issued

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Warrants were issued Friday for the arrest of two Negro men in the robbery of a Greenwood Road liquor store and the rape of a white woman clerk.

The warrants were issued by Dist. Atty John A. Richardson following investigation by Caddo Parish deputies. Officials declined to identify the pair, pending their arrest.

Maj. Homer C. Bryant, head of the criminal investigation division of the Caddo Sheriff's Department, said the two young Negroes were sought Thursday following the incident, but eluded deputies.

Sign Contract

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP) — Officials of the Harrison County Development Commission today signed a $379,024.55 contract with T. L. James, Inc. of Kenner, La., for extensions and improvements to the Pass Christian industrial district.

Work is to get under way within ten days but during the initial 30 days will be limited mostly to clearing land and drainage improvements.

The contract calls for dredging of sand fill from bayou portage to stabilize the surface of an existing 80-acre industrial park but this work will be undertaken later.

Man Drowns

FRANKLIN, La. (AP) —John Sonnier, 25, of Lafayette apparently drowned while fishing in West Cote Blanche Bay near here Friday, St. Mary Parish Sheriff Chester Baudoin said.

Sonnier and Robert Jones of New Orleans were fishing from the platform of Texas Co. rig No. 115 when their boat drifted away.

Jones said Sonnier dived into the water in an attempt to reach the boat and never appeared above the surface.

Rough weather with waves up to four feet hampered search operations.

Dies Of Wound

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — An autopsy Friday revealed than an unemployed salesman, first thought to be victim of a hit-and-run motorist, died from a stab wound.

Dr. Lloyd LoCascio, assistant coroner, ruled the death Thursday of Gordon R. Pierce, 50, a homicide.

He said a thin-bladed instrument at least six inches long penetrated the victim's heart and liver.

Police at first thought Pierce might have been a hit and run victim. He was crawling in a street near his home when found Thursday night.

Officers said Pierce had been drinking most of the day.

Hottest Day

NEW ORLEANS (AP)— This city sweltered through the hottest Nov. 26 on record Friday.

The high of 83 degrees broke a record of 82 set in 1906.

The high Thursday of 84 broke the record of 81 set Nov. 25, 1964.

Offers Protection

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Dist. Atty. Sargent Pitcher Friday offered complete protection to anyone giving him information on the latest in a series of bombings here.

State police laboratory technicians joined local authorities in a search for clues to Thursday's blasting of a $15,000 dragline at an excavation site here.

Stanley Graham, owner of the dragline, offered $2,500 reward to anyone giving information which leads to an arrest and conviction. He estimated damage to the dragline at $5,000.

Police say they found no motive. They indicated the blast apparently was caused by dynamite.

Pitcher said he was deeply disturbed about the effect the series of bombings would have on the Baton Rouge image. There have been seven such incidents in the past year.

"We will certainly protect anyone who has any evidence to bring to this office," he said. "We will certainly protect his identity and give him complete protection."

Weekend In Jail

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Traffic Judge David MacHauer said Friday a weekend in jail may prove the best traffic instruction he can find for 26 youthful traffic violators.

MacHauer said the short jail sentences, coupled with lectures on traffic safety should "go far in making these young men cognizant of their responsibility."

Most of the violators, he noted, have been before him before on traffic charges.

The 26 youths will be released from jail Sunday night. Until then, the judge said, the boys will undergo a full schedule of work, lectures and films assembled by police.

MacHauer said Capt. Harold Thread, warden of the House of Dentention, promised full cooperation in the program.

Killed Hunting

BOGALUSA, La. (AP) — Milton Crockett, 14, of Bogalusa, was killed Friday by a shotgun blast on a hunting trip.

The youth was struck in the right side as he and a friend, Robert Shipley, also 14, stopped to rest.

Shipley told officers he put his gun across his lap and the hammer, which was cocked, fired the weapon.

Patty Duke Is Married To TV Director

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Television actress Patty Duke was married to television assistant director Harry Falk Jr. on Friday in the Little Brown church at nearby Studio City.

Miss Duke, 19, and Falk, 32, planned a brief honeymoon before the actress returns to work next Wednesday, friends said. They announced their engagement last Oct. 4.

Miss Duke has starred in her own television show for several years, and Falk is assistant director of the "Trials of O'Brien" series.

BBC Decides Film Too Bad To Be Shown

LONDON (AP) — The British Broadcasting Corp. on Friday decided a film it made about the effects of a nuclear war on Britain is too horrifying for television viewers.

The film, "The War Game," includes shots of badly burned bodies, hysterical men and women, and police executing civilians after a food riot.

The BBC has been in difficulties about the film ever since it was finished in August.

The British government's Home Office advised against showing it.

The film was produced by Peter Watkins, who recently won a Television Producers' Guild award for his work on another program. Watkins told newsmen he had quit the BBC because of its attitude toward "The War Game."

Court-Martial Acquits Last Of Charged Officers

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — A general court-martial Friday acquitted the last of three drill instructors accused of mistreating recruits at this Marine Corps training base.

The panel deliberated one hour before freeing Cpl. Jerry W. Nelson, 22, of Alva, Ky., charged with slapping six trainees while they were undergoing basic training in September.

Earlier, the same court martial had cleared S. Sgt. Clyde E. Cornelison, 29, of Cocoa Beach, Fla., and Sgt. Donald A. Stewart, 24, of Parkesburg, Pa., of similar charges.

Three Area Deer Hunters Are Injured

Three area deer hunters were involved in separate accidents Friday. Two of the hunters were children.

A Columbia child shot his thumb off Friday afternoon in a hunting mishap in Ward 3 of Caldwell Parish, a Wisner man was shot two miles north of Cooters Point in Tensas Parish and a Vidalia boy fell from a tree, breaking a leg.

Sheriff Floyd Hodges said James Leslie Manley, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Manley of Columbia, was in a tree stand at 3 p.m. when he pulled the trigger of his shotgun while his thumb covered the end of the barrel.

Hospital officials at Caldwell Hospital at Columbia said the child's thumb was shot off. He was treated and released.

Capt. Jim Gillespie of the Tensas Game Rangers said Henry E. Kenney, 38, of Rt. 1, Wisner, was admitted to Rogers Clinic at Winnsboro after being shot about 7:15 a.m. Kenney had shot a deer and as it was struggling to get up, Theodore F. Buuck, 28, of New Orleans, fired at the deer, Gillespie said. One buckshot hit Kenney in the left side of his back.

Tony Campbell, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Campbell of Vidalia, was in a deer stand about 20 feet up in a tree when he put his foot on a rotten limb and fell to the ground.

Officials at Rogers Clinic said both bones in his right leg were broken just above the ankle. He was later transferred to Jefferson Davis Memorial Hospital in Natchez, Miss.

The accident occurred about 8 a.m., one mile east of the Tensas River near the Three Way Grocery Store in Tensas Parish, according to Deputy Sheriff Jimmy Guice of Franklin Parish.

Windshield Of Airliner Cracks Over Atlantic

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) —An Icelandic airliner made an emergency landing at Prestwick Airport on Friday night with a shattered windshield in the pilot's cabin.

It was the second such occurence in five days to the same type of plane, operated by the same airline over the same route and over the same spot in the Atlantic Ocean.

Fire engines and ambulances lined the runway when the projet CL44 came in for landing but there was no mishap.

The windscreen on the left side of the pilot's cockpit had suddenly shattered 500 miles out of Keflavik, Iceland, on a trip from New York to Luxembourg with 60 passengers aboard.

"The window went with a loud ping just like a pistol shot," said Capt. Stefan Gislason. "I immediately lost height, from 21,000 to 9,000 feet, to avoid the danger of reduced pressure in the cabin. The central layer of the laminated window was shattered."

The same thing happened Monday to Capt. Einar Gislason.

"I hope it was sheer coincidence," said Stefan. "I would not like to think there are any unknown forces at work over that part of the North Atlantic."

Youth Injured As Motorcycle Strikes Auto

RIDGECREST (Special) — James Robert Kelly, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Ware of Crestview Subdivision, was injured Friday night when his motorcycle collided with a parked car here.

According to Ridgecrest Chief of Police, W. G. Brock, the youth was traveling south on Ferriday Drive when he hit a parked car owned by Jerald Williams of Green Acres Subdivision.

The accident occurred about 7 p.m. The Kelly youth was taken to Concordia Parish Hospital in Ferriday where he was still in surgery late Friday night.

Chief Brock said he estimated the motorcycle's speed at about 35 miles an hour. He said the cycle was demolished and the auto was slightly damaged.

The case was under investigation. No charges had been filed.

Legal History

LONDON (AP) — Legal history was made in Britain on Friday as judgment was passed on the first perons to be convicted of murder since the abolition of the death penalty early this month.

Peter Kenneth Aitken, 25, was sentenced in Old Bailey Court to a minimum period of 15 years in jail for shooting a car dealer. Under the new law, the penalty for murder is an indeterminate spell in prison, ranging up to life. The home secretary can decide on parole after the sentence recommended by the judge has been served.

WHITE CHRYSANTHEMUMS and eucalyptus form the Hogarth curve line of Mrs. Aaron May's design in a bottle covered with chipped glass in blue and crystal, accented at the base with a bunch of green sequined grapes. Mrs. James Maxwell, president of Garden Gate Garden club, at right, created an unusual door design using hardware cloth for basic background cut to a triangle tree shape. Green magnolia leaves form the background for colorful artificial fruits that center the design.

MRS. FLETCHER ASHCRAFT has been visiting in Mobile, Ala., making the acquaintance of her new grandson, Christopher Wyche Ashcraft, the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Wyche Ashcraft, who was born November 12. The baby's grandfather, Fletcher Ashcraft, and his great grandfather, Joe Washburn joined the group in Mobile for Thanksgiving and the weekend.

Sally Farr, Burton Price Given Rehearsal Dinner

The wedding today of Miss Sally Ann Farr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Farr Jr., and Burton Louis Price, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover L. Price, inspired the rehearsal dinner in the Holiday Inn dining room Friday evening. Mrs. Price, mother of the prospective groom, and Mrs. Jimmy H. Whittington were the hostesses for the occasion.

The wedding will take place in Covenant Presbyterian Church at 2 this afternoon.

For the rehearsal dinner, tables were arranged in the form of a T and covered with white linen tablecloths. The head table featured an arrangement of miniature white chrysanthemums and greenery in a gold container. The other tables held small arrangements similar to the central one. White candles were placed at intervals between these floral arrangements.

Miss Farr, wearing a two-piece suit of geranium colored velveteen and matching accessories, and Mr. Price presented gifts to their wedding attendants.

Attending the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Farr Jr., Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Farr, Miss Janet Williams, Johnny Rietzell, Miss Janis Brandon, Tommy Brister, Ricky Redd, Jerry Sandifer, Miss Mary Louise Farr, Jimmy H. Whittington, Grover L. Price, Kent Dean, Ronnie Brothers and the Rev. and Mrs. Wayne Gray.

GARDEN CLUB EVENT

Local garden clubs are invited to a Christmas demonstration to be held at the American Legion Hall in Minden on Monday, November 29. Sponsored by the Town and Country Garden Club of Minden, the event will begin at 10 a.m. and will feature Ronnie Merrill of Baton Rouge, who will arrange and display various types of Christmas decorations.

DOUBLE USE

Keep a set of round-bowl fractional measuring spoons in your kitchen — you'll find them useful. For example, the 1-teaspoon size may be used for making melon balls instead of a regular melonball cutter; the tablespoon size does a good job when you are making "drop" cookies.

RICH ROLLS

Mix together a half cup of mayonnaise with a couple of tablespoons of grated Parmesan cheese. Spread the mixture over brown - and - serve rolls placed on foil; bake as usual and serve piping hot.

Color, Convenience Dominate In Homes

Die-hard lovers of contemporary will be pleased with new home furnishings on the market. In addition to a wide variety of new pieces in furniture lines, there are fabrics and bedspreads galore attuned to this decor. Deep colors are more brilliant, more saturated, while pastels get a sophisticated, sharper treatment. Textures have a handcrafted look, and in bedspreads these often are augmented with tailoring touches at mattress edge and bottom hemline.

A noteworthy innovation is seen in the use of yarn as part of the bedspread weave for the first time. Yarn, while light in weight, makes for durability and adds design interest to the fabric. The bedspread has a blistered surface effect, much like the look of matelasse.

Today's trend toward simplicity of design is constantly growing because the smaller size of our living areas requires lightness of scale, better utilization of space and compactness. However, most bedrooms never seem large enough to hold all the furniture you feel you need. Wise allotment of space might suggest wall-hung nite tables, hanging lamps, or perhaps even one wall devoted completely to storage.

Color is playing an ever-increasing part in our lives. No longer are we satisfied with just any color. The things we use . . . from file cabinets to frying pans . . . from telephones to refrigerators . . . come in a choice of colors. Color television and color photography have almost become commonplace. And, there's nothing that can be more wonder - working in decorating a bedroom than the good use of colors. Color scheming becomes easy with handsome fabric as a starter. And, in the bedroom, the bed is by far the largest area to be covered with fabric.

Never was the quotation "Beauty is in the eye of the beholder" more true than it is today. The elimination of formula decorating provides more freedom and in turn more individuality to rooms. This is true not only in combining colors, but also furniture from different periods within an area. The incorporation of tasteful designs from contemporary and Mediterranean collections, for instance can produce a particularly striking effect . . . handcrafted accessories to highlight the pieces of sleek, uncluttered modern. To work a turnabout, you could use the daring color palette of today with gently curving lines of the past to fashion a highly decorative, sophisticated room.

Recent Bride Is Honored

The home of Mrs. Thomas B. Watson on Harrison Street was the setting Sunday for a miscellaneous tea shower when Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Vernon Whitlock and Mrs. L. S. Prichard honored recent bride, Mrs. Pete Grower of Shreveport.

Receiving the guests with the bride were her mother, Mrs. J. D. Merritt of Magnolia, Arkansas and Mrs. Noel Grower, mother of the groom.

The tea table, covered by an imported hand - drawn linen cloth over pink, was adorned with painted daisies in a silver epergne, accented by softly burning tapers.

Mrs. Vernon Whitlock and Mrs. Zollie J. Meadows alternated at the silver tea service with Mrs. Bobby Adair, Mrs. David Watson and Miss Glenda Grower assisting with the serving courtesies.

Miss Ann Grower registered the guests and Miss Pam Grower recorded the gifts for the bride.

Approximately 40 guests called during the appointed hours of the festive affair.

Hints From Heloise

Clearing Windows Of That Winter Fog, Dirt

By Heloise Cruse

Dear Folks:

Many of you have been writing to me asking what to do about windows that accumulate moisture which drips during cold weather, when the heat is turned on.

The cheapest, most satisfactory way I have found, is to let a bit of moisture accumulate on your window until it becomes fogged up . . .

Then, take three or four facial tissues and wipe the inside of the window. Wipe it until it is streaked and partially dry, and, using the same facial tissue, apply a dab of liquid (undiluted) household detergent, such as we wash our dishes with, and wipe the window again.

This might leave it fuzzy for a second or two, but within minutes it will be clear.

If, a week or so later, the window becomes fogged up again, take plain, dry facial tissues and wipe them again.

The great thing about this is, not only can you see out (and believe me, I have tested it many times), but you wash your windows at the same time!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

As we love your hints, I am enclosing one of mine:

When my children are helping to make their favorite roll and cut - out cookies — no need to re-roll the leftover dough. We just use the odd - shaped pieces for "imagination cookies."

The children have fun guessing what each cookie is — a country, state, animal, and what have you.

Mother

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

Carry a few three - by - five inch cards in your purse for ideas that would otherwise get away, such as shopping, places to go, things to see, friends to call, hobby information, etc.

Carry a magnet, magnifying glass, tape measure or steel rule.

Everywhere you go, you'll look like an expert, a nut, or a Heloise fan of some kind. But—you'll be an expert nut, and have a lot of fun, and be in good company. And, you'll be a better shopper.

A reader

Dear Heloise:

If you touch the rounded ends and heckle the shiny parts to always release the dough in the hexhook before starting to get out of the tub, there is less danger of drowning, should they faint or faint.

Hazel Dell

How true, how true. A wonderful safety hint.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here's what I do when I burn food in a stainless steel pan:

I use a plastic scraper to remove all I can of the burned material. Then I put a tablespoon of detergent in the pan, add boiling water, and let stand until the water is cool enough to put my hands into.

The remaining burned on food will be loose enough to scrape off easily.

I sponge the pan almost dry, sprinkle generously with cleanser, and scour it with a cloth which has most of the water wrung out.

L. C. R.

Dear Heloise:

If you have imitation pearl ring, earrings, etc., that is scratched or dull looking, just give the pearls a coat of white pearl nail polish, and they will look new and lovely.

This polish is also wonderful as a glue, when replacing imitation pearls in pieces of jewelry.

I use regular, colorless polish as glue in replacing other stones in jewelry, and it doesn't discolor the stones, as certain types of glue are apt to.

DEAR ABBY

Pompous Display Comes From Suffering Ego

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What can I do with a husband who takes me often to a lovely restaurant, then hardly speaks to me the whole time. He is so busy trying to impress the cocktail waitress, waiters, and even strangers at nearby tables. He considers himself a gourmet and bon vivant (which he is not) and he tries so hard to appear important to those who serve us. You should hear him show off his high school French from 30 years ago? How can I let him know how foolish his actions are? To say nothing of his thoughtlessness in keeping busy people from their work, and annoying strangers who couldn't care less. I am too chagrined to sign my name. Just sign me . . .

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: Show me a man who's pompous in public and I'll show you a man who is nothing at home. Your husband is suffering from malnutrition of the ego, and should be treated at home, not in restaurants.

DEAR ABBY: I am so ashamed of my father, I could die. He has been married seven times, and divorced six! All of his ex-wives are living and I have so many half-sisters and brothers, I have lost count.

I went to a priest and confessed that I had been lying about my father, and telling people who didn't know better that my father was dead. The priest said he didn't blame me for lying, but I shouldn't lie any more about it. Now I keep having these horrible nightmares in which I see my father in a coffin with the lid nailed down, and him trying to get out. Please help me.

NIGHTMARES

DEAR NIGHTMARES: Your father's marital record is certainly nothing to brag about, but you are not responsible for your father's behavior. If someone asks about your father, tell them the truth. The chances are they will think you're kidding. These nightmares are probably caused by your guilt - feelings from lying. Forgive yourself, and stick to the truth, and you'll be all right.

DEAR ABBY: Some 13 years ago my wife and I were selected to be godparents by friends who had their first child. We are without children and quite well off.

We have faithfully inquired about the child's progress and have cheerfully played the role of "generous godparents" on all occasions. Birthdays, Christmas, Easter — you name it, we've provided a gift. Now, would you believe it, Abby, we have NEVER seen the child since his birth. And we rarely see the parents. Our godchild has never shown the slightest bit of interest in us, and every effort we have made to become closer to the parents has met with almost humiliating failure. Are we expecting too much? Or are we just a pair of old fools?

GODPARENTS

DEAR GODPARENTS: The OFFICIAL function of godparents is to rear the child in the religion of his parents should they both die while the child is a minor. All gifts should be voluntary. And anyone who feels like a "fool" for giving generously, and continues to give, is a bigger fool than he thinks he is.

DEAR ABBY: Like about 98 per cent of those who snore, I snore only when I am sleeping on my back. When we were first married, I was awakened by a very hard kick in the leg, and my wife yelling, "GET OFF YOUR BACK!" I honestly do not remember this, but my wife claims I shouted, "GET OFF MINE," and with that I kicked her so hard she flew out of bed and landed on the floor. I think I must have quit snoring because we've been married for 33 years and she hasn't complained since.

Appearances Scheduled By Union Choir

RUSTON (Special) — The 50-voice Louisiana Tech Choral Union Choir will appear at several concerts during the pre-Christmas season, according to Alfred E. Tellinghuisen, chairman of choral activities and teacher of singing at the college.

The group is scheduled to give two presentations of the Saint-Saens "Christmas Oratorio." The first will be presented in the Jimmie Davis Tabernacle in Jackson Parish on Wednesday, Dec. 8, at 7:30 p.m., and the second in Howard Auditorium at Tech on Thursday, Dec. 16, at 9:40 a.m. The public is invited to attend both programs.

Tuesday evening, Dec. 8, the Choral Union will be featured in a program at the annual Christmas party of the Louisiana Tech Faculty Wives and Men's Faculty Club in Iva Adams Cafeteria here. This same program will be presented on Thursday, Dec. 9, at the Holiday Inn in Ruston for the annual Christmas dinner of Ruston District Methodist ministers and their wives.

Officers of the Choral Union are:

David Wylie, Ruston, president; Juanita Hebert, Houma, vice president; Nancy Walker, Minden, secretary; Martha Lou Worley, Shreveport, treasurer, and James Taylor, Homer, librarian.

Accompanists for the scheduled performances will include Juanita Hebert, Nancy Greenwood, Lake Charles, Mary Jane Joyner, Rayville, and Larry Newman, Ruston.

Student soloists for these programs will be Nancy Walker, soprano; Martha Lou Worley, mezzo-soprano; Mary Jane Joyner, contralto; James Gill Jr., Baton Rouge, tenor; David Wylie, tenor; Larry Frazier, Alexandria, baritone, and Terry Lindeman Bossier City, baritone.

THIS IS the satellite A1 sent into orbit Friday by France. The 88-pound space vehicle, expected to relay radio signals on temperature and other atmospheric conditions for two weeks, was launched by a three-stage diamond rocket at Hammaguir in the Algerian Sahara. (AP Wirehpoto)

France Sends First Satellite Into Orbit

PARIS (AP) — France sent its first satellite into orbit Friday from a launching station deep in the Algerian Sahara Desert.

The successful space shot gave France membership in a club reserved until now for the superpowers, the United States and the Soviet Union. President Charles de Gaulle promptly hailed it as "an important accomplishment of which the entire country should be happy and proud."

Launched was a 92.5-pound satellite which is to transmit radio signals for two weeks. The Defense Ministry said the principal, purpose of the shot was not to gather scientific data, but to test its three-stage Diamond rocket, four years in development.

France, which also boasts a small plane-carried atomic strike force, plans to produce its first generation of nuclear-tipped ballistic missiles in the next decade.

The satellite, called the A1, was fired from its pad at Hammaguir, Algeria, in midafternoon. It sped eastward toward Lebanon atop the 62-foot rocket.

After a minute and 35 seconds the liquid-fueled first stage cut out and separated from the vehicle. The solid-fueled second stage fired for 44 seconds and dropped off. Then the third stage of the rocket, also solid fuel, took over for 45 seconds.

The Aq was traveling at 26,600 feet a second when it began its orbit.

An announcement from the launching station at Hammaguir said "everything is functioning normally."

The government, which has made all preparations for the shot in tight secrecy, waited until the satellite had completed an orbit successfully before it made its announcement. The A1 takes an hour and 48 minutes to circle the globe.

Its flight path takes it 1,100 miles from earth at its farthest point and brings it to within 330 miles of earth at its nearest point.

President de Gaulle, in the midst of a campaign for re-election, told his countrymen, "the placing in orbit of the first French satellite, launched by a French rocket, is an important accomplishment of which the entire nation should be happy and proud."

In a letter to Defense Minister Pierre Messmer, De Gaulle also said the satellite "attests to the high value of French science and technique."

The satellite launching was the most dramatic example of French technological development since the French exploded their first A-bomb in the Sahara Feb. 13, 1960.

It underscores De Gaulle's policy of setting France apart from the superpowers, responsible for its own defense.

It also coincides with De Gaulle's idea of a rebirth of French "grandeur," which has come under attack by some political opponents because of its high price tag.

More French attempts are in the offing. The success of the 28-ton-thrust Diamond rocket makes possible the launching of the second generation of French satellites, the D1, with more sophisticated electronic equipment.

At the same time, another French satellite, the FR1, is being made ready at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., for launching by an American Scout rocket. The FR1 has been described as "extremely elaborate."

Initial Meeting Of DeMolay In Franklin Slated

Two members of the Ouachita Parish Chapter of the DeMolay, with their Masonic adviser, A. H. Edmonds, will travel to Winnsboro Sunday to take part in the initial meeting of the Franklin Parish Chapter of the DeMolay.

Local DeMolays to make the trip will be Joe Herpin Jr., and George Wood. Edmonds said he hoped others would volunteer today to go with the local delegation.

Masonic lodges in Franklin Parish will sponsor the first DeMolay chapter there. It is expected that some 35 members will join the first chapter. An initiatory team from Bunkie will be on hand to direct the program.

The organizational meeting will begin at 2 p.m., and will be followed by a potluck supper at the meeting place.

LBJ, Rusk Discuss World Developments

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — The bloodless coup in the Congo and other world developments came under review by President Johnson in a long phone talk Friday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Johnson's long-distance conference with Rusk also covered Latin-American affairs, among other things.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers said Rusk, who led the U.S. delegation to the meeting of the Organization of American States in Rio De Janeiro, Brazil, reported that session was "fruitful and useful."

Rusk is now back in Washington.

Moyers went into no detail in reporting that Johnson and Rusk talked about the Congo situation and a variety of other world developments. Indications were, however, that no final decision was reached on the U.S. attitude toward the Congo government headed by Lt. Gen. Joseph Mobutu. Mobutu seized the presidency from Joseph Kasavubu and announced he would remain in power for five years.

Through Moyers, Johnson announced that British Prime Minister Harold Wilson will come to the LBJ Ranch for their Dec. 17 conference. The site of the meeting—Washington or the ranch—had been left open until now.

Moyers provided some additional details on Johnson's forthcoming meeting with West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard. Erhard will arrive at the ranch Dec. 18, a day earlier than previously announced, but their talks will not begin until Sunday, Dec. 19, after the President and the chancellor attend church services. Their talks will continue through Monday.

Moyers shed no light on published reports that both President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan and Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India will be coming to see Johnson in the near future.

Moyers said no arrangements have been made so far for meetings with either of the Asian leaders.

Johnson announced he has named Eugene R. Black, his adviser on economic and social development, to head the U.S. delegation to the founding conference of the billion-dollar Asian Development Bank in Manila Dec. 2-4.

In a statement accompanying the announcement, Johnson described the bank as "one of the most hopeful events of our time." He called it "a cooperative effort for peaceful development and human betterment in Asia."

Two Remain Hospitalized After Wreck

RUSTON (Special) — Two persons remained hospitalized here Friday night after a single car accident two miles east of here on Interstate - 20 at 11:05 a.m. Friday.

Seven persons were in the station wagon, according to Lincoln Parish Sheriff's Office, when it passed a truck traveling west on I-20. The auto driver lost control, plunging the car into the median area of the highway, officers said. The truck was not involved in the accident.

Listed in good condition at Lincoln General Hospital here Friday were Mrs. J. M. Hackworth, 77, of Monroe, and Mrs. Betty D. Ellington, 56, of Mangham. The five others were treated and released after the accident, hospital personnel said.

Others in the car at the time if the mishap were Mrs. Ruth Salsberry of Monroe, Mrs. F. E. Woolsey, 76, of Shreveport, and Mrs. Ellington's three children, Perry, eight, Roger, five, and Gene, six.

Residents Hope Southside Odor Problem Solved

Residents of Monroe's southside section expressed hopes again Friday that the chlorination of sewage systems here will solve the area's odor problem.

A citizens' spokesman said, however, the odor problem had not improved since a chlorinator was put in operation at the Texas Avenue and 14th Street Station about a month ago.

Workmen are at work installing a second chlorinator which should be in operation by Tuesday. Chlorine is being added to sewage in the battle against formation of foul-smelling gases, city officials have announced.

Southside resident Raymond Sweet, who has been a leader in compiling protest petitions, said Friday, "The situation last Friday and Saturday, and again Monday, was disturbing. We're hoping that the second chlorinator at the Standifer and South Grand station will help.

"I'm glad to say that the city is cooperating very well, and we certainly appreciate that," he said.

The Ouachita Parish Police Jury supported complaints delivered to the jury and the Monroe City Council which spoke of the odor and "property damage and devaluation."

Finance Commissioner H. W. McSherry remained confident that completion of the second chlorinator will solve the problem. He said Friday that outside experts have indicated it will attack the formation of gases which form as sewage backs up, due to the increased line load since the city ceased dumping into the river.

The escape of the gases apparently is the cause of the noxious odors, officials said.

Mother Of Area Sheriff Dies; Funeral Today

FARMERVILLE (Special) — Funeral services for Mrs. J. E. Long, 80, of Farmerville, mother of Dennis Long of Farmerville, Union Parish Sheriff, will be held at 2 p.m. today at Holmesville Baptist Church here with the Revs. Kenneth Mills and Clyde Baxter officiating.

Burial will be in the Holmesville Cemetery by Kilpatrick Funeral Home of West Monroe.

Also surviving are four other sons, Jake and Marvin Long, both of Farmerville, Jessie Long of Downsville and Lucian Long of Belcher; three daughters, Mrs. Lillie Filman of Farmerville and Mrs. Walton Bridges and Mrs. F. B. Thompson, both of Texas City, Tex.; four brothers, Howell, Rufus, Harvey and Thomas Albritton, all of Downsville; two sisters, Mrs. Charlie Simpson of Downsville and Mrs. Thelma Sewell of Ozark, Ark.; 20 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be grandsons.

Doctor Charged With Bombings Is Committed

GRAY, Ga. (UPI) — A Daytona Beach, Fla. doctor charged with burning Negro churches in Jones and Twiggs counties was committed Friday to Milledgeville State Hospital after a sanity commission found him mentally depressed.

Dr. Beverly White, a former resident of Jones county, had been charged with arson in connection with fires which destroyed an abandoned Negro church in Jones County and the Laurel Grove Church in Twiggs County earlier this month.

The commission, composed of two doctors and an attorney, was called by Jones County Ordinary Harris Morton.

White also was suspected of setting fire to another Negro church and a house in Jones County.

Twiggs County Sheriff Earl Hamrick said that the arson case in his county would still be presented to the grand jury for action. He said the disposition of the case from that point would depend on the grand jury's action.

Presbyterians Schedule Meet

BATON ROUGE (Special) — "God's People—The Church in the World" is the theme for the state-wide Presbyterian Youth Convocation to be held at the First Presbyterian Church here Dec. 28-30, 1965 according to the chairman of the convocation, the Rev. William D. O'Neal of Baton Rouge.

Two of the out-of-state speakers for the convocation will be Dr. B. Frank Hall of Wilmington, N. C. and Dr. David Alexander, new president of the Presbyterian College, Southwestern at Memphis, Tenn.

Other out-of-state speakers for the convocation will be Miss B. Lewis of Richmond, Va., and the Rev. Roland Perdue of Athens, Ga. One of the highlights of the three day meeting will be a panel of the speakers with the Rev. John Bradshaw of Denham Springs as moderator.

Senator Thinks Soldiers Should Have Priority

DECATUR, Ga. (UPI) — Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said Friday that Congress should make it a first duty to see that troops in Viet Nam have priority "over every other demand in our nation."

Russell, who addressed a group celebrating $100 million in new DeKalb rounty construction contracts in less than a year, said the United States must win an "all out victory" in Viet Nam.

Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said in an interview that the war "is bound to get worse before its gets better" and "is going to cost more and take longer than we thought."

The Senator said that wherever necessary, every domestic or foreign program should be cut back "so that we can amass overwhelming forces, weapons and materiel to win the war."

"The flower of American manhood is fighting a foe that observes no rules of warfare or humanity in the dirtiest conflict the world has ever seen," he declared. "I greatly fear the number of our men involved, as well as casualties, may be doubled or tripled before we can bring this tragic affair to a successful conclusion."

First duty of Congress should be to see that the troops in Viet Nam "have first priority over every other demand in our nation to bring victory," Russell said.

What the administration has to guard against, the Senator said is that "unprecedented efforts to develop so many costly, far-flung domestic programs at the expense of the war will release inflationary forces dangerous to the economy of the nation."

Dancing Banned

TRUJILLO, Peru (AP) — Strip-tease dancing has been banned here because, the city's woman guardian of the public morals has ruled, it has an evil influence on mankind.

Suits Filed

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Oakdale Negroes filed suit in federal district court here Friday against an Oakdale cafe for refusing to serve them food in a section of the cafe reserved for whites.

Plaintiffs were John H. Milton Sr., John H. Milton Jr., Otis Antoine and Gerald Cager.

The suit was filed against W. D. Bradford, proprietor of the Crystal Cafe.

The Negroes claimed "the action of the defendant is a violation of the 1964 Civil Rights Act and that such action will result in irreparable injury, loss and damage" to them.

Pope Reportedly Asks Stronger Stand On Birth

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI was reported by reliable sources Friday night to have asked that the Vatican Ecumenical Council strengthen its stand against birth control.

Council sources said the Pope had asked that the council's text dealing with questions of marriage and family planning take into account the birth control teachings of Popes Pius XI and XII to reaffirm traditional bans against artifical contraception.

The council takes up birth control in its draft text approved section by section last week and now undergoing revision for a final vote due Dec. 4.

The text speaks of "responsible parenthood" and "conjugal love" and declares that Roman Catholic couples have the right to determine the size of their families. It adds that they must be guided by their consciences in this and must not use means prohibited by the Church.

Zambia's Rich Copper Belt Is Threatened

KITWE, Zambia (AP) — In an apparent effort to cripple Zambia's rich copper production, saboteurs early Friday blew up a tower on the power line to the copper belt.

A charge planted under another of the pylons connecting the Kariba Dam hydroelectricity line to Kitwe, the copper belt's principal town, failed to explode.

The mines hooked up with grids in the neighboring Congo and continued operating on a limited scale.

When police investigated the blast 27 miles south of Kitwe, the country's two mining companies, the Anglo-American Corp. and the Roan Selection Trust, made an all-out effort to keep production going.

One mine was saved from flooding by the hookup.

A mines spokesman said power was expected to be restored early today.

The explosion had hit the Zambian government hard: It is laboring under severe pressure resulting from Rhodesia's unilateral declaration of independence and a strike by 200 white railwaymen at the border town of Livingstone, which has stopped traffic on the rail lifeline on which land-locked Zambia depends for export routes to the coast.

66 TREE studded acres, with 6 acre stocked lake, 9 miles from city limits West Monroe, Arkansas Road. Beautiful rolling hills with bubbling spring. It's high and dry, you can drive your car over the grassy hills and down the picturesque slopes. These trees are just gorgeous, and at this time a real of corn is also a huge crop of 3 and 6 ft. pine trees now growing in the choice under-growth. Owner will sell all or part. Small down payment, balance financed any way you prefer. It's reasonable and desirable. Call us for appointment to see. (A-6-984-WM)

Theft Of Petrarch Papers Proves To Be Daring Case

NEW YORK (AP) — The theft of a Petrarch manuscript and other priceless objects of art from the Vatican's Apostolic Library shapes up as the most audacious of its kind since the stealing of the Mona Lisa more than half a century ago.

If past cases of great art thefts provide a criterion, the perpetrators are unlikely to profit. Except perhaps for some fabulously wealthy eccentric in art collecting, content to contemplate the works in utter privacy, a possible buyer of such loot is difficult to imagine.

The Leonardo da Vinci masterpiece of the girl with the enigmatic smile vanished from the Louvre in Paris in August 1911. The Mona Lisa was lost to the world until December 1913, when police recovered it in Florence, Italy.

Vincenzo Peruggia, an Italian accused of spiriting the canvas away, said he never intended to enrich himself—as a patriot he simply wanted to recover for his country an Italian masterpiece held by a foreign land.

In none of the major art thefts of more recent years did the thieves make a penny for their efforts. A few examples:

Aug. 21, 1961—A $282,000 Goya portrait of the Duke of Wellington was stolen from Britain's National Museum. Four years later it was returned by an unemployed truck driver who had hoped in vain to collect a ransom. He said he wanted to spend the money buying television licenses for needy British old folk.

July 10, 1962—Thieves made off with 35 paintings by Toulouse-Lautrec, Renoir, Picasso and Cezanne, worth more than $1 million from a private gallery in London. Police acting on an informer's tip recovered them all 17 days later.

Jan. 17, 1963—Pro-Communist terrorists in Caracas, Venezuela, grabbed $650,000 worth of Picassos, Van Goghs, Gauguins, Braques and Cezannes from an exhibit on loan from France. Police recovered the works two days later.

Feb. 17, 1964—The $1 million Rubens masterprice "Negroes' Heads" was stolen from Belgium's Museum of Ancient Art in Brussels. It was recovered within 48 hours.

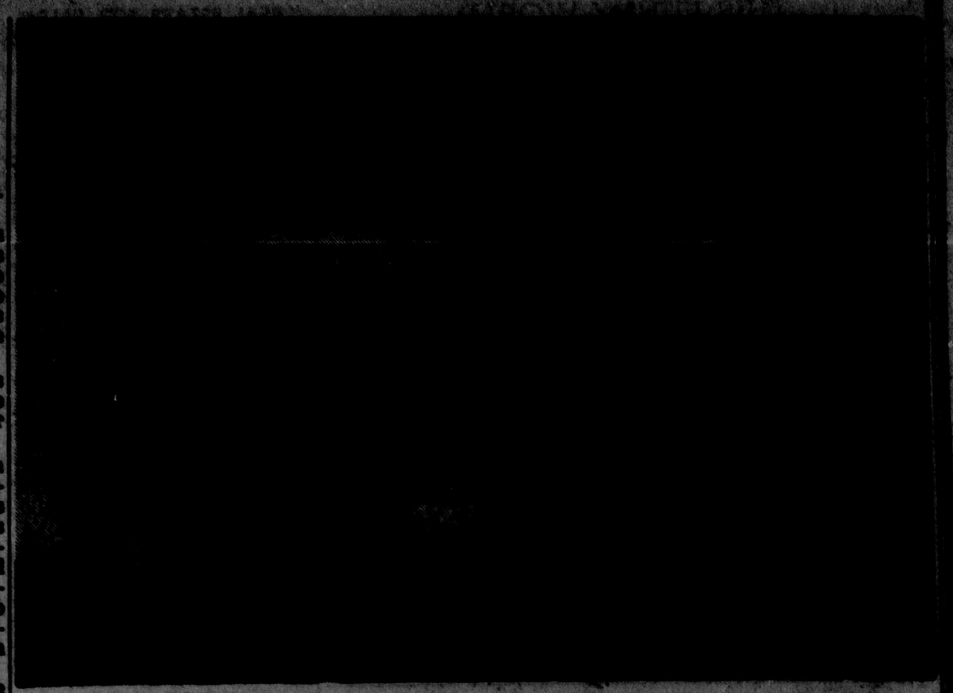
March 20, 1965—Eight oils worth $1 million, including a Renoir and two Van Goghs, were stolen from the Hillsborough, Calif., mansion of the late W. W. Crocker. They were recovered on April 24.

Discussions On Service Slated

Two Women's Army Corps representatives will be in Monroe on Pearl Harbor Day, Dec. 7, to hold discussion meetings on the Northeast Louisiana State College campus.

Capt. Nancy L. Seibert of New Orleans and Sgt. Katherine Bilski of Shreveport will talk with senior girls about the Officer Candidate School's Direct Commission Program and the WAC's four-week summer program for college juniors.

The team members will be in the Student Union Building from 1 to 4 p.m., for interviews with interested coeds. Appointments may be arranged through the local Army Recruiting Station on the third floor of the Monroe Post Office Building, or by telephoning 322-8470.



ACCOMPLISHMENTS in the 4-H home ground beautification program netted a gold wrist watch for former Calhoun 4-H Club member Gary Goodling, center, who won first place in the state contest. Presenting the watch award is Mrs. Donna M. Moore, left, associate home demonstration agent of Ouachita Parish. Gary's mother, Mrs. A. C. Goodling looks on. Gary was named one of the top two contestants in the state contest at the 4-H Short Course on Louisiana State University's campus last summer. The award highlighted seven years of 4-H work for him. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Goodling and is presently a freshman at LSU.

News Demonstrates All Kinds In World

NEW YORK (AP) — The news Friday demonstrated anew that it takes all kinds of people to make a world. Also all kinds of bacteria and all kinds of dogs.

In princeton, N. J., shapely coed Janet M. Bond, 21, started a three-year term as a coroner for Mercer County. Her major responsibility will be the burial of any folks who get drowned in shipwrecks. Mercer County, on the Delaware River, is many miles from the sea. Janet won the job as a write-in candidate in an election three weeks ago.

In Goldfield, Nev., Martin Duffy, 67, explained why he has toiled single-handed for 26 years to keep his Florence gold mine in tip-top condition: The price of gold, now $35 an ounce, might go up.

If it ever does, Duffy says the Florence — which hasn't produced an ounce of ore since 1939 — can once again make money.

In Mariposa, Calif., county welfare workers were faced with a problem named Pedro Anato, 82. Pedro withdrew from the world in 1945 and has never since left his shack in the Sierra Nevada foothills.

A new dam soon will flood the area. The welfare workers want Pedro to come and live in Mariposa, but he says no, asking: "Whjt I jo? Stand argund on street corner with hands in pocket?"

In Union City, N.J., William Farley, 49, found himself behind bars for weighing in with a beef against his landlord. Farley tape-recorded his beef and blared it out his apartment window with a hi-fi speaker. The constabulary nailed him on a disorderly conduct charge.

So much for people; now the bacteria:

It has long been known that kissing can cost you teeth in some circumstances, as for instance when the woman has a short-tempered husband who outweighs you. Now comes even more dire tidings from Dr. Doran D. Zinner, a University of Miami dental researcher.

Dr. Zinner said the loss of teeth by decay is caused entirely by four types of bacteria, which are responsible for caries, or cavities, in the enamel. The bacteria are contagious. One of the easiest ways to acquire them is by kissing somebody already infected. In other words, kissing carries caries.

And finally, the dog:

In Savannah, Ga., the police vice squad learned that you can lead a dog to liquor, but he won't necessarily do the same for you — not, at least, if he happens to be a pedigreed Doberman pinscher named Schonheidt.

They tried to train Schonheidt to smell out moonshine stills. Acknowledging the failure of this noble experiment, the dog's handler explained:

"He was bred for show. He just wasn't aggressive enough to go after liquor."

Woman Will Be New Police Commissioner

HACKENSACK, N.J. (AP) — The next commissioner of the 140-man Bergen County Police Department will be a shapely 5-foot-5, blue-eyed blonde.

"I get a lot of ribbing but being a police commissioner is not strictly a man's job," says Doris Mahalick, 41, mother of two teen-age daughters.

"I'll be working in areas such as juvenile problems and traffic safety, where a woman has just as much insight as a man," she explained.

Mrs. Mahalick, who assumes her new duties Jan. 1 is not a novice when it comes to police administration. She also was the first woman police commissioner in her hometown of Wallington.

Who she was appointed to that post in 1962, some local residents were apprehensive.

"They all expected me to start hanging drapes in police headquarters," she recalled.

But, instead of picking pink upholstery for prowl cars, the madam commissioner, during her one year in office, secured funds to purchase badly needed electronic equipment and helped raise police salaries by $1,200.

Mrs. Mahalik comes to the post by virtue of her victory in the November election as freeholder. Her Democratic colleagues then named her chairman of the county's Public Safety Committee, which makes her the police commissioner.

Throughout the freeholder campaign, Mrs. Mahalik was introduced as "the most beautiful candidate anywhere" — much to her despair.

"If I had been in a beauty contest, I'd have loved it," she said. "but while it was flattering, I thought it detracted from my candidacy."

West Monroe Court Docket Rated Heavy

Judge John McCormick presided over a heavy docket in West Monroe City Court's latest session.

Eddie B. Wilson of Rt. 3, Box 157, Monroe, was fined $300 and costs for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages, plus $25 and costs for reckless driving.

Fined $300 and costs for DWI was Ronnie Albritton of 607 S. 5th St., West Monroe.

Garland Kennedy of Rt. 1, Box 105, West Monroe, was fined $300 and costs for hit and run driving, and $25 and costs for reckless driving.

A charge of DWI against Paul D. Wiltz of Lafayette was withdrawn, as were counts of simple and aggravated assault against Ton Hobgood of Rt. 2, West Monroe.

Willie Chisley of 318 S. 9th St., West Monroe, was fined $50 and costs for disturbing the peace. A charge of aggravated battery against Chisley was nolle prossed.

Fined $30 and $25, respectively, in separate cases for simple battery were David Thompson of 710 S. 9th St., West Monroe; and Jack Mulhearn of 1609 S. 6th St., Monroe.

Reckless driving cases and dispositions were Warren O. Manning of Rt. 5, Box 50, West Monroe, $30 and costs; William E. Dunn of 2515 Myrtle St., Monroe, $25 and costs; J. P. Colvin of 2411 N. 7th St., West Monroe; J. C. Oser of 205 Richland, West Monroe, $25 and costs; Rodger M. Mann of Shreveport, $30 and costs; and Parks R. Futch of El Dorado, Ark., charge withdrawn.

Speeding cases and dispositions were Cathrine Oliver of Farmerville, George E. Johnson of Calhoun, James E. Worthy of Rt. 1, Box 206, West Monroe, Charles D. Clark of 124 Sylane Dr. West Monroe, Charles Shackleford of 225 Smith St., West Monroe, and Willie Williams of Los Angeles, Calif., all $10 and costs.

The court session was moved up from its usual Friday date and held Wednesday, Nov. 24 due to the Thanksgiving holiday.

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — The Turkish navy is engaged in weekend exercises until Sunday off the port of Iskenderun, 100 miles northwest of Cyprus, press reports stated. They said 15 naval units are taking part.

Enterprise May Be Sent Into Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The U.S. Navy's mighty aircraft carrier Enterprise may soon become the first nuclear-powered war vessel to go into battle action.

The 85,000-ton carrier joined the U.S. 7th Fleet which daily launches air attacks against the Communist Viet Cong and North Viet Nam.

Another nuclear-powered warship also joined the 7th Fleet lineup — the guided missile frigate Bainbridge. Both ships were last reported in Philippines waters, but a 24-hour cruise would take them within striking distance of the Viet Nam coast.

The Enterprise carries 85 planes, including Phantom jet fighters, Skyhawk light attack bombers, Vigilante attack reconnaissance types, Skywarrior attackers, Tracker antisubmarinecraft and Seasprite helicopters.

She has a complement of 4,600 men.

The Enterprise is too big to pass through the Panama Canal. When transferred recently from the Atlantic to the Pacific Fleet, she had to circle South America.

Like other nuclear-powered naval vessels, the Enterprise can operate for long periods without refueling.

In the summer of 1964, the Enterprise, the frigate Bainbridge and the nuclear-powered guided missile cruiser Long Beach traveled more than 30,000 miles on a world-circling cruise lasting more than two months. They required neither refueling nor stores of any kind.

The Enterprise has demonstrated a speed of 40 knots. Her original nuclear fuel cores carried her 200,000 sea miles. Such speed and endurance are specially valuable in the vast reaches of the Pacific.

Armored Car Guard Shoots Three Robbers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An armored car guard killed the driver of a hold-up gang's getaway car and shot down two accomplices in a gun battle Friday on a Los Angeles street.

A fourth man was arrested nearby when he sought to fleet on foot, police said.

A bystander was struck in the face by shotgun pellets during the exchange of gunfire on West Pico Boulevard.

Detectives said more than $10,000 in cash taken from one of the armored trucks's two guards was recovered from the riddled getaway car.

Police said guard Jerome Jacobson saw the gang reb his partner near a Pico Boulevard supermarket where the truck had stopped for a pickup.

As the bandit car reared away Jacobson killed the driver with a pistol bullet through the back of the head. The car slowed to a halt and the occupants jumped out shooting.

One of the bandits' shotgun blasts shattered the windshield of a parked car and wounded Ben Singer, 70, who was seated in the vehicle. Jacobson's fire, with a pistol and a shotgun, cut down two of the robbers and the fourth ran.

Singer was reported in satisfactory condition at a Los Angeles hospital. Police said he was hit by birdshot.

The bandits were identified by police as John Doe, 25, slain by Jacobson's shot; Arthur Bacon, 29, hit in the left leg, James Hawkins, 25, hit above the left eye, in the nose and right hand and Ernest Walters, 27, who was captured and was uninjured.

JELLYST NE

DEAR HELOISE:
When I read a letter from a reader asking for ideas for Christmas gifts for the man who has everything, I decided to write.

I have an excellent hobby which is almost invisible and blends in with the plant.

Estelle

To make the trellis even more attractive, why not spray it with green, gold or silver paint before putting it in the planter?

These branches are a real tricky idea. And what's wrong with using old misshapen driftwood?

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
I turn suggestions from your column into useful gifts. Here's a homemade gift idea.

First, I clip the item and paste it inside a homemade greeting card. Then I gift-wrap whatever the item requires . . . such as spices with a bag of marbles for those flapping nylon bows, a fudge for finger paint with all the makings, etc.

Once you get started, you will be surprised how many ways you can find to come up with surprise gifts that will delight your friends.

Just be sure you send the clipping along with the gift!

Ruth McCoy

DEAR HELOISE:
To keep the inside of my handbag clean, I place all my cosmetics in a small, clear plastic bag. Then, should anything spill, it's contained in the bag and doesn't ruin the lining of my purse.

Ann

DEAR HELOISE:
After finding it difficult to buy knitted cuffs to repair jacket sleeves, I came to the conclusion that the cuffs from men's cotton work gloves would do the trick.

Just remove the cuffs from the gloves and sew them on the jacket. They work just fine and are less than fifty cents a pair; the ribbing is extra heavy and comes in dark colors!

Anetta Funk

DEAR HELOISE:
When I was a child, I remember my mother using a piece of [illegible] to scratch stiff [illegible] or wears through on your kitchen match box that you can glue an emery board or a strip of sandpaper on the box, and it will again be easy to light the matches.

M. R. K.

DEAR HELOISE:
Attached to the inside of the cupboard door under my kitchen sink, I have a pegboard, cut to size, with the appropriate hooks for a small hammer, screwdriver, scissors, roll tape, twine, pliers and a small cup for thumbtacks and small screws.

I find this board most valuable because I always know where the things are and they take up no drawer space.

There is also room for other items I may find necessary to keep handy in the kitchen.

Louise Gale

DEAR HELOISE:
I never have to scour the tile around my bathtub.

My secret? I installed an extra towel bar over my tub and keep an old towel on it.

Since my husband is the shower-taker in our family, it took a little doing to get him in the habit of drying the walls as well as himself, after every shower.

If you have trouble convincing the head of the house, ask him to scour the tile one time . . .

Ex-Scourer

DEAR HELOISE:
My children were given

DEAR HELOISE:
I know that many people use an old toothbrush for cleaning around the water faucets and corners of the tub—and I do, too. But do you know where I keep the toothbrush in between cleaning jobs? Attached to the cleanser can by a rubber band!

This way it is always handy when I need it.

Theft Of Petrarch Papers Proves To Be Daring Case

NEW YORK (AP) — The theft of a Petrarch manuscript and other priceless objects of art from the Vatican's Apstolic Library shapes up as the most audacious of its kind since the snatching of the Mona Lisa more than half a century ago.

If past cases of great art thefts provide a criterion, the perpetrators are unlikely to profit. Except perhaps for some fabulously wealthy eccentric in art collecting, content to contemplate the works in utter privacy, a possible buyer of such loot is difficult to imagine.

The Leonardo da Vinci masterpiece of the girl with the enigmatic smile vanished from the Louvre in Paris in August 1911. The Mona Lisa was lost to the world until December 1913, when police recovered it in Florence, Italy.

Vincenzo Perugia, an Italian accused of spiriting the canvas away, said he never intended to enrich himself—as a patriot he simply wanted to recover for his country an Italian masterpiece held by a foreign land.

In none of the major art thefts of more recent years did the thieves make a penny for their efforts. A few examples:

Aug. 21, 1961—A $392,000 Goya portrait of the Duke of Wellington was stolen from Britain's National Museum. Four years later it was returned by an unemployed truck driver who had hoped in vain to collect a ransom. He said he wanted to spend the money buying television licenses for needy British old folk.

July 10, 1962—Thieves made off with 35 paintings by Toulouse-Lautrec, Renoir, Picasso and Cezanne, worth more than $1 million from a private gallery in London. Police acting on an informer's tip recovered them all 17 days later.

Jan. 17, 1963—Pro-Communist terrorists in Caracas, Venezuela, grabbed $650,000 worth of Pcassos, Van Goghs, Gauguins, Braques and Cezannes from an exhibit on loan from France. Police recovered the works two days later.

Feb. 17, 1964—The $1 million Rubens masterprice "Negroes' Heads" was stolen from Belgium's Museum of Ancient Art in Brussels. It was recovered within 48 hours.

March 20, 1965—Eight oils worth $1 million, including a Renoir and two Van Goghs, were stolen from the Hillsborough, Calif., mansion of the late W. W. Crocker. They were recovered on April 24.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS in the 4-H home ground beautification program netted a gold wrist watch for former Calhoun 4-H Club member Gary Goodling, center, who won first place in the state contest. Presenting the watch award is Mrs. Donna M. Moore, left, associate home demonstration agent of Ouachita Parish. Gary's mother, Mrs. A. C. Goodling looks on. Gary was named one of the top two contestants in the state contest at the 4-H Short Course on Louisiana State University's campus last summer. The award highlighted seven years of 4-H work for him. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Goodling and is presently a freshman at LSU.

Discussions On Service Slated

Two Women's Army Corps representatives will be in Monroe on Pearl Harbor Day, Dec. 7, to hold discussion meetings on the Northeast Louisiana State College campus.

Capt. Nancy L. Seibert of New Orleans and Sgt. Katherine Bilski of Shreveport will talk with senior girls about the Officer Candidate School's Direct Commission Program and the WAC's four-week summer program for college juniors.

The team members will be in the Student Union Building from 1 to 4 p.m., for interviews with interested coeds. Appointments may be arranged through the local Army Recruiting Station on the third floor of the Monroe Post Office Building, or by telephoning 322-8470.

News Demonstrates All Kinds In World

NEW YORK (AP) — The news Friday demonstrated anew that it takes all kinds of people to make a world. Also all kinds of bacteria and all kinds of dogs.

In princeton, N. J., shapely coed Janet M. Bond, 21, started a three-year term as a coroner for Mercer County. Her major responsibility will be the burial of any folks who get drowned in shipwrecks. Mercer County, on the Delaware River, is many miles from the sea. Janet won the job as a write-in candidate in an election three weeks ago.

In Goldfield, Nev., Martin Duffy, 67, explained why he has toiled single-handed for 26 years to keep his Florence gold mine in tip-top condition: The price of gold, now $35 an ounce, might go up.

If it ever does, Duffy says the Florence — which hasn't produced an ounce of ore since 1939 — can once again make money.

In Mariposa, Calif., county welfare workers were faced with a problem named Pedro Anato, 82. Pedro withdrew from the world in 1945 and has never since left his shack in the Sierra Nevada foothills.

A new dam soon will flood the area. The welfare workers want Pedro to come and live in Mariposa, but he says no, asking: "Whjt I jo? Stand argund on street corner with hands in pocket?"

In Union City, N.J., William Farley, 49, found himself behind bars for weighing in with a beef against his landlord. Farley tape-recorded his beef and blared it out his apartment window with a hi-fi speaker. The constabulary nailed him on a disorderly conduct charge.

So much for people; now the bacteria:

It has long been known that kissing can cost you teeth in some circumstances, as for instance when the woman has a short-tempered husband who outweighs you. Now comes even more dire tidings from Dr. Doran D. Zinner, a University of Miami dental researcher.

Dr. Zinner said the loss of teeth by decay is caused entirely by four types of bacteria, which are responsible for caries, or cavities, in the enamel. The bacteria are contagious. One of the easiest ways to acquire them is by kissing somebody already infected. In other words, kissing carries caries.

And finally, the dog:

In Savannah, Ga., the police vice squad learned that you can lead a dog to liquor, but he won't necessarily do the same for you — not, at least, if he happens to be a pedigreed Doberman pinscher named Schonheidt.

They tried to train Schonheidt to smell out moonshine stills. Acknowledging the failure of this noble experiment, the dog's handler explained:

"He was bred for show. He just wasn't aggressive enough to go after liquor."

Woman Will Be New Police Commissioner

HACKENSACK, N.J. (AP) — The next comimssioner of the 140-man Bergen County Police Department will be a shapely 5-foot-5, blue-eyed blonde.

"I get a lot of ribbing but being a police commissioner is not strictly a man's job," says Doris Mahalick, 41, mother of two teen-age daughters.

"I'll be working in areas such as juvenile problems and traffic safety, where a woman has just as much insight as a man," she explained.

Mrs. Mahalich, who assumes her new duties Jan. 1 is not a novice when it comes to police administration. She also was the first woman police commissioner in her hometown of Wallington.

Whe she was appointed to that post in 1962, some local residents were apprehensive.

"They all expected me to start hanging drapes in police headquarters," she recalled.

But, instead of picking pink upholstery for prowl cars, the madam commissioner, during her one year in office, secured funds to purchase badly needed electronic equipment and helped raise police salaries by $1,200.

Mrs. Mahalik comes to the post by virtue of her victory in the November election as freeholder. Her Democratic colleagues then named her chairman of the county's Public Safety Committee, which makes her the police commissioner.

Throughout the freeholder campaign, Mrs. Mahalik was introduced as "the most beautiful candidate anywhere" — much to her despair.

"If I had been in a beauty contest, I'd have loved it," she said. "but while it was flattering, I thought it detracted from my candidacy."

West Monroe Court Docket Rated Heavy

Judge John McCormick presided over a heavy docket in West Monroe City Court's latest session.

Speeding cases and dispositions were Cathrine Oliver of Farmerville, George E. Johnson of Calhoun, James E. Worthy of Rt. 1, Box 206, West Monroe, Charles D. Clark of 124 Splane Dr. West Monroe, Clarks Shockleford of 223 Smith St., West Monroe, and Willie Williams of Los Angeles, Calif., all $10 and costs.

The court session was moved up from its usual Friday date and held Wednesday, Nov. 24 due to the Thanksgiving holiday.

Turkish Navy

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — The Turkish navy is engaged in weekend exercises until Sunday off the port of Iskenderun, 100 miles northwest of Cyprus, press reports stated. They said 18 naval units are taking part.

Enterprise May Be Sent Into Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The U.S. Navy's mighty aircraft carrier Enterprise may soon become the first nuclear-powered war vessel to go into battle action.

The 85,000-ton carrier joined the U.S. 7th Fleet which daily launches air attacks against the Communist Viet Cong and North Viet Nam.

Another nuclear-powered warship also joined the 7th Fleet lineup — the guided missile frigate Bainbridge. Both ships were last reported in Philippines waters, but a 24-hour cruise would take them within striking distance of the Viet Nam coast.

The Enterprise carries 95 planes, including Phantom jet fighters, Skyhawk light attack bombers, Vigilante attack reconnaissance types, Skywarrior attackers, Tracker antisubmarinecraft and Seasprite helicopters.

She has a complement of 4,600 men.

The Enterprise is too big to pass through the Panama Canal. When transferred recently from the Atlantic to the Pacific Fleet, she had to circle South America.

Like other nuclear-powered naval vessels, the Enterprise can operate for long periods without refueling.

In the summer of 1964, the Enterprise, the frigate Bainbridge and the nuclear-powered guided missile cruiser Long Beach traveled more than 30,000 miles on a world-circling cruise lasting more than two months. They required neither refueling nor stores of any kind.

The Enterprise has demonstrated a speed of 40 knots. Her original nuclear fuel cores carried her 200,000 sea miles. Such speed and endurance are specially valuable in the vast reaches of the Pacific.

Armored Car Guard Shoots Three Robbers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An armored car guard killed the driver of a hold-up gang's getaway car and shot down two accomplices in a gun battle Friday on a Los Angeles street.

A fourth man was arrested nearby when he sought to fleet on foot, police said.

A bystander was struck in the face by shotgun pellets during the exchange of gunfire on West Pico Boulevard.

Detectives said more than $10,000 in cash taken from one of the armored trucks's two guards was recovered from the riddled getaway car.

Police said guard Jerome Jacobson saw the gang rob his partner near a Pico Boulevard supermarket where the truck had stopped for a pickup.

As the bandit car roared away Jacobson killed the driver with a pistol bullet through the back of the head. The car slowed to a halt and the occupants jumped out shooting.

One of the bandits' shotgun blasts shattered the windshield of a parked car and wounded Ben Singer, 78, who was seated in the vehicle. Jacobson's fire, with a pistol and a shotgun, cut down two of the robbers and the fourth ran.

Singer was reported in satisfactory condition at a Los Angeles hospital. Police said he was hit by birdshot.

The bandits were identified by police as John Doe, 25, slain by Jacobson's shot; Arthur Bacon, 29, hit in the left leg, James Hawkins, 25, hit above the left eye, in the nose and right hand and Ernest Walters, 27, who was captured and was uninjured.
